FARM VOTE CRUX OF N. Y. CAMPAIGN.

Success of Hughes or Hearst Lies in Hands of Tillers, Who So Far Are Keeping Quiet.

CONNERS A FIGUREHEAD.

Fight Being Conducted Solely by Editor's Friends, One of Whom Discusses the Outcome.

BY RAYMOND.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Walking up Broadway past the Gilsey house headquarters, one of the managers of Hearst, whose relations with his chief are so confidential and so well understood that suppression of his name went as a matter of course, gave me an outline of the plan of campaign of the democratic and Independence league candidate for governor of New York. Knowing that his name would not be used, he spoke with some frankness.

"Hearst may not be elected, but if he is not it will be because no one has yet been able to estimate the frame of mind of the farmer voter. You must have noticed from newspaper reports that neither Hearst nor Hughes has succeeded in arousing any enthusiasm in the strictly agricultural towns.

"Hughes is a good enough candidate, but he is not the kind of man to stir up enthusiasm under any condition. Hearst is not a professional orator. He is neither a politician nor a lawyer, and is not accustomed to addressing large bodies of men.

Up in Air on Farmer Vote.

"The result is—and I say it in all frankness—that none of the political committees has any idea of the real situation among the farmers. They probably will decide the election as they usually do, but how they will decide it is just as much a mystery to me as to any one else.

"I have sent men among the farmers and I know a great many good republicans are going to vote for Hearst, simply on his anti-corporation record. But for every man we hear of among the republicans who is going to vote for Hearst we are nearly as likely to run across a democrat who is openly for Hughes.

"Hughes has not made a good impression on the stump. Even his best friends admit that. On the other hand, his record in the insurance investigation is a strong card in his favor. If he were not hampered by such men as Woodruff, and if we were not able to call attention to his corporation allies, Hughes would be a hard man to beat. As it is, we figure out that he is neither stronger nor weaker than his party, but is merely an average candidate."

"Why is it that the regular democratic headquarters in the Victoria hotel are practically deserted, but the headquarters of your Independence league in the Gilsey house are thronged? Are you running the campaign or is Chairman Conners?"

Conners Only Figurehead.

"You can judge for yourself. Conners is only a figurehead. The party had to have a state committee, and that committee had to have a chairman, but as you yourself have seen, the headquarters in the Victoria hotel are deserted.

"Conners has really nothing at all to do with the conduct of the Hearst campaign up state. The campaign in New York City, so far as the regular democratic ticket is concerned, will be conducted, as are all such campaigns, by Tammany Hall.

"The fact of the matter is that there has been no real democratic organization outside of New York City for many years. When Senator Hill was in control he had a precinct organization. The Cleveland people drove Hill out and the Parker campaign completed the demoralization of the democratic machine up state.

"After the municipal campaign last fall we organized the Independence league for the express purpose of supplying the deficiency in the regular democratic machine. We have attempted to get a school district organization. It is by no means complete yet, and the greatest weakness of Hearst's campaign thus far is the fact that we have been unable to get down close to the people in the rural districts.

Up State Yet Disorganized.

"There are plenty of unorganized volunteers, but the Independence league up the state thus far is a mere beginning. It is a good start, but it is only a start. We feel now that if Hearst is defeated this year it will be only because we have not had time to perfect a good working organization."

"But as to the result in New York City?"

"Here we shall roll up, we think, an enormous vote. We polled, in round numbers, last year 125,000 votes in Manhattan and the Bronx, 85,000 in Brooklyn, and 15,000 in Queens and Richmond. This is a total approximately of 225,000 in the total vote for greater New York of 500,000.

"In the fight last year Hearst was opposed by Murphy and Tammany Hall. McClellan received a heavy republican vote. But there was a spirit of independence abroad, as was shown by the election of District Attorney Jerome, who was not regularly nominated by anybody.

"The total registration this year is approximately 660,000, which is about 16,000 more than last year, but nearly 30,000 less than in a presidential election year. Tammany Hall is now supporting Hearst.

"We figure that our vote of last year is practically intact. That is to say, that Hearst did not get in the municipal campaign any votes of corporation democrats, who have been coming out against him this year. They voted for McClellan then and they will vote for Hughes now.

Tammany Big Aid to Hearst.

"But you must add to the Hearst strength of last year practically the solid Tammany vote. Hearst got a good deal of that vote last year, but the organization, as an organization, was against him, whereas today it is with him.

"The registration indicates a vote of perhaps 620,000 in greater New York. We believe there is no doubt that Hearst will carry the city.

"The only question is as to the amount of the majority. If he cannot succeed in getting more than 300,000 votes he is sure to be beaten. But we believe that in addition to the vast strength derived from Tammany Hall there is a strong undercurrent of sentiment

A cable dispatch from Key West, Fla., early today (Thursday) reported that there was no storm trouble on the Florida coast.

OIL TRUST'S FATE IN JURY'S HANDS.

Trial at Findlay, O., Ended with Arguments by Counsel, with Quarrel to Liven the Day.

12 PROOFS OF GUILT.

Attorney General Ellis Cites an Even Dozen Reasons for a Verdict Against the Standard.

Findlay, O., Oct. 17.—The fate of the Standard Oil company of Ohio is in the jury's hands. The arguments were concluded today, the judge's instructions read, and the case given to the jury, which retired at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The defense submitted fourteen points of law for incorporation in the charge of the court to the jury. Two of these points were accepted by the prosecution. The court rejected the other twelve. The two points accepted by the prosecution were:

First, a combination of capital, skill, or acts does not violate the anti-trust law, unless organized for or engaged in carrying out the things forbidden by law.

Second, the size of any business or the amount of capital involved does not tend to establish a violation of any anti-trust laws.

Judge's Charge to Jury.

In reading his charge to the jury Judge Banker said that the burden of proof is on the state. If a reasonable doubt was entertained the verdict should be acquittal.

The question of prime importance, said Judge Banker, was whether on July 6, 1903, the defendant was a member of a trust and had so continued to date. The original trust agreement, he said, did not constitute an offense under the Valentine act, which was not in existence at that time. However, if the evidence should be held to show that within the period from July 5, 1906, to date any contract or agreement with other corporations had been entered into to purchase crude petroleum in Hancock county at a common standard of price fixed by the combination, then the verdict should be guilty. If a trust in fact was found to exist the same finding should be had.

How Guilt May Be Found.

"If upon a consideration of the evidence you are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that beyond the time to which your attention has thus so often been particularly directed there was such a combination, and that the defendant was a member of that combination, and that at the same time the Buckeye Pipe Line company and the Solar Refining company, and the Ohio Oil company, and the Union Tank Line company, and the Standard Oil company, incorporated by the laws of New Jersey, or any one or more of them, were members of said combination, and being such members, operated in Hancock county in pursuance of the general plan and policy of said trust, being declared by the statutes to be a conspiracy against trade, then I charge you that said acts of said other corporations so operating within said county are to be regarded by you, for every purpose of this case, as the acts of the defendant, that it is not essential to the liability of this defendant that it shall have personally performed any corporate act within said county, for the reason that the overt act of one conspirator is regarded as the act of each and all.

Old Case Not in Evidence.

"The judgment of the Supreme court dismissing the contempt proceedings, referred to early in the testimony, and which judgment is offered in evidence by the defendant, is not conclusive or controlling of the issue here involved. It simply shows that that court at that time and upon all testimony before it, much of which is not in this case or before you at all, found that the defendant ought not to be punished for contempt for disobedience of a former judgment or decree made by that court. This court permitted this finding of that court to be offered by the defense only as a circumstance and fact in the history of this alleged trust."

The charge to the jury was completed at 8:30 o'clock and that body retired to deliberate.

Last Day a Strenuous One.

The closing day of the trial was strenuous in the extreme. The tension between counsel on either side, which has been on the increase as the case progressed, reached the breaking point today and hot words of criticism passed, the crowded courtroom became demonstrative for the first time and the court sternly rebuked all concerned.

The collision resulted from the receipt of a telegram by the attorney general stating that the Manhattan Oil company had today sold out to the Standard for $2,000,000. This was declared by the defense as a trick to influence the jury.

The prosecution retorted that the matter would have never reached the jury had not Mr. Kline, who made the charge, mentioned the matter in open court. The incident closed with a severe admonition from the court.

Calls It Muck Rakers' Work.

The arguments began at 9 o'clock this morning, Attorney Kline speaking first for the Standard Oil company. He began by denying that he was there to apologize for the Standard Oil company. He said:

"With prosperity there comes envy, with envy there comes hatred, and with hatred misrepresentation and all manner of prejudice which is to be found in the pathway of every man and every corporation that succeeds.

"I have no faith in the man who stands in the gutter and throws filth and dirt on the men who have brought this prosperity about. It is time we relegate the demagogue, the carper, the slanderer to the rear."

The beginning of the oil industry was described, its founders being "poor young men starting in life as poor as anybody who ever worked their way from poverty to affluence."

In this connection he mentioned Mr. Rockefeller and "the beloved Dan O'Day," who began his career rolling oil barrels. Wherever the company had done business it had built up that place. It had always paid 100 cents on the dollar, it had always paid the best wages to its employés.

Mr. Kline made the point that the five men owning all the stock in a dozen corporations have a right to manage that property to the

CHICAGO GREAT HERO CENTER

Ten of Sixteen Carnegie Awards Come to Neighborhood of City.

BOYS' GRIT WINS FORTUNE.

Lads Who Dared Death to Save in Lake Get Cash and Medals.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Of sixteen awards which were made by the Carnegie hero fund commission this afternoon, Chicago and the territory surrounding it received ten.

Among the most interesting of the awards were those made to two boys, Clifford W. Snyder, aged 14, of South Haven, Mich., a student at the Lewis institute, Chicago, and William J. A. Darst, a student at the University of Notre Dame, Ind.

They were each given bronze medals and $1,000 in cash with which to complete their education.

Their act of heroism was performed on May 17, 1904, when George H. Grosvenor, and Robert Bell, two Chicago students, were thrown into Lake Michigan from a sailing canoe, which capsized a quarter of a mile off Fifty-first street. The lake was rough and the water cold, and after attempting to swim ashore, dragging their canoe, the students became numb and exhausted.

Risk Death in Frail Boat.

Employés from a hotel saw them and gave the alarm, and one of them, a colored porter 19 years old who had gone to the beach with the crowd from the hotel, responded to the request of rescue.

The two boys, Snyder and Darst, had seen the canoe capsize and launched a small boat. They enlisted the negro's help after several men had refused to go out with them. The two boys were of light build, but good swimmers and experienced in rowing. The negro was stoutly built, a good swimmer, but had little knowledge of rowing. When they got out about one hundred and fifty feet, where the swells rocked the boat, the negro got frightened and begged the others to return. They would not do this, so he dropped his oars and refused to row. The boys continued to row until the canoe was reached.

Fearing that they would be swamped, the porter protested against Grosvenor and Bell being pulled into the boat, but this was done. The rescued men collapsed and were unable to give any assistance in rowing back to shore.

Medals for Heroic Firemen.

Most interesting of the other cases of heroism rewarded are thus described in the commission's report:

April 30, 1906, at Milwaukee, while Jacob Flyter, aged 30 years, a labor foreman, and four laborers were endeavoring to stop a leak in a tunnel under the Milwaukee river, the laborers became frightened and fled, leaving the foreman imprisoned without any hope of escape behind an air tight door forty-five feet from the only entrance to the tunnel. The water in the section of the tunnel where the man was imprisoned rapidly rose above his lips. Harris G. Giddings, aged 45 years, of Milwaukee, captain of a fire boat, descended the shaft and made an unsuccessful effort to open the door. He was joined by Lawrence O. Hanlon and Peter Lancaster, both firemen. City and tunnel engineers told them it would be certain death to force the door. However, they determined to do this. After working altogether two and a half hours in water over four feet deep, which level was maintained by syphons, they succeeded in forcing the door with a bar far enough to pull the man through, and all escaped.

The three rescuers were awarded a gold medal and the sum of $1,500.

Arthur Simon, Valparaiso, Ind., on Aug. 24, 1905, rescued from drowning Mabel Lippman, aged 15 years, and her cousin, Golda Simon, aged 17, at Flint Lake, Ind. He was awarded a bronze medal.

Elsie C. Plantz, aged 19, of Appleton, Wis., rescued Norman Brokaw from drowning. She was awarded a silver medal. Irving Church, aged 20, of Menomonee Falls, Wis., assisted Miss Plantz in the rescue and was awarded a bronze medal.

Orphan's Courage Brings Fortune.

William G. Stillwell, Bellaire, Mich., rescued Ruth L. Schoolcraft, aged 14 years, from drowning. The boy is an orphan and was awarded a bronze medal and $2,000 to complete his education.

Henry J. Schiller of Lakeside, O., rescued from drowning in Lake Erie Wendell B. Tussing, aged 16, of Groveport, O. He was awarded a bronze medal and $1,500 for the purpose of lifting the mortgage on his house.

Rufus K. Combs of Midway, Ky., went into a vault on April 2, 1902, and rescued Richard Godson, a lawyer, who had gone into the vault to inspect a gasmaking apparatus and was overcome by gas. Combs went into the gas filled vault and carried him out. The two men had been bitter rivals for political honors for many years and were bitter enemies. Combs was awarded a silver medal and $1,500.

FIRE DEPARTMENT UNION MADE BASIS OF TROUBLE.

Street Car Motormen Said to Refuse to Stop for Men in Uniform Who Do Not Wear Federation of Labor's Button.

Trouble because of the unionizing of the Chicago firemen came yesterday. Complaints reached Mayor Dunne and Fire Marshal Horan that nonunion firemen are being discriminated against by motormen on the street cars.

The mayor was told that some of the ardent union motormen refuse to stop their cars for the firemen who do not wear the little red buttons which mark the member of the new union in the fire department. The mayor is investigating, and the legal phases of the unionization of the fire department has been submitted to the city law department.

Under the city ordinances firemen and policemen ride free on the street cars, but it is declared that the motormen and conductors are using every means possible to inconvenience the firemen who do not belong to the union.

YALE PINS OUT OF SIGHT.

Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, and Wolf's Head No Longer Display Insignia of Membership.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—An ancient custom today disappeared at Yale when the exclusive senior societies stopped wearing their pins displayed. The three, Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, and Wolf's Head, have removed their pins from sight, Scroll and Key being last to give up wearing insignia of the craft.

EX-SENATOR FALLS TO DEATH.

J. D. Walker of Arkansas Suffers a Fractured Skull from Stumble Downstairs.

Fayetteville, Ark., Oct. 17.—Former United States Senator J. D. Walker, one of the most prominent lawyers in this state, today fell down a stairway leading to his office and was killed. His skull was fractured. He was 76 years of age.

$240,000 FINES FOR REBATING

FOUND GUILTY IN NEW YORK

Defense Content with Objections, as It Hopes to Win on Appeal.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The New York Central railroad company and its general traffic manager, Frederick L. Pomeroy, were found guilty today on six counts each of giving unlawful rebates in 1904 to the American Sugar Refining company by a jury in the United States Circuit court. The conviction makes each defendant liable to a fine of $120,000, $20,000 for each offense. The indictment, though indicating that about $26,000 was secured by the sugar trust in unlawful "drawbacks" and other like transactions, specifically charges payment of not more than $10,000.

Judge Holt did not pass sentence. Immediately after the jury brought in its verdict, Austin G. Fox, on behalf of the defendants, asked the court to fix a date on which it could hear arguments on a motion for arrest of judgment. This next step in the fight was set for 10:30 o'clock Friday morning.

The conviction, which came after a trial lasting only three days, two of which were consumed in putting in evidence, marks the successful completion of the first prosecution of either a corporation or an individual for infraction of the Elkins law ever initiated in the federal courts of this district.

Detroit Firm Gets Benefit.

The indictment on which the railroad company and its servant were convicted charged the giving of rebates to the wholesale sugar jobbing firm of Edgar & Earle of Detroit on demand of the sugar trust. Rebates of 5 cents from the tariff rate of 23 cents a hundred pounds were paid by the railroad company by voucher.

It seems that in the spring of 1904 Edgar & Earle had received a consignment of 10,000 barrels of sugar by water from the seaboard at a rate of 13 cents a hundred pounds. They threatened to get all their sugar that way. The trust, to hold their trade, compelled the railroad to give them the inducement of a 5 cent rebate with a quick haul.

No defense whatever was put in by the accused, full reliance, apparently, being put in objections, by which later it is planned to upset conviction in an appeal against the constitutionality of the Elkins law.

Denies Road Knew of It.

After Judge Holt had denied all motions Attorney Fox summed up for the defendants, saying:

"There is no evidence to show that the corporation, through its president or any of its directors, can be guilty of the offense charged, as it was not informed its employé was giving any rebates. Everybody concerned in the direct rate of the road thought the money being paid out was merely for overcharges arising out of mistakes in the course of the railroad's regular business. The agents of the road have merely done the only thing they thought could be done to get business, which otherwise would have gone by water routes, immune from the regulation of the interstate laws for carrying freight."

Attorney Stimson then summed up for the government. No member of the jury could fail to see, he said, that the system of giving rebates must have been known to the president of the road. The Elkins law, he explained, plainly made an illegal act of an agent of a corporation the act of the corporation itself.

BATTLE OVER I. C. MAY DEPOSE FISH

President Defeats Election of De Forest, Close Friend of E. H. Harriman, as a Director.

BOARD NOW AGAINST HIM

Bitter War of Words in Meeting Surprises Small Stockholders, Who Cheer Road's Present Head.

The bitterest and most dramatic struggle for railroad control that ever centered in Illinois was born yesterday at the stockholders' meeting of the Illinois Central railway.

While Stuyvesant Fish carried the election of his candidate for director over the candidate of E. H. Harriman and his associates, Mr. Fish is now face to face with the danger of being deposed from the presidency of the road. Fish has the stockholders behind him, but Harriman controls the majority of the directors.

The stockholders' meeting was only the first skirmish of the financial war which Harriman declared on Fish for opposing his scheme to gain control of the Mutual Life Insurance company.

Directors to See the Finish.

The pitched battle will be fought at the meeting of directors to be held in New York, probably in two weeks, at which the officers of the road will be elected for the ensuing year.

For the first time in his twenty years' career as president of the corporation, the president will have to fight to retain his position, and the indications are he will have to move heaven and earth to win.

One of Mr. Fish's closest advisers said last night:

"I know the gentlemen well who compose the majority of the directorate of the road, and I never yet knew them to raise the ax over a man's neck without letting it drop."

Gov. Deneen, the thirteenth director by virtue of his office, might have a deciding vote. He is favorable to Fish. But the appearances are that Harriman will continue to hold seven votes, as against Fish's six, the latter number including the governor.

Lineup of Directorate.

As the outcome of the stockholders' meeting the lineup of the directors stands:

HARRIMAN FORCES.

Edward H. Harriman,	J. T. Harahan,
John W. Auchincloss,	Robert Walton Goelet,
Cornelius Vanderbilt,	Charles A. Peabody.
Walther Luttgen,

FISH FORCES.

Stuyvesant Fish,	John Jacob Astor,
Charles M. Beach,	John C. Welling,
Gov. C. S. Deneen,	J. B. W. Cutting.

Mr. Cutting, who resides in New York, is the director elected by Mr. Fish yesterday in opposition to Henry W. De Forest, director of the Southern Pacific and the confidential adviser of Harriman.

Fish Has Big Majority.

With 613,703 out of the 950,040 proxies in his hand, President Fish won the victory in the preliminary fray, but at the cost of precipitating a still fiercer conflict. The stockholders who had come from all over the Mississippi Valley for the annual "family gathering" were treated to a novel sensation when the meeting became an angry squabble between pale faced, determined men of big affairs in finance.

The Harriman forces, represented by William Nelson Cromwell, charged President Fish with a deliberate violation of the agreement that the successor to Director Grinnell, deceased, should be selected by the majority of the board. A few minutes before the meeting a majority, listed in the foregoing as the "Harriman forces," had presented a written request to the president to vote the proxies for De Forest.

President Fish refused to do this. He lived up to his part of the agreement made on July 27 to effect the reëlection of the outgoing directors, Vanderbilt, Beach, and Harahan, but he declared that the selection of De Forest by the majority of the board was a violation of the spirit of the agreement. He insisted it had been agreed that the successor to Grinnell should be a man independent of the Harriman, Peabody, and Fish interests.

Feud Broadens During Day.

The Harriman crowd called in evidence the copy of the agreement, which provided merely for the selection of the director by a majority of the board, without reference to his affiliations. Starting with the angry controversy in the meeting, the feud broadened as the day wore on. President Fish charged that Harriman was trying to get hold of the Illinois Central for the sole purpose of financial exploitation, and said he felt it his duty to defeat this scheme, which the election of De Forest would have furthered.

On the other hand Mr. Cromwell issued a denunciatory statement, in which he detailed the charges of bad faith brought against Mr. Fish and denied the accusations Fish had made against Harriman. Mr. Cromwell had arrived in the city in the early morning. Mr. Harriman had accompanied his counsel from New York City to Fishkill, where his car had been detached from the west bound train.

With his principal's instructions fresh in his memory Mr. Cromwell went into the conferences which effected the Harriman lineup. Then, after the sensational developments of the meeting, he departed for New York with such dispatch that he left his baggage behind him. President Fish likewise hurried east late in the afternoon.

Harahan Goes Over to Harriman.

Probably the most startling development of the sensational day was the enlistment of Vice President J. T. Harahan with the Harriman forces. Up to 11 o'clock the issue between Fish and Harriman was an even break.

The Harriman nomination of De Forest had only six directors behind it. They needed seven. About that hour Mr. Harahan affixed his signature to the formal request for the selection of De Forest. At 11:55 the formal demand was made on President Fish.

What consideration won the support of Mr. Harahan is a matter of speculation. From the Fish camp comes the insinuation that Harahan was promised the presidency of the road, in connection with which it is recalled that Harriman a short time ago offered him the vice presidency of the Southern Pacific. At any rate, it is taken for granted that the inducement must have been a compelling one, for Mr. Harahan previously was at one with Mr. Fish's aims.

Whether the Harriman crowd will oust Fish is the all absorbing question of railroad circles. On the face of it they have the power in their hands. But some of President Fish's advisers believe that Harriman will be cowed by popular sentiment. With the memory of Harriman's recent Southern Pacific stock manipulation fresh in the public mind the act would be rash, they declare. But even if they do not depose Fish it is pretty evident that the Harriman directors will control the road. Both Harahan and Vanderbilt declined to state their attitude as to the reelection of Mr. Fish.

Throughout the proceedings of the day Gov. Deneen was an onlooker, although it is well understood that he is allied with the Fish interests. It is among the possibilities that the governor will come to hold the balance of power in the board and decide the fate of the road between Fish and Harriman. In the excitement over the financial battle the claim of the state of Illinois for back compensation was not considered. It will be taken up at the directors' meeting in New York.

Outline of the Situation.

The situation was thus outlined at night by a man who throughout the fight has had close relation to Mr. Fish:

"When Mr. Fish voted his proxies for Mr. Harahan and Mr. Vanderbilt, impelled by motives of honor, he elected two directors who, he knew, may cut his throat. He had agreed to vote for all the retiring directors, and he carried out his promise, whatever may be his fate as to the presidency.

"The motives which inspire Mr. Harriman to try to get control of the Illinois Central," this man continued, "are, I think, not generally understood. He does not need it as a link to complete his transcontinental railway system, for I have the best reason for believing he has control of the Chicago and Alton. Of all the American railways, the Illinois Central affords the most inviting opportunities for a railway magnate who is also a stock broker on a grand scale. It has less bonded indebtedness in proportion to its assets than any other system. It is in splendid physical condition, owns an immense amount of valuable real estate, and has immense earning capacity. A stock broker, by getting control of it and bonding it heavily, could make a vast sum of money. There you have one of the secrets of Mr. Harriman's consuming desire to get the Illinois Central."

Alton Attorney for Harriman.

The assertion that Harriman has the Alton, after a struggle with the Moore crowd, received strong confirmation from an incident at the Illinois Central meeting. Ralph M. Shaw of the law firm of Winston, Payne & Strawn was present in company with Mr. Cromwell, and cast 2,000 of the 2,100 votes received by the Harriman candidate for director, Mr. De Forest, Mr. Cromwell casting the other 100. Winston, Payne & Strawn are the attorneys for the Chicago and Alton.

"The only thing that can save Mr. Fish, I fear," continued the gentleman already quoted, "is public opinion. There is a growing sentiment in this country against its great railway companies being operated and their stocks and bonds manipulated for stock brokerage purposes. The country's people know Mr. Fish is an honest man, and that he has run the Illinois Central for the benefit of its stockholders and the public, not for the mere promotion of his own selfish schemes.

"The whole effort to turn the Illinois Central over to the Union Pacific has been tainted with bad faith. Up to five minutes before the stock books were closed Mr. De Forest was not even a stockholder in the Illinois Central. Then, suddenly 1,100 shares of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.'s stock were placed in his name to make him eligible to be elected a director."

Cromwell Leaves a Statement.

In a typewritten statement which Mr. Cromwell left behind him when he hurriedly departed for New York the attitude of the Harriman adherents on the agreement was thus set forth:

"That agreement was made on July 27 last in New York. At that time Mr. Fish had been soliciting proxies in his own name. The directors of the company regarded this as manifesting a self-seeking, selfish purpose to hold the management of the company in spite of the board of directors. It was this sentiment which prompted the introduction of a resolution in the board for the appointment of an entirely independent committee to invite and receive proxies in the common interest of all stockholders and not in the interest of Mr. Fish.

"To avoid the adoption of that resolution Mr. Fish entered into the agreement of July 27, and Messrs. Harriman and Peabody, in turn, anxious to avoid a public controversy and injury to the credit and influence of the company that always comes from a contest for control, surrendered their views and entered into the agreement.

Copy of the Agreement.

"The agreement made was as follows:

AGREED—July 27, 1906, 10 a. m.

Three outgoing directors to be reëlected. Mr. Grinnell's successor to be selected by a majority of the several directors acting. Mr. Peabody's resolution July 18 to be withdrawn and not to be revived this year.

Mr. Harriman will ask that the Harriman-Kuhn-Loeb proxies be given to Mr. Fish.

STUYVESANT FISH,
CHARLES A. PEABODY,
E. H. HARRIMAN.

"Mr. Peabody promptly fulfilled this agreement by withdrawing his resolution. Mr. Harriman promptly fulfilled it by turning over all the proxies which he had obtained, amounting to over 300,000 shares, known as the Harriman-Kuhn-Loeb proxies, and those which thereafter came in. A majority of the directors of the company, composed of Messrs. Auchincloss, Harriman, Vanderbilt, Luttgen, Harahan, Goelet, and Peabody, each separately signed and delivered a written declaration addressed to Mr. Fish, declaring that they selected Mr. De Forest as a director, and requested his election. Accordingly, Messrs. Harriman, Peabody, and their associates had turned in to Mr. Fish every vote and proxy they could control or influence.

Protests Served on Fish.

"When Mr. Fish this morning practically repudiated the agreement and declared on every hand that he would not be bound by it or by the nomination of a majority of his directors, he was promptly served with the official notices and protests subsequently read at the stockholders' meeting. At the last moment he fulfilled his agreement in part by the election of Messrs. Vanderbilt, Harahan, and Beach, as agreed, but only in part did he fulfill it, in that he used the proxies received by him under a specific agreement to be voted for the nominee of the majority of directors so as to elect a nominee of his own personal selection, in disregard of the selection and wishes of the majority of his directors, as well as of his explicit agreement.

"The suggestion of Union Pacific being in control is a farce and a bugaboo. The board of directors is thirteen in number, with the governor of Illinois at their head. It is a board composed of gentlemen of strong individualities, and it is ridiculous to suppose that three or four of their number would control the destinies of the Illinois Central.

Issue One of Honor.

"There has not been the least question of the qualification of Mr. De Forest for the position of director, and this is not an issue. The issue is one of honor. It concerns the fulfillment of Mr. Fish's pledge to secure the supposed advantage of another member of the board to support his failing powers. He chose to break his written contract made for the peace and well being of the corporation.

"It is of little practical concern whether he elects one single man or another, but it is of the highest concern, not only to us but to every stockholder, that he should violate a pledge of honor, made presumably in the interest of all stockholders alike, else it should not have been made at all."

Stockholders' Meeting Picturesque.

The stockholders' meeting, which was held on the tenth floor of the Park row depot, was picturesque, as all annual meetings of the Illinois Central railway have been for years.

When President Fish rapped for order at noon the room was crowded with fully 300 country bankers, farmers, and merchants, several of whom were accompanied by their wives and daughters.

Mr. Fish and Mr. Cromwell fought their battle for the road's control in the presence of the railway's "family." The vigorous way in which Mr. Fish was applauded and the expressions of disapproval which frequently greeted Mr. Cromwell's remarks showed the "family" was for Mr. Fish.

The new rate law having prohibited the issuance by railways of free transportation, Illinois Central meetings probably will be less largely attended by stockholders in the future.

Fish Opens the Attack.

Mr. Fish did not wait for his enemies to open the attack. Various routine matters having speedily been disposed of he announced that the time had arrived for the election of directors, and at once plunged into the reading of a carefully prepared statement in which he attacked the Harriman motives without mincing words. He also reviewed the struggle which has been going on under cover for control of the road.

Mr. Fish referred to the relations between the Illinois Central and the state, created by the provision of the road's charter that it shall pay the state, in lieu of taxes, 7 per cent of its gross receipts, and that the governor shall be an ex-officio director.

"Following the policy thus laid down by the state," said Mr. Fish, "the company has been managed throughout as an independent road, free from alliances or control from the outside, in the interest of the stockholders and of the public. It has been operated as a railroad and not exploited in Wall street.

System in Unique Position.

Mr. Fish said, among other good reasons why this policy had been adhered to, was that the Illinois Central, being a north and south line, while the other big systems are east and west, 75 per cent of its traffic originates upon its own lines, while the other roads of the country originate only about 50 per cent of their traffic.

"Resulting from this policy of maintaining the road and operating it independently of outside control," President Fish continued, "and for the mass of the stockholders rather than for a selected few, the stock of the company is widely scattered and held as an investment rather than for speculation. The great mass, both in number and amount, of the stockholders of this company are small holders scattered throughout the United States. These stockholders have for more than twenty years past honored me with their proxies and trusted me to maintain the independent position of the company.

"For the first time I am called upon in behalf of these stockholders to withstand a forcible effort to change the policy of this company, and, in the interests of the holders of less than one-fifth of the stock, to turn it over to those who control another railroad system.

Start of Present Trouble.

Mr. Fish said the present acute trouble started at the directors' meeting of July 18, when the board took up the request of a firm of New York stock brokers, presumably Kuhn, Loeb & Co., to be allowed access to the stock books of the railroad. In the face of a legal opinion that this privilege could not be granted, the board, on motion of Mr. Peabody, acceded to the request. Mr. Peabody also proposed that a committee composed of Astor, Auchincloss, Goelet, Luttgen, and Vanderbilt be appointed to solicit proxies for the next annual meeting.

President Fish said he denounced this move at once as an attempt to turn the Central over to the Union Pacific, and, in order to prevent the action, he left the meeting, breaking the quorum. There followed a conference between Harriman, Peabody, and Fish at which, the president declared, he was assured there would be no attempt to turn the road over to the Union Pacific and that the successor to Grinnell should be independent of all cliques. With that assurance he signed the agreement of July 27.

At the meeting of Oct. 10, President Fish continued, he was served with written commitments of certain directors to the selection of De Forest which Harriman had obtained without giving notice of his intentions.

Refuses to Vote for De Forest.

"I promptly stated," said Mr. Fish, "that this was not in accordance with the agreement, that it was a violation of the assurances given me, and that I would not cast any proxy that I held for Mr. De Forest, reputed to be one of Mr. Harriman's private counsel, inasmuch as this would be doing the thing which the agreement was intended to prevent.

"To vote for the election of Mr. De Forest, a director of the Southern Pacific company, would make me a party to the plan to turn over the control of the Illinois Central to those controlling the Union Pacific. That I would not be a party to any such scheme I have steadfastly maintained.

"The issue before us today is whether the Illinois Central railroad company shall or shall not continue to be an independent corporation.

"As the tellers' report shows, I hold proxies entitling me to vote upward of two-thirds of the entire capital stock of the company, and as in this matter I am acting solely in the interests of the shares which I represent or own, I now make the following nominations:

"For a director to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. William Morton Grinnell I nominate Mr. J. D. W. Cutting of New York, who was formerly a member of the board of directors, for a term of two years. I also nominate Mr. Charles H. Beach, Mr. J. T. Harahan, and Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt for a term of four years, to succeed themselves."

Cromwell Addresses the Meeting.

Mr. Cromwell arose as Mr. Fish sat down, and remarked that he was gratified to hear the latter had changed his mind since last night in regard to the reëlection of the three retiring directors.

"I suppose you are a stockholder," Mr. Fish tartly interrupted.

"I hold a proxy," Mr. Cromwell replied, turning red and shaking his long white mane angrily, "and no attempt to squelch me by gag rule will aid you much."

"I have no objection," Mr. Fish replied, "to your saying anything you please."

Mr. Cromwell then read a typewritten statement which he stated he had served on Mr. Fish the night before. The facts given in it regarding the meetings of the directors and the agreement signed by Fish, Harriman, and Peabody were substantially as stated by Mr. Fish. Following the signing of the agreement the Harriman interests, Mr. Cromwell said, refrained from asking for proxies, and delivered theirs to Mr. Fish. Seven directors, a majority of the board, having asked Mr. Fish to elect Mr. De Forest, Mr. Cromwell called up Mr. Fish to vote all the proxies he held for Mr. De Forest and the three retiring directors, and protested against his voting them for any one else "as a violation of the agreement referred to—a point of honor."

Stockholders Applaud Fish.

"I told you it was a matter I would not discuss with you at all," Mr. Fish said. He added that he stood on his original statement—that he never would vote for Mr. De Forest. He was loudly applauded. He added that as he wished to be fair to the Kuhn-Loeb-Harriman interests he would refrain from voting the proxies from them which he held.

"That will not do," said Mr. Cromwell. "Every proxy you have you owe in some measure to the silence or coöperation of the other interests in the Illinois Central railway."

Henry W. Leman, a Chicago lawyer and a stockholder in the railway, arose when Mr. Cromwell sat down, and said he hoped the stockholders would understand what weight to give to the statements of "a mere paid counsel."

"And who are you?" demanded Mr. Cromwell.

"I am a stockholder in this railway," Mr. Leman retorted.

"Well, you are a convenient and zealous stockholder," said Mr. Cromwell, in his most sarcastic manner.

"I hope," replied Mr. Leman, "that Mr. Cromwell has practiced in the courts long enough to know how to act like a gentleman. I want to ask Mr. Cromwell whether he does not know that to elect Mr. De Forest, will be to turn the control of the Illinois Central over to the Union Pacific railway."

Cromwell replied that Leman had better ask the directors, who favored De Forest's election. The question was then put in turn to Directors Auchincloss, Vanderbilt, and Harahan, the only ones present who signed the paper favoring Mr. De Forest's election. They all replied that they regarded Mr. De Forest as "an honorable man," who would act independently of outside influences for the interests of the Illinois Central railway.

This closed the long drawn war of words, and the vote on directors was taken.

Out of a total of 710,713 shares of stock represented at the meeting Mr. Fish voted 613,703 for Mr. Cutting. The vote for De Forest was 2,100. President Fish refrained from voting about 95,000 shares, which he called the Kuhn-Loeb proxies, on the ground that it would be unfair to vote them against the Harriman candidate.

FISH TO CONTINUE FIGHT IN MUTUAL?

Insurance World Watches Contest and Awaits New Struggle for Control.

HIGINBOTHAM'S THREAT.

Chicagoan Will "Show Up" Inside Affairs if They Are Not Open to Policy Holders.

The coalition of the Peabody-Harriman forces in an effort to oust Stuyvesant Fish from the presidency of the Illinois Central railroad may have a vital interest to the policy holders in the Mutual Life of New York. Charles A. Peabody is president of that organization and is in a fight to a finish with the international policy holders' committee for control. Stuyvesant Fish was a director, but gained Peabody's enmity by his zeal toward an investigation into the company's affairs. Until yesterday, however, it was believed a truce had been declared between Fish and Peabody, and under the supposed terms of this each was to leave the other severely alone in their respective contests.

Insurance Men Watch Contest.

H. N. Higinbotham, one of the four members of the international policy holders' committee chosen without their knowledge by Peabody for places on the administration ticket, returned yesterday from New York, and said the Illinois Central contest was being closely watched by the insurance men there. The fight for control of the two great insurance companies is waxing hot, and from the vote already cast Mr. Higinbotham is confident that the policy holders will win.

Mr. Higinbotham presents the unique spectacle of a candidate for a position who is seeking his own defeat. After exhausting every effort to get his name taken off the ticket, and failing, he is directing all his efforts to have the one put up by the opposition to the Peabody régime elected. In case he is elected, however, Mr. Higinbotham has announced his attitude.

Higinbotham Outlines His Course.

"I don't want to be elected," he said last night, "but in case I am, I propose to be a director in fact, not in name only. This intention I have announced to Mr. Peabody in person. In case I find I cannot be a director—that they will not let me know what is being done—and it won't take me long to find this out, I will resign. In resigning, however, I will take occasion to tell the policy holders just why I do, and if conditions warrant it I will advise them to stop paying premiums to the company. I will suggest that they take out paid-up policies or any other course possible to protect themselves. It is my purpose to guard the policy holders' interests so far as possible in case I am so unfortunate as to be elected."

Fish May Reopen Fight.

Should Mr. Fish be defeated by the Peabody forces, he is likely to come out in the open for the policy holders in the insurance fight. This is something he has refused heretofore to do, and this fact was taken as evidence of the supposed truce between Fish and Peabody. Should Peabody desert Fish, he would be perfectly free to retaliate and even up the score.

The existence of an armistice between Peabody and Fish was suspected at the time of the latter's resignation from the directorate of the Mutual Life. It was understood that the price of this resignation was Peabody's promise to remain neutral, if not friendly, to Fish in his fight for control of the Illinois Central. If such a pact existed, Fish has been faithful to it, for neither by word nor deed has he since shown his hand in the insurance fight. The statement of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who is a member of the Peabody organization in the Mutual Life, indicates a different attitude towards Fish.

Railway Surgeons Favor Retention of Engineers Who Have Seen Long Service, Despite Optical Defects.

If the wishes of the railway surgeons of America as expressed unofficially at their annual meeting in the Palmer house yesterday are heeded by the railway companies, engineers and firemen experienced in the service no longer will be discharged for defective eyesight, but will be allowed to wear glasses and hold their positions.

Dr. Nelson M. Black of Milwaukee read a paper on the topic at the meeting. He said the objection to glasses was diminishing in railroad circles.

Dr. Richard W. Corwin of Pueblo, Colo., president of the association, also cited instances where glasses could be worn without endangering the safety of the public. He declared the railroads wanted unified rules for signals and requirements for employés, but said the state laws interfered with definite national measures to that end.

Dr. Corwin talked earlier in the afternoon on the prevention of ill health among railway employés. He said it was the duty of the surgeons and of the companies to prevent sickness among employés as far as possible.

Dr. Corwin declared that any expense toward educating employés in the way of healthful living would pay the railroads many fold in a pecuniary manner.

The importance of clean cars and sanitation was brought out by Dr. E. M. Eckard of Peoria, chief surgeon of the Toledo, Peoria and Western. He emphasized the dangers resulting from expectoration in the cars.

There is a fourteen pound baby boy that nobody seems to want at the house of Mrs. E. Schellinger, 6072 Dearborn street. ADD FUEL TO CHOTT FIRE.

INVESTIGATORS GATHER MORE EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM.

Reform Forces Believe They Will Prove Magistrate at Desplaines Street Police Court Is Connected with Combination of West Side Levee Keepers—Plans Being Perfected for Forcing Many Resorts to Close Their Doors.

Several links were added yesterday to the chain of evidence by which Y. M. C. A. investigators and pastors of west side churches believe they will show Justice Q. J. Chott is connected with a combination of levee keepers. The attack on the magistrate, however, is but an incident in the campaign against vice in the west side district, which, it is hoped, will result in the closing of many of the most notorious dives in the city.

Among the things which the reform forces expect to do are:

Remove Justice Chott from the Desplaines street police court, because of an alleged friendliness to the criminal element.

Break up the gang of men who are protecting the inmates of the dives by "tipping" off raids.

Visit the owners of the buildings in which the resorts flourish and force them to cancel the leases that make it possible for these places to exist.

Attorney Serves Two Masters.

As the investigation broadened during the day, the combination which makes the work of the police almost useless took more definite shape. It was found that Joseph H. Murray, the lawyer who handles the cases of many women under the shelter of the combination, is secretary of the Eighteenth ward democratic organization. Murray also is credited with being Ald. Michael C. Conlon's confidential attorney. Evidence will be placed in the possession of the mayor, it is said, to show that all that is necessary is for Attorney Murray to recommend to Justice Chott that a prisoner be discharged and the discharge is a matter of course.

Investigator M. J. Stickel pointed to the fact that Fred Schultz, who was arrested for "tipping off" police raids, was defended by Murray. Murray at once demanded a change of venue from Justice Dooley and the prisoner was taken before Justice Chott, who was compelled to impose a fine of $100. This the combination paid.

Headquarters of Spies.

The headquarters of the men who protect the levee resorts are said to be in the following:

The Dewey hotel, Sangamon street and Washington boulevard.

Frank Brothers' saloon, Halsted and Madison streets.

"Johnnie" Rogers' saloon, Madison and May streets.

The position taken by Mayor Dunne and Chief of Police Collins in the Chott case gives the Y. M. C. A. workers little or no encouragement. The mayor has taken no action, only saying he does not believe the magistrate guilty and promising to make a most "thorough" investigation.

"If Justice Chott is doing his best, then the Desplaines street police are extremely negligent in their duty and are arresting scores of persons each day who are guilty of no wrongdoing," said Mr. Stickel.

CHILD ENTICED AND ATTACKED.

Four Year Old Esther Sommers, 1317 North Mozart Street, the Victim —Man Arrested.

Esther Sommers, 4 years old, 1317 North Mozart street, is at her home in a serious condition, as the result of being attacked yesterday afternoon by Joseph Sachsel, a solicitor employed by a cleaning compound manufacturing company. Sachsel was arrested after he had allowed the child to go home, and is held at the Attrill street station.

By promises of candy, according to the police, Sachsel enticed the girl into his wagon, which had stopped in front of the Sommers home. Then he drove to a barn, where it is alleged he mistreated the child. Then he drove back toward the Sommers home, and placed the half unconscious girl on the sidewalk, where she was found by two playmates.

When Sommers was notified that Sachsel had been arrested he went to the station and made an attempt to attack the man, but was restrained by the police. Sachsel denied attacking the girl.

Company Stops Service to Bettors and Gambling Is at a Standstill—Eleven Arrested.

Handbook men in downtown hotels and office buildings were thrown into consternation yesterday afternoon when the Chicago Telephone company cut off their phone service. Nearly every race gambler in Chicago was put out of business. The move came without warning. Meanwhile, Chief Collins' gambling detail arrested eleven persons in raids on alleged handbook operators. Paul K. Smith, 933 West Madison street; John Brown, Frank Moore, James Burns, William Hughes, John Lowe, Jacob Smith, and John Burns were taken together. Edward Clark, 134 Van Buren street; James Keen, and James Sheridan also were arrested.

BEGINS TO TELL HOW DOWIE FELL

Voliva Starts Series of Articles, Promising Expose of Deposed Apostle.

DRESS SUIT FIRST ERROR.

Then Came Episcopal Robes and Later the Purchase of Ben MacDhui.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva fired the first gun in a renewed bombardment of Dowie yesterday. It was a formal statement prepared for "Leaves of Healing," the Zion church weekly. In a series of articles to be called, "Let the Truth Be Told," Voliva promises a complete history of Dowie and all his works, and a narration of the events leading to his downfall, with additional features which have not yet been made public.

The first installment is largely introductory, and is taken up in the main with a biography of Voliva and an account of Dowie's life before he "listened to the voice of the tempter."

With a dignified mental reserve, Voliva prefaces this attack on Dowie with a tribute to his good qualities, and then gradually speeds up in what promises to be a thorough muck raking of the deposed first apostle.

Evening Dress First Offense.

The wearing of evening dress and allowing a picture of himself thus attired to be published in the Leaves of Healing is the first count against Dowie. Voliva does not go into the question of the moral turpitude of an open face vest, but he says the people were shocked by it. He begins mildly:

"Some people who had rejoiced in the simple, plain dress of John Alexander Dowie, and had seen his plain picture in Leaves of Healing, with his explanation that it had been published on solicitation of members of the staff, were shocked when, during the year 1897 he laid aside the simple dress and appeared upon the platform attired in evening dress, and they were still more shocked when, on opening the Leaves of Healing, they saw a full page picture of him thus attired. They were still further troubled, when, during the year 1900, their leader appeared upon the platform in episcopal robes.

"A number who had become greatly interested in the beautiful teachings of Zion hesitated and then said, 'This is not right,' and with great reluctance turned away from Zion. For the first time it was quietly whispered: 'Beginning to put on style! Extravagance!'

"Small circles here and there could be heard discussing the report that there was a lack of harmony in the family, and some were sure that Ben MacDhui, which had been purchased at a cost of $10,000, the title not being vested in the husband, had been given as the price of peace, and asked: 'Where did he get the money?'

Change in Mrs. Dowie.

Leaving Dowie for a moment he pays his respects to Mrs. Dowie:

"While some had misgivings regarding some of the things their leader was doing, these and others were throwing out hints that she, who in the beginning was so humble, so womanly, so plain in her dress, was beginning to 'put on airs' and was rapidly getting out of touch with the common people, who were paying their tithes and offerings to maintain and extend the work which they so dearly loved. Through trusted friends these various reports and hints reached the ears of John Alexander Dowie."

Here Voliva pays tribute to Dowie's power of administering reproof:

"He dealt with all of them in his masterly way, and, among other things, called the people hogs, saying they had other faults. They had dared to criticise his wife for wearing gay colors. He added with considerable force, 'You are incapable of appreciating bright colors and of understanding one who was born and reared under the sunny skies of beautiful Australia, for you have been brought up amid the stockyards of Chicago.'"

LETTER WRITER HAS "FUN" WITH SOUTH SIDE SOCIETY.

Bogus Announcement Sent Newspapers Tells of Trip to "Stociardi," Italy—Young Brewer Is Thrashed.

An anonymous letter writer who has been having "fun" by sending stinging notes and carefully concocted "society notices" to some of the Chicago newspapers is being sought for by residents of Prairie and Calumet avenues. The mischief already has resulted in the thrashing of a young brewer living in Calumet avenue, who is said to have thoughtlessly suggested that the writer might be the sister of a young lawyer in the same set. The lawyer is said to have administered the chastising in the brewer's office.

The latest notice to arouse ire appeared in afternoon papers on Tuesday and was as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. P. Archibald Lawler, 2829 Prairie avenue, accompanied by their niece, Miss Adele Hennessy, will leave early in November of Stociardi, Italy, where they have taken a villa for the winter. Mr. Lawler is an artist, and a member of the Palette and Chisel club.

Analyzed, "Stociardi" is said to mean "stockyards," hence the insult. There is no such place in Italy, and the name, P. Archibald Lawler, does not appear in the city directory.

Thomas F. Keeley, president of the Keeley Brewing company, resides at 2829 Prairie avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Lawler, the brother-in-law and sister of Mr. Keeley, live at the same address. Mr. Lawler, who is a well known commission man at the stockyards and a member of the Sherman and Ellerslie Country clubs, has no intention of going to "Stockiardi," Italy, since the place does not exist.

KILLS SUITOR OF MOTHER.

CHARLES SULLIVAN SHOT DOWN IN WEST SIDE HOUSE.

Young Cigarmaker Who Boarded with Mrs. Laura Klein Quarrels with Her Son Over Attentions He Paid to Her—Police Not Notified Until Long After Murder, and Alleged Slayer Is Found Hiding in Woodshed Pretending to Be Asleep.

The attentions which Charles Sullivan, 25 years old, a cigarmaker, paid to his landlady, Mrs. Laura Klein, 40 years old, cost him his life last evening. He was shot and killed by John Klein, 21 years old, the landlady's son, according to the police. Mrs. Klein, it is said, gave her son the revolver from which the shot was fired.

Mrs. Klein lives at 80 Tilden avenue in a flat. With her, in addition to her son, there have been living Sullivan and "Kid" Egan, a man known to the police.

There had been bad blood between Sullivan and young Klein for some time over a number of matters of which the most serious was the attentions which the cigarmaker had urged upon his landlady. The four persons in the household were together last evening, when the quarrel broke out anew. Sullivan was shot at 5:30 o'clock under circumstances only partly explained to the police.

Police Called Three Hours After.

No report of the matter was received at the Desplaines street station until three hours later. Then Lieut. Coughlin went to the house, where he saw Sullivan's body lying on the kitchen floor. Mrs. Klein came from another room, saying she had been trying to inform the police by telephone. At first she professed to know nothing of how Sullivan had met his death and insisted she did not know who was in the house at the time. The police searched through the premises and at length discovered young Klein in a woodshed, pretending that he was asleep.

After much prodding he "awoke," and, talking persistently of his innocence and ignorance of the murder, was taken to the station. Egan was found later. Klein broke down before Lieut. Coughlin after being subjected to an hour's questioning and confessed the murder.

Woman Is Shot Down.

Maude Matthews, 28 years old, colored, was shot and killed last evening by William Johnson, alias Williams, also a negro, 30 years old. The murder occurred in a hallway on the second floor of a tenement house at 2950 State street, where the woman's mother lives.

According to the police of the Cottage Grove avenue station, who are searching for Johnson, the man and woman had been living together at 2948 State street. Jealousy is said to have aroused Johnson.

PHONE COMPANY IS VICTOR IN PRIVATE EXTENSION SUIT.

Judge Windes Will Grant Injunction to Elmer E. Beach Only if He Removes Vital "Foreign Attachments."

Extension or desk telephones in connection with the Chicago Telephone company's service can be installed only on the corporation's terms if the opinion expressed yesterday by Judge Windes receives sanction of court decision. The court was hearing the petition for injunction presented by Attorney Elmer E. Beach. Mr. Beach has taken the lead in putting in private extension phones, connected with the Bell company's trunk lines, thus saving enormously on the charges of the "trust."

The company has harassed the attorney continually and he went to court to seek protection. Judge Windes gave him little consolation, saying he would grant an injunction against the company if the attorney would remove the private extensions. If the private extensions are removed, he will need no injunction.

Judge Windes said the corporation's charges are exorbitant.

"Nevertheless, the complainant has a contract with the company which provides for unlimited service and has his remedy in another form," said the court. "Of course, the complainant has the right to appeal to a court of equity for protection, and therefore I shall issue an injunction restraining the company from interfering with the instrument belonging to it, which has been placed in Mr. Beach's office.

"This order will be entered providing the complainant removes foreign attachments now connected with his instrument."

WATERWAYS MEN SEE NEW LIGHT.

Chicago's Argument, Backed by Illinois' Determination, Sways Them.

NEEDS OF CANAL ARGUED.

Isham Randolph, Representing Governor, Says the State Will Fight a Limit.

Chicago's great civic and commercial organizations, backed by the state government and the drainage board, brought a weight of arguments to bear upon the international waterways commission, which held a public hearing yesterday in the federal building. As a result, the danger of the city's future health being threatened by a proposed treaty limiting the supply of water which the drainage canal could draw from Lake Michigan was lessened materially.

The six commissioners, three from Canada and three from the United States, after listening to arguments all the morning, saw Chicago's problem in a new light. It was in the nature of a great white light to some of them. They said that the proposition of there being a need of 14,000 cubic feet flowing every second into the drainage canal was new to them, and that they would think it over.

While there is a chance that the commission will stick to its report making the limit 10,000 cubic feet, there appears to be an equal chance that Chicago will get what it needs, and a more than equal chance that the whole thing will be left to the United States government, individual problems having no place in the projected treaty.

Commerce Against Health.

The representatives of the various organizations which attacked the limit quickly put the question into the aspect of a fight of commercial and navigation interests against the public health.

Isham Randolph, engineer of the drainage board, speaking for Gov. Deneen, informed the commission that the state would not stop the fight on the board's proposed report until the last court was reached. He maintained that even the United States government had no power to interfere with the state in this respect.

President R. R. McCormick of the drainage board put the issue in these words:

"Give the power companies nothing and give the people all they need for the preservation of health."

The members of the commission, who left for the east in the evening after fixing their next meeting place at Buffalo, Nov. 8, would give no forecast of their decision. They said that Chicago had made a strong case.

Likens Chicagoans to Mules.

"The people of Chicago are as stubborn as mules," said Commissioner Coste. "They go at a thing with head down. They need not fear Canada. Did we not give $100,000 to the San Francisco relief fund?

"Can they not trust to our kind hearts now? The question is not one of health against navigation interests. It is a question of whether Chicago cannot find some better way to dispose of its sewage.

"While we may not like this system, we indorsed it or condoned it to that extent. Now, will we go further? It is impossible to say now. Canada is not interested as much as this country. We have been asked to help, that is all."

The session of the commission was attended by many prominent men. Voluntary lawyers for Chicago sprang up on every side. From the valley of the Illinois river came the plea of men who feared that the commission was about to do something that would send their children's children to the cemetery.

Board and the Speakers.

The board, consisting of O. H. Ernst, brigadier general, U. S. A., chairman; George Clinton, a Buffalo attorney; E. E. Haskell, an engineer; George C. Gibbons, K. C., Toronto, Ont.; William P. Kling, an Ottawa geologist; and Mr. Coste, listened intently to the pleas. The room in the headquarters of Engineer W. H. Bixby was packed. These speakers presented Chicago's case:

William Duff Haynie, Chicago Manufacturers' association.

Lyman B. Morgan, president of the Commercial association and the Chicago Bankers' club.

E. A. Eckhart, Chicago board of trade.

Franklin H. Head, Chicago Commercial club.

Joseph F. Gilchrist, Chicago Industrial association.

R. R. McKahim, mayor of Marseilles.

Charles E. Hoof, mayor of Ottawa.

George Bedford of Morris.

Isham Randolph, for Gov. Deneen.

R. R. McCormick, for the sanitary district.

E. C. Lindley and Steven Foster, attorneys for the sanitary district.

Walter Pannock, city of La Salle.

E. J. Ward, Marseilles.

State Defies the Nation.

Mr. Randolph struck the most defiant note of any of the speakers. After explaining that he spoke for Gov. Deneen, who could not be present, and that he meant no disrespect for the board, he said:

"The doctrine of state rights, though perhaps conceived in madness, stands for something, and the governor of this state stands for all the rights of the state of Illinois.

"We know that you have come here fully authorized by an act of congress to inquire into the future of the waters of Lake Michigan. But, speaking for the governor, we declare that it was a mistake on the part of the United States government to permit any inquiry into the uses of waters wholly within the boundaries of the United States. We believe that as a state we have rights in Lake Michigan which are inherent and which even the government of the United States cannot deprive us of. The state must look after its rights.

"Gentlemen, I do not know what your respect will be, and I mean no disrespect to you when I say that if your report is against us we will not stop until we have gone to the court of last resort. We will not submit to any treaty which limits us as it is proposed to do. We have back of us the state, and we have in sympathy with us all the states of the middle west, and they carry influence into the national councils, which, I believe, will defeat any treaty which tends to limit us in what we believe are our rights."

President McCormick Speaks.

Mr. McCormick said in part:

"The sanitary district of Chicago and the municipal corporation have taxed themselves over $60,000,000, not with the idea of getting any profit out of it, but because the sanitary district does not know, in its legal and constitutional capacity, any other way of disposing of its sewage.

"I do not know that some time there will develop on the other side of the great lakes a city similar to Chicago which will need some system of drainage. If that should happen in my lifetime or in the lifetime of any gentlemen present, then we would be the first to go to the national government and urge that they be given all they need.

"Today all over the country the talk of waterways is coming forward. It is stimulated particularly because a great canal has been built near Chicago. Let us be careful how we take any action that will bind our hands in the future. A treaty is a sacred instrument. If the flow into the drainage canal should lower the lakes—and I do not believe it—works can be put between each two lakes to dam the water to a certain height and a channel can be made there to give the proper waterway."

State Could Not Be Enjoined.

Attorney Lindley told the commission that in order to carry out its limitation scheme an injunction would have to be obtained against the state, and that no injury could be proved. Attorney Foster presented the plea of the Calumet river basin, laying great stress upon the needs of that district of better sewerage, and the harm any limitation would work. The Illinois river contingent made short but earnest pleas against anything that would tend to pollute the water.

B. A. Eckhart said that 20,000 cubic feet of water a minute should be allowed for every 100,000 inhabitants, and that 10,000 a second would not be enough after we reach 3,000,000.

Annual Report on Canal.

President McCormick's first annual message was read during the day to the sanitary trustees. The message is an outline, narrating briefly the work done in the various departments and mentioning problems confronting the board, with recommendations for their solution.

"The inefficiency of the force you found here," says Mr. McCormick, "has shown you how impossible it is to manage a public office with any other object in mind than the public good.

"You have seen that the funds cannot be cared for to the best advantage when it is intended that they should benefit a particular bank. You have seen that printing cannot be done most economically when the profits are to go to a particular printer; that the police force cannot be really efficient when it is primarily the feeding trough for political henchmen; that the proper work cannot be got out of contractors when their political influence is taken into account in dealing with them.

"You have seen these things and pursuant to your pledge to the people have worked aggressively to correct them."

These points are made in the report:

That the police force has been reduced, but has accomplished more work.

That the treasury is benefiting under the administration of Charles L. Hutchinson.

That there is a saving of $1,000 a year in the clerical department.

That the legal department, instead of being a spoils office, has been put on an efficient basis by Attorney E. C. Lindley, at a reduction in expenses.

Contract work has been rushed through by the board forcing forfeitures.

"It is unfortunate," the report says, "that the relations between the city government and the sanitary district have not been productive of more good to the public. While we were filling up the old river bed by means of a pump, which was done on plans approved by the city, the department of public works, without notifying any official of the district, put a dam across the old river bed, compelling a shutdown of work for eight days, which could have been obviated if the department of public works had consulted with the sanitary engineer before damming the channel."

The Chicago river improvement is discussed, also the Evanston and Calumet canals, bridge construction, and railway crossings.

Board Wants to Build Railway.

A bill will be submitted to the legislature by the sanitary district seeking authority to construct a railroad along the northerly line of the canal from Chicago to Joliet. This was embodied in the report of the engineering committee.

Divers Trying to Rescue Crew of a Sunken Submarine.

The picture shows divers at work on the Farfadet, which sank a year ago at Bizerta, Tunis, where fourteen men now seem doomed to a slow death in the submarine Lutin, which sank there on Tuesday last. One of the divers may be seen rapping on the steel plate with a hammer, signaling to the crew within to ascertain if they are still alive. The Farfadet was raised by means of chains while the crew was still alive, but lost through the breaking of a chain, and when the submarine finally was brought up all the members of the crew were dead.

SOCIETY WOMAN STABBED

MRS. MARCUS L. WARD OF DETROIT ASSAILED IN PARK.

Is Severely Slashed by Supposedly Crazed Man While Walking with Friend in Broad Daylight—Femoral Artery Barely Missed—Throws Himself on Woman Without Any Warning—Assailant Supposed to Be Guilty of Previous Offenses.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marcus L. Ward, well known to Detroit society, was stabbed this afternoon by an unknown man while walking in Palmer park with her friend, Dr. Grace P. Rodgers.

It is supposed that her assailant is insane, and that it is he who has been responsible for numerous recent insults to women members of the Detroit Golf club, whose links are in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Ward and Dr. Rodgers had been for a stroll in the park and were returning to the car line. Several hundred yards from the waiting room a medium sized man, with sandy hair and mustache, rushed at Mrs. Ward with a crazy leer, striking her twice in the abdomen with his clenched fist and then stabbing her with a knife.

Mrs. Ward fell screaming a few yards from the spot, but before assistance could arrive the man had made his escape through the woods.

Examination revealed a long knife wound in Mrs. Ward's side, scarcely an eighth of an inch from the femoral artery. She is in a serious condition and is suffering greatly from shock.

A man answering the description was arrested later at Royal Oak and brought to Detroit.

JOHN FARSON'S "SPITE" WALL DOOMED WHEN HE BUYS LAND.

Property of C. F. Hawley Changes Hands Through Efforts of Improvement Association of Oak Park.

John Farson's famous "spite" wall in Oak Park will be demolished this morning. The Oak Park Improvement association brought the move about.

The wall has been an issue for three years. It came about through Mr. Farson's efforts at making Pleasant Home villa one of the handsomest in any Chicago suburb. The house was built first on architecturally insufficient ground, and C. F. Hawley, whose property extends back 170 feet into Mr. Farson's landscape effects, did not want to sell.

Mr. Farson built a six foot brick and stone wall around the property. Then Mr. Hawley discovered that the Farson wall overlapped full eleven inches upon his warranty deed. When the wall was completed and coped with stone he told the banker settlement might be made for $1,000 or Mr. Hawley would tear down the wall and appropriate the brick. Mr. Farson allowed his neighbor to corral the brick.

He then rebuilt his wall, but it was torn down by Hawley. Mr. Farson continued to persist in building brick walls, but Hawley each time tore them down, until at last Farson constructed a sixteen foot wall three feet thick, which has repelled all attacks.

S. Woodard, secretary of the Oak Park Improvement association, was the man who effected the compromise. A treaty of peace was discussed over the wall and an agreement finally was reached. Farson mounted the wall and threw off a few loose bricks to seal the contract.

Water Office Pension Board Pays.

The first claims presented since the establishment of the pension board in the city water department were paid yesterday to meet the expense of the funerals of William H. Hunche, keeper at the Sixty-eighth street crib, and Robert Buckley, oiler, both of whom died recently. The two claims amounted to $350.

$10,000 Fire Starts Itself.

Five thousand bushels of onions and a two story frame building, owned by E. J. Hess, One Hundred and Twenty-ninth and Butler streets, were destroyed last night by a fire which is believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion. The loss is $10,000. The building was formerly used as a factory.

SOCIETY YOUTH HELD HERE.

J. H. Langdon Arrested on Complaints from Baltimore—Was Guest of Mayor There.

J. H. Langdon, known to the police and society of two continents, was arrested in Chicago last night on complaint from Baltimore which charged the theft of jewelry worth $1,200 and the passing of worthless checks.

Langdon made the acquaintance in London of Eugene Timanus, son of Mayor Timanus of Baltimore, and told him he was the son of a New York railroad president. Subsequently he visited the mayor in Baltimore. He is said to have obtained jewelry from J. W. Mealy & Co. by a fraudulent draft.

Langdon claimed to be a relative of Andrew Carnegie. The police say Langdon is a son of Samuel T. Langdon of Philadelphia.

PICKPOCKETS ON TROLLEY CAR.

Passenger in Ogden Avenue Robbed—Burglar at M. M. Kirkman's House in Evanston.

T. Verdin, 2316 West Twelfth street, was jostled by two pickpockets on an Ogden avenue car last night and robbed of his pocketbook, containing $17. Mr. Verdin struggled with the thieves, but when other passengers came to his assistance they had jumped off the car.

A stranger, believed to be a burglar, last night looked through a window in the home of Marshall M. Kirkman, second vice president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, 1429 Ridge avenue, Evanston.

The police were notified, but when they reached the house the man had disappeared.

Mourns Death in Philippines.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—First Lieut. Robert Calvert, who was killed in the Philippines yesterday, was a resident of this city. He was the sole support of a widowed mother, who is prostrated by the shock. Lieut. Calvert was a West Pointer, and was with the Twenty-fourth regiment. His mother is just home from the Philippines. She thinks the killing was accidental.

When Calvert received his appointment as cadet at West Point in 1892 he was a messenger boy at a Kokomo bank. In 1898 he was appointed second lieutenant in the Eighteenth regulars, forming a part of the army of occupation of the Philippines, where he was wounded in a skirmish with the natives. Returning to the states he was promoted to first lieutenant in the Twenty-fourth regiment, colored, and was stationed for a time at Fort Missoula, Mont.

In December last he was sent with his regiment to the Philippines for a second time, and was stationed at Fort Cebu until last August, when he was ordered to the province of Leyte. Lieut. Calvert was under orders to return to the states in a few weeks and accept a captaincy.

LOSE LAST HOPE FOR LUTIN'S CREW

French Naval Officials Convinced Fifteen Men on Submarine Are Dead.

DIVERS GROPE IN VAIN.

Fleet of Salvage Ships of All Nations Hovers Helplessly Over Sunken Tomb.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—All hope for the fifteen men imprisoned in the submarine Lutin in deep water at Biserta, Tunis, was abandoned tonight, when the following message was received by the ministry of marine:

"The operations of the divers have not been successful up till night fall. Work has been suspended until tomorrow."

When the work of rescue was given up late this evening officers engaged in the salvage work expressed the opinion that all on board the Lutin had perished. It is not certain even whether the boat itself ever will be raised.

Divers Grope at Bottom in Vain.

The exact location of the submerged boat had not been found when darkness fell. Divers had reached the bottom, but owing to the roughness of the sea they were unable to remain below sufficiently long to make a thorough investigation. Fourteen salvage vessels now form a cordon around the spot where the Lutin went down.

The divers descend in relays and are displaying untiring energy. All their endeavors, however, to obtain definite knowledge as to the Lutin's position in order to permit the utilization of the powerful lifting apparatus on the spot have been in vain.

The British admiralty has sent the battleship Implacable, the cruiser Carnarvon, and the torpedo boat destroyer Albatross, as well as several tugs, to assist in the search. Tonight the sea is moderating, and the work tomorrow will be continued under better conditions.

Crew Slain by Deadly Fumes?

Members of the crew of the tug Ishmul, which convoyed the Lutin on its last voyage, declared that the submarine plunged twice successfully and that after it had gone down for the third time its bow showed twice above the surface of the water before it finally disappeared. This leads to the belief that the catastrophe resulted from a sudden leak at the stern. The water probably rushed in rapidly and overturned the accumulators. This would cause deadly fumes to emanate from the acids and the crew would have no chance for life.

At the ministry of marine it was ascertained today that the Lutin was equipped with safety weights beneath its hull which were automatically detachable and calculated to permit it to rise to the surface in case of danger. Only a leak or an accident to its machinery, it is added, could have prevented the appliance from working.

The wife of Lieut. Fepoux, commander of the Lutin, is prostrated with grief, and fears are entertained that she may lose her mind.

TAFT SATISFIED AS TO CUBA.

Secretary and Members of His Party Return to Washington from Havana.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Secretary and Mrs. Taft, Assistant Secretary of State Bacon and Mrs. Bacon, Gen. Funston, and others composing Secretary Taft's party arrived in Washington tonight from Cuba. Secretary Taft said he was pleased with Cuban conditions as he left them, and felt confident that Gov. Magoon would bring about satisfactory results, although, he remarked, it would be with some difficulty that things could be straightened out after a revolution such as occurred in the island.

While the secretary was passing through Richmond, Va., a reporter asked him "whether he would be the next president or whether Mr. Roosevelt would consent to serve a third term." Mr. Taft replied that "he would not be the next president," and added that he could not speak for Mr. Roosevelt, "not being authorized to do so."

The secretary did not treat the question and answer in other than a light vein.

All Cubans Not Disarmed.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Oct. 17.—Many complaints have been made to Gov. Magoon by liberals and moderates that the militia, on the one hand, and the rebels, on the other, have not given up all their arms. None of these complaints is substantiated by actual proofs. The liberals also complain against the acts of certain mayors and the police. Gov. Magoon, who is having the complaints investigated by Americans, is surprised that the complaints are not greater than they are. In case charges are proved against the mayors the provincial governors will act. Charges have been made against the governor of Pinar del Rio, and if these prove true Gov. Magoon himself will have to act.

KING EATS ONE OF HIS WIVES.

Thanh-Thai of Annam Outdoes Storied Ancestors in Original Cruelty—Is Adjudged Insane.

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 17.—Mail advices from Indo-China today brought another and more revolting story of the doings of King Thanh-Thai of Annam. After killing one of his wives he caused the body to be cooked and served for dinner, forcing his entourage to eat it under pain of death.

Some of the king's wives were bound and burned with burning oil and subjected to other cruelty. Naked women were thrown into the cages of wild beasts, where they were devoured before the eyes of the king.

Finally the French authorities made a prisoner of Thanh-Thai, who has been adjudged insane by Dr. Dumas of the French colonial staff.

AID OF AIR, WATER, AND EARTH INVOKED IN VAIN TO SAVE LIFE.

Last Resort Specialist, Summoned from Ship at Sea by Wireless, Hurried Over New York in Fast Tug, and Under City in Subway, Arrives at the Patient's Bedside in Time to See Death Win the Victory at Last.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—To give a woman at the point of death the one chance for life which the best of earthly skill might afford, the powers of earth, air, and water were today invoked in a superhuman effort to stay the hand of fate.

On the steamship Carmania of the Cunard line Dr. Howard Kelly, the distinguished surgeon and professor of gynecology at Johns Hopkins university was returning from Europe. In a sanitarium at 26 West Sixty-first street Mrs. Lewis Davis, who had undergone a delicate operation last Saturday, momentarily was losing ground. New York specialists had been called in consultation, but they had shaken their heads. The case seemed beyond human power.

Wireless Message Calls Aid.

Then it was determined to call Dr. Kelly to the aid of the sick woman. This was Monday. The Germania was due in the afternoon, so through the air went the message by wireless. But Capt. Pritchard at quarantine decided that the weather was too uncertain and he would not dock his ship until Tuesday morning. Dr. Kelly, however, was not to be deterred. He pointed out the exigency of his mission, and every facility was put at his disposal.

Only Col. Clarkson, surveyor of the port, could cut the Gordian knot of red tape which prevented a passenger from landing before the ship had been cleared. The wires were soon in motion to advise him of the situation.

Death Victor in the End.

His deputy, Mr. Bishop, in turn communicated with the authorities at Washington, and presently a tug with two inspectors and Dr. Kelly aboard posted off to the Battery. Here the subway came into play. While an express whirled the doctor to the Seventy-second street station a cab was called by telephone to meet him there, and, in an incredibly short time, he had pronounced the last word that doomed the patient.

All had been done, he said, that mortal skill could suggest. The end was inevitable, and a few hours later Mrs. Davis quietly breathed her last.

COLD STORAGE ORDINANCE REACHES COMPROMISE STAGE

Health Department and Warehouse Interests Agree, but Plan Displeases Retail Merchants.

The health department and the cold storage and South Water street people have come to an agreement over a cold storage ordinance. When it was outlined to the council committee on judiciary yesterday afternoon it was made plain at once there would be strong opposition to it among the retail grocers and butchers, and the aldermen are disposed to take the side of the retailers. It will be taken up again next Tuesday.

The idea of the compromise ordinance is to make the retailer stamp all goods he sells to the consumer so the buyer can know exactly what he is getting. The wholesaler is to mark on the invoice of all goods he sells whether they have been in cold storage, and if so for how long. In turn the retailer is to stamp the package he sells with the information he gets from the wholesaler.

The "Wide Tire association" submitted a new "wide tire ordinance" to the committee. It was denounced as a subterfuge the moment it appeared. Even the Team Owners' association had harsh things to say about it. The main fault found with it was it provided for oval tires instead of flat ones. Consideration of it was postponed until next week.

The "gunpowder ordinance" was recommended for passage. It prohibits the sale or gift of gunpowder or explosives of any kind to minors.

EVOKE SPIRITS IN CONVENTION.

"Message Bearers" Entertain Audience at Y. M. C. A. Hall and Several Addresses Are Made.

The National Spiritualists' association met last night at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, 153 La Salle street, for the second evening session, and the hall was taxed to its capacity by the delegates, the "faithful," and those who had assembled to test the spiritualistic doctrines.

Mr. Harrison D. Barrett, president of the association, introduced the speakers and the "message bearers," Mrs. C. A. Sprague and Mrs. Eva McCoy, who gave spirit readings to those of the audience who so desired. Mrs. Cora Richmond and Mrs. R. S. Lillie gave an improvised poem, "When Truth a Message Brings to Earth." Mrs. Abbott of the Morris Pratt institute and Mr. Oscar A. Edgerly declaimed upon the high ideals and the future development of modern spiritualism.

At the afternoon session $1,000 was subscribed to the general fund.

Prescribed Change of Food Instead of Drugs

Read below.

Anyone who has eaten New England pies knows how good they are.

But some things that taste good don't always agree. A Mass. lady had to leave off pie, but found something far better for her stomach. She writes:

"Six or eight years ago chronic liver trouble was greatly exaggerated by eating too much fat meat, pastry and particularly pies, of which I was very fond.

"Severe headaches, dizziness, nausea followed, and food, even fruit, lay like lead in my stomach accompanied by a dull, heavy pain almost unbearable. I had peculiar 'spells'—flashes of light before my sight. I could read half a word and the rest would be invisible.

"A feeling of lassitude and confusion of ideas made me even more miserable. I finally decided to change food altogether and began on Grape-Nuts food which brought me prompt relief—removed the dizziness, headache, confused feeling, and put me on the road to health and happiness. It clears my head, strengthens both brain and nerves.

"Whenever I enter our grocer's store, he usually calls out 'six packages of Grape-Nuts!'—and he's nearly always right." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason." Read the famous booklet, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

OIL TRUST'S FATE IN JURY'S HANDS.

Trial at Findlay, O., Ends with Arguments and Spat Between Attorneys.

12 PROOFS OF GUILT.

Attorney General Ellis Cites an Even Dozen Reasons for Verdict Against Standard.

benefit of the general interests. If they have acquired it properly it is their right to manage it as they see fit provided of course they respect the rights of others. There is nothing in the Valentine law that prohibits such management by owners. Its object was to prevent people who were competing from combining so as not to compete.

Too Much Meddling.

"We are having too much meddling with individual rights and the rights of the private citizen under the form of legislation."

Taking up the information which constitutes the charge against the defendant company, Mr. Kline first read that part which charged that John D. Rockefeller was the inspiration for the original trust agreement of 1882, and that he had continued to "be the embodiment of the spirit of the Standard Oil trust" ever since. The whole case, he said, was contained in the information.

"The averments charge, if they charge anything, that the Standard Oil company of Ohio became in 1882 a member of that trust agreement and has continued to perform that agreement ever since. That is the gist of the charge. That is the charge we came here to answer. That is the charge the Supreme court of the state of Ohio answered when it said it was not true."

Tilt Between Attorneys.

A lively tilt between Mr. Kline and Attorney General Ellis created the first sensation in the trial and resulted in applause from the spectators for the attorney general and a severe warning by the court, who threatened to clear the courtroom.

Mr. Kline had resumed his arguments after luncheon and made reference to the telegram received by the attorney general stating that the Manhattan had sold out to the Standard for $2,000,000. He said it was an "infamous and dirty little trick," done to influence the jury by some one, he did not believe at this end of the line. Its absurdity, he said, was apparent from the fact that the Manhattan was only capitalized for $150,000. Attorney General Ellis interrupted with some warmth.

"If the court please," he began, "I have sat silent under the most remarkable tirade of abuse I have ever heard in my life. Mr. Kline attempts, apparently, to make it appear that the attorneys for the state have attempted in some way by a telegram to influence this jury. We have not presented any telegram to this jury or anything about any telegram. I want to say to the court that there is no truth in the statement, and I don't believe that counsel who makes it believes it."

Kept from the Jury.

Judge Banker remarked that he did not think it proper to discuss the telegram, and said he should instruct the jury not to regard it.

"It is an insulting and infamous tirade," broke in the attorney general, "and there's no truth in it."

"Who gave it to the press?" demanded Mr. Kline. "I want to know what kind of petty work there is going on here."

"The telegram came to me," responded the attorney general, "and one of my associates went to a newspaper man to ascertain if there was anything in it. We did not want it in this case. Mr. Kline put it into this case unprofessionally, and he knows, as a matter of fact, that he has been guilty of a petty trick."

In concluding his argument to the jury Mr. Kline said:

"Are we to be convicted on guesswork and inference or because some one thinks he has a grievance?

"Tell me from what source are we to be convicted. There is no evidence that a single stockholder of the Standard Oil company of Ohio has sold his stock to the Standard of New Jersey since 1898.

"It may have been shown that an individual is a director in the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and also of one of the subsidiary companies, but it does not prove that a conspiracy exists or has existed."

Makes His Last Appeal.

Continuing, he said there was no evidence that the Standard of Ohio was connected in any way with the Standard of New Jersey.

"But the gentlemen tell us we do not wish to drive you out of business here. What do you need us for—to throw stones at? Why do you want us here—to build up your city and county, to help pay your taxes?

"We rest on the principle that we have always been guiltless. We are not responsible for the failure of others.

"In three-fourths of the failures of the world the individuals are to blame themselves. The Standard Oil company has been one of the factors in the creation of the wealth of the state. It is not a pirate, as it has been pictured by many."

Closes for the State.

Attorney General Ellis began its closing argument at 3 o'clock. He described how the various companies engaged in the oil business in all of the states; that from this fact these various companies were natural competitors. "But their purpose was to control the market, to increase prices; to corner the industry; to monopolize the business and to get rich out of it. They may say their only purpose was to benefit mankind, to cheapen the price of oil, to employ 40,000 persons, to keep the city of Cleveland from being wiped off the map, but that is not their purpose."

He continued:

"The way to establish a trust under the Valentine act is to prove that two or more persons or corporations have combined for the purpose of controlling prices. We could have shown the existence of this trust by its general reputation, as there is not a child in Hancock county who does not know that the Standard Oil company of Ohio is a member of the oil trust. But we have preferred to put credible witnesses on the stand, and their testimony has shown what?

Makeup of the Trust.

"Who owns the Manhattan Oil company—an English corporation? Is it competing with any but the independent companies in this territory? No.

"Who owns the Buckeye Pipe Line company? The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, with offices at 26 Broadway, and its officers and directors are these same fellows who are officers and directors of these companies.

"Who owns the Ohio oil company? The same New Jersey company. It sends its telegrams over the lines of the Buckeye free of cost.

"Who owns the Solar Refining company? The same New Jersey company.

"Who owns the Standard Oil company of Ohio?

"Mr. Kline says we have not proved who owns that. He would have you believe that this company is not now owned by the New Jersey company; that it is competing with these other corporations, and is not in the trust.

Twelve Separate Proofs.

"Now I have just a dozen separate and distinct items of testimony going directly to the acts and conduct of the Standard Oil company of Ohio and proving, not beyond a reasonable doubt but beyond the possibility of a question, that the company is and has been all the time, as everybody knows, a member of this aggregation.

"First—The Standard Oil company of Ohio was in the original trust.

"Second—It was in the trust after the custer of 1892, because, as shown by the script and stock certificates produced by Mrs. Butts, the stock ownership in the various companies was identical.

"Third—Its officers are the same as the officers of the several other corporations in the aggregation, its president, F. Q. Barstow, has his office at 26 Broadway.

"Fourth—The tax returns to the secretary of state of Ohio came from the same place at [this was disputed by the defense and withdrawn by Mr. Ellis].

"Fifth it buys only from other members of the trust in Ohio and is the only member of the trust that sells renned oil in the state.

"Sixth—It does not compete with the only other refinery in the state of any size, the Solar, at Lima.

"Seventh—It pays the inspection fees of the Solar Refining company.

"Eighth—It owns 200 distributing stations, as well as 90 per cent of the refined oil in the state, notwithstanding the Solar is said to refine half the oil in the state.

"Ninth—Right here in Findlay there is no competition except the national refinery.

"Tenth—The Buckeye pipe lines connect with the Solar and Standard refineries only.

"Eleventh—This postal card, authorizing state inspection, shows the component parts of the great combination—it mentions the Standard Oil company of Ohio, the Union Tank line, the Solar Refining company, and 26 Broadway.

"Twelfth—No officer and no books of the company are here. Why? Because they know that if they were they would be everlastingly convicted out of their own mouth."

Mr. Ellis closed with an appeal for the triumph of right. From the president of the United States to the humblest prosecutor in the land, he said, honest duty was being done to uphold the principle of honesty in government.

Evangelist Weds Choir Singer After a Romantic Courtship.

Miss Charles R. Scoville

A chance meeting two years ago of the Rev. Charles R. Scoville, pastor of the Metropolitan Christian church, and Miss Arlene Cornelia Dux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dux, 4 Campbell Park boulevard, led to the marriage of the couple last night at the residence of the bride's parents.

The wedding formed the final chapter of an unusually romantic courtship, beginning when the minister first saw Miss Dux, one morning as he was assisting a new parishioner to find a home. Dr. Scoville was searching the neighborhood for a vacant house, and found it in Campbell Park boulevard, next to the Dux home. Miss Dux was sitting on the veranda. The pastor immediately fell in love with her. He resolved to find out who she was and to become acquainted with her. Soon afterwards the two were introduced by a mutual friend, and the minister was successful in winning the heart of the girl. She sang in the choir of his church previous to their marriage.

Dr. Scoville is widely known through the country as an evangelist. He has conducted meetings for Christian churches in many cities with success. He established the Metropolitan church for the purpose of accomplishing effective evangelist work in Chicago.

DR. BROUWER NOT GUILTY.

JURY ACQUITS MAN ACCUSED OF POISONING WIFE.

Dramatic Scene at Toms River, N. J., Courtroom When Verdict Is Announced—People Clap Their Hands and Cheer Despite the Rules—Crowds in the Streets Follow Liberated Man to His Home, Cheering and Congratulating Him.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—After a trial lasting about ten days, Dr. Frank L. Brouwer, indicted for the murder of his wife by poison, was acquitted today. The jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty" inside of an hour.

Dr. Brouwer was brought in, looking pale, but showing little signs of nervousness. The jury then filed into the box and the foreman was asked if they had agreed on a verdict. He promptly replied: "We find a verdict of not guilty."

Instantly the courtroom was in an uproar. Men and women cheered and applauded, in spite of the rapping for order, and the court officers had difficulty in suppressing the noise. Finally, when quiet was restored, Dr. Brouwer was formally discharged. He was so overcome that he could scarcely speak.

Crowd Applauds Verdict.

At this point the applause was renewed and women waved their handkerchiefs, while scores of Dr. Brouwer's friends crowded about him and offered their congratulations.

When the excitement had died somewhat Dr. Brouwer shook hands with his counsel and, turning to Judge Hendrickson, thanked him for the impartiality of his charge to the jury.

Brouwer then asked permission to address the jury and, when it was granted, said:

"I am thankful, very thankful, for the way you have treated me, and I hope that none of you ever will be placed in such a position as I have been."

Reception in Courtroom.

The doctor then shook hands with each juror. As he turned from the jurymen, men, women, and children again pressed about the acquitted man, who finally backed up to a wall of the courtroom and grabbed each extended hand as the crowd, shouting its congratulations, filed past him. A 14 year old girl paused in the line long enough to kiss him.

Once free of the courtroom crowd, Dr. Brouwer was hurried by his counsel to the street, where another crowd that had been waiting cheered and followed him as he walked rapidly towards his home.

INDICT WATERS-PIERCE FIRM.

Oklahoma Grand Jury Returns True Bills Against Oil Company and Frisco Railroad.

Watongo, Okla., Oct. 17.—An indictment was returned today by the Blaine county grand jury against the Waters-Pierce Oil company and the Frisco railroad, alleging a violation of the Oklahoma anti-trust laws. The indictment recites that the railroad company entered into an agreement with the oil company for transporting its product at a lower rate than offered any of the latter's competitors.

DUNNE'S VOTE FOR DEMOCRATS.

Mayor Speaks at First Ward Meeting, Declaring His Allegiance to the Ticket.

Mayor Dunne declared his allegiance to the democratic tickets last night at a meeting in the first ward at Brooks' casino in Wabash avenue.

"There are three tickets in the field," he said, "but no man with any political sagacity will take more than two into consideration. It is a question of electing republican or democratic officials, and no other candidates have a chance.

"As between the democratic and republican candidates you may judge on the basis of the records made by the republican and democratic officeholders."

He then reviewed the cases in which republican county officials were found guilty of embezzlement, and compared their records with the records of the late Sheriff Barrett, City Clerk Anson, and of himself as mayor.

Enough democratic candidates were present at the meeting to fill the large stage from the footlights to the rear wall. It was impossible to allow them to speak, but Ald. Coughlin got around the difficulty by merely introducing them to the audience.

BOARD APPLAUDS SCHOOL TEACHER

President of the Federation Says That Foul Air Fills Ill Kept Buildings.

HER FEELINGS HURT, TOO

Mrs. Fursman Asserts That Officials Neglected Complaints She Made.

Mrs. Ida L. M. Fursman, president of the teachers' union, took the floor at the special meeting of the board of education last night and was cheered for making a vigorous arraignment of the present system of ventilating and cleaning Chicago's public schools.

She declared that the air is so foul in most of the schools that it smells bad and tastes bad; she said the ventilating apparatus does not "ventilate"; she asserted that when the rooms are swept the teachers and pupils are choked by the dust; she charged Principal John H. Stehman of the Avondale school with having ignored her protests and said Chief Engineer T. J. Waters had told her that it was not customary to consider a complaint coming from "such a source."

Soap and water and a scrubwoman would do more to preserve the health of the public school children than medical inspection or a corps of trained nurses and would prove a more economic cure, she said. While Mrs. Fursman was speaking Chief Engineer Water's face turned crimson and when she resumed her seat she was applauded vigorously, not only by the visitors, but by the board members themselves—an unprecedented occurrence.

First of "Talkfests."

The occasion of Mrs. Fursman's arraignment was the first of the "talkfests" which are to be held by the school board during the year. The "talkfests" are to be held for the purpose of educating the board members, and last night's was devoted to the following subjects:

Medical inspection. Cleaning.
Examination of children. Gymnastics.
Ventilation. Play.

It was after Business Manager John A. Guilford had made his maiden speech before the board and after Chief Engineer Waters had dodged speechmaking by distributing tracts on "Ventilation" that Mrs. Fursman threw down the gauntlet to the two department heads. Manager Guilford, instead of speaking an original "piece," had read the rules of the board on cleaning to the board members.

Mrs. Fursman arose from among the spectators.

"I want to differ with the statements that have been made regarding the ventilation and cleaning of the public schools," said she. "At the Avondale school the air is so foul that you can smell it and taste it. The ventilating apparatus does not ventilate. This is almost the universal opinion among the teachers, and what I say of the Avondale school applies to most of the other schools.

"The thermostats at the school are not accurate. The heat in the rooms often is unbearable. We are not allowed to open a door, a window, or even a transom. The sweeping is not done with moistened sawdust. At a teachers' meeting at the school a few days ago we were almost stifled with the dust caused by the sweeping. Soap and water are what are needed in the schools. It is cheaper than antitoxin. Scrubwomen are needed, too, and they will be found cheaper than medical inspectors."

President Ritter asked Business Manager Guilford if any complaints had been made to him.

"No complaint has been made to me from any principal or teacher," said Mr. Guilford.

Other Subjects Discussed.

The board took up the question of medical inspection in the schools and of establishing a corps of trained nurses. Dr. Heman Spalding of the city health department said the medical inspection, as now conducted, is useless, as eleven inspectors cannot do the work. He would have 100 inspectors.

Miss Harriet Fulmer, superintendent of the Visiting Nurses' association, told of the work done at the Dante, the Jackson, and the Goodrich schools. She said a corps of nurses for public service would increase attendance, reduce truancy, and prevent the spread of contagion. Miss Jane Addams produced figures to show that the truancy at the Dante school had been reduced two-thirds through the service of the nurses.

PUZZLED OVER SCHOOL FIGURES

Trustees Fail to Understand Why Enrollment Is Less at Present than in 1904.

Members of the school board are wondering why the enrollment in the public schools for September, while it shows an increase of 1,443 over 1905, is almost 4,500 less than the enrollment in 1904.

W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, declares the decrease cannot be put on his department. The enrollment in all public schools is 248,787. The following table shows the divisions:

School.	Membership.
Normal	450
High schools	12,963
First district	61,271
Second district	80,064
Third district	53,923
Fourth district	48,088
Normal practice	1,046
Yale practice	882
Crippled children	91

The agitation in favor of the parochial schools in certain districts is said to be responsible for the decrease in membership as compared with the preceding years.

TRIBUNE ADS BRING RETURNS

WOMAN POKES FUN AT 'FREAK' CLUBS.

Illinois Federation Delegates Hear Mrs. Sarah P. Decker Point Out Foibles.

PURE FOOD IS DISCUSSED.

Dr. Caroline Hedges, Who 'Started' Yards Inquiry, Talks on Meat Production.

No professional humorist can tell Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker much about the foibles of women's clubs. She is president of the big national federation and a woman blessed with a sense of humor beyond any woman's best deserts. Therefore Mrs. Decker was able to hit off with telling satire the weak spots in clubdom for the amusement of the 500 delegates to the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs in session at Mandel hall, University of Chicago. Her speech marked the culmination of yesterday's programs.

In the morning Mrs. George Watkins, 4206 Oakenwald avenue, a member of the Chicago South Side club, was nominated without opposition for president of the federation. The formal election for this and the other offices will be held this morning.

Shakspeare Clubs Funny.

"I know a small western town," said Mrs. Decker, after she had dismissed masculine criticism of the club movement, "that has ten Shakspeare clubs. Grasp, if you can, the full horror of that. And it was nothing new—some of the clubs had been studying Shakspeare for ten years. But the streets of that town are dirty, and, æsthetically, the place is dead. There is no care for child life, no interest in sanitation, no regard for the home house—it is all Shakspeare. With all reverence for the Bard of Avon I say, what a pity!"

Pausing for the ripple of laughter and applause, Mrs. Decker swiftly followed with point number two:

"I went to one of their meetings, and my suspicions were confirmed. On their program for that afternoon they had papers on 'Macbeth,' 'Othello,' 'Measure for Measure,' 'Twelfth Night,' and one other, which I have forgotten! And, as if that were not enough, some one closed with a paper on 'Civil Service.' Just think what that means in cultural dissipation. A Shakspearean scholar told me once that a lifetime was hardly time enough in which to master a single one of Shakspeare's plays. Those club women had five."

Real Dante Is Dead.

"A Chicago newspaper once took me to task for saying, up in Wisconsin, that Dante is dead. I repeat it with all solemnity—Dante is dead. Not only physically but in his influence. Our club women talk with fatality on the length of his hair, how many nights he slept here and there, but of the real Dante, what do we know?

'And how many of us,' she added, 'know Dante's definition of the club woman: 'In loyal deeds alone she has delight'?

"Once I attended an art section," she continued, "and their program went something like this: 'Fra Angelico, Norwegian Art, the Pre-Raphaelite Painters, Stained Glass Windows, and Civil Government.' What a meal. I'd like to see the art sections devote themselves to stemming, if possible, the awful examples of injudicious civic art. Take art out of the grip of your aldermen."

Scores Point for Pure Food.

Mrs. George W. Plummer, chairman of the committee on pure food, wanted to know "what it profited a woman to reform the whole world and poison her own children?" She said the federation should bend its energies toward the education of housewives, so that they will demand pure food. To this end the Chicago Woman's club, she announced, will give a special exhibition on [illegible]

Prof. W. B. Trueman of the University of Illinois aided the housewives for failing [illegible] to exert themselves to secure good food.

Dr. Caroline Hedges of the University of Chicago, the woman whose magazine article on the stockyards situation is said finally to have influenced President Roosevelt to send Reynolds and Neill on their special investigation, was introduced as "the woman in the case." She spoke on "Some Factors in the Production of Clean Meat." She was critical of the government inspection, in that it allowed five classes of bad meat to go through.

Condemns Plumes; Wears 'Em.

Mrs. Horace G. Kauffman, chairman of the forestry committee, in reading a report condemning the custom of wearing plumes on hats, looked up in some surprise at the gale of laughter that suddenly swept the hall. She did not seem to realize until she sat down that her own headgear was resplendent with long black plumes.

Enos A. Mills of Estes Park, Colo., made an epigrammatic plea for the preservation of the forests. In the evening a musical program was given by Mrs. E. L. Billingsley, Mrs. Frederick W. Upham, John Miller, and Albert Borroff, assisted by Miss Annette R. Jones.

The nominations to be voted upon this morning are:

President, Mrs. George Watkins of Chicago; honorary president, Mrs. James Frake; vice presidents at large, Mrs. Georgia C. Caldwell of Carbondale and Mrs. Francis D. Everett of Highland Park; recording secretary, Mrs. Katherine Storey Westfall; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Jones of Maywood, Miss Kate C. Young of Cissy, Mrs. Charles E. Herrick and Mrs. C. J. Lumpkin of Carlinville; treasurer, Mrs. Kate A. Henry of Danville and Mrs. Edward Murphy of Chicago; secretary to the general federation, Mrs. Frank L. Bills of Chicago.

Prof. Cooley will address the convention this morning on "What Should Be the Curriculum of the High School to Best Fit for Social and Community Life?"

EVIDENCE AGAINST CHETLAIN MAY GO TO STATE'S ATTORNEY

Other Officials Mentioned in Connection with Judicial Inquiry—Hearing Will Be Resumed This Afternoon.

The bar association's inquiry into the judicial conduct of Judge Arthur H. Chetlain is to be resumed in Judge Grosscup's courtroom in the federal building at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The result of the inquiry may be, it is said, determine the advisability of placing the evidence so far obtained in the hands of State's Attorney Healy and perhaps bringing hitherto unnamed persons into the matter.

James A. Baldwin, attorney for the prosecution, yesterday remarked on the fact that [illegible] J. Zimmer, former minute clerk for Chetlain, has received an exceptionally large number of profitable receiverships at the hands of several judges. An effort will be made to secure Zimmer's testimony and the testimony of other witnesses who have been difficult to obtain.

"I am not prepared to state that there was anything wrong in connection with the giving of the receiverships to Zimmer," said Mr. Baldwin. "The court records show that. We have been unable to get Zimmer as a witness thus far."

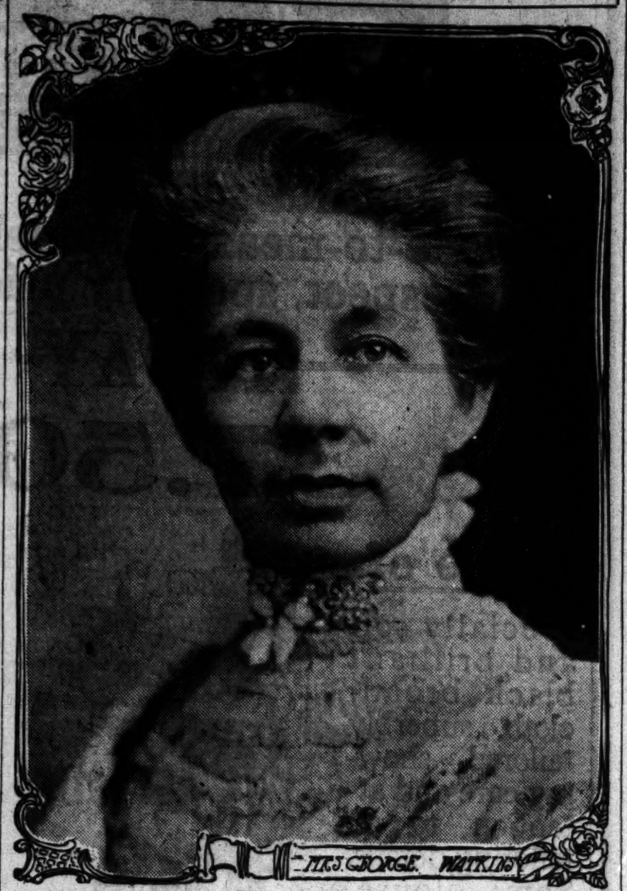

If the testimony of witnesses to the sale of Judge Chetlain's notes to friends of "Billy" Boyle, while the latter was under indictment later to be freed by Chetlain, cannot be obtained, it is probable that Chairman Henry Rosenthal will dissolve his committee.

In that event he will call upon the state's attorney to complete the investigation. If witnesses respond promptly, the prosecution hopes to close its case by next Monday. Then Judge Chetlain may defend himself.

Clubwoman Named to Head Federation.

MRS. GEORGE WATKINS

WHOLE WICKES HOME GAY

WITNESS SAYS FATHER GRIEVED OVER DAUGHTERS.

New View of Life in Family of Late Vice President of Pullman Company Given by O. S. Newell, Long the Car Official's Friend—He Tells of Two Girls' Late Suppers, Theater Parties, and Visits to World's Fair Midway.

Another view of life in the family of the late Thomas H. Wickes was presented yesterday to the jury trying the will case before Judge Honoré. There were more stories of late suppers and ardent pursuit of pleasure, but the actors presented were Mrs. Florence Johnston and her sister, Mrs. Annette Felt, daughters of the former vice president of the Pullman company. The testimony, intended to reflect on the daughters and Thomas H. Wickes Jr., was introduced by the defense to show why their father left them so little in his will.

O. S. Newell, division superintendent of the Pullman company at San Antonio, Tex., who had known Wickes since 1871, was the principal witness. Mr. Newell began by saying his late superior often had complained to him regarding the conduct of his children.

"What did he tell you regarding the girls?" asked Attorney Frank H. Scott.

"Mr. Wickes said he was ambitious for his daughters and he was anxious that they should make something of themselves, but he told me that they would persist in 'hanging around' theaters and attend late suppers. Things of that sort, you know."

Returned Late from Theater.

"Did he mention any specific instance of this conduct?" was asked.

"O, yes," replied Mr. Newell. "I remember one time Mr. Wickes spoke of an occurrence regarding a theater party. He said his daughters attended a theater one night and did not return until 2 o'clock in the morning. When they arrived they were accompanied by Sandow, the strong man."

"What happened after that?" asked Mr. Scott.

"Then Mr. Wickes said he wished to have the girls attend a boarding school—a convent. They went to the school, and several weeks later, when he returned to Chicago from a business trip, they were again at home."

Mr. Newell was asked to tell concerning the alleged conduct of the young women during the Chicago world's fair.

"Mr. Wickes complained once regarding their actions there," continued the witness. "He said his daughters persisted in visiting the Midway plaisance at night, and he did not at all approve of this conduct."

Mysterious Turk Appears.

"He told me that on one Sunday he was sitting at a front window in his house when a Turk came to the door," Mrs. Laura Wickes answered the bell, and the two conversed for some moments. Later the Turk went away, but returned again."

Mrs. Wickes said the visitor was a Turkish rug vender.

A scene at the Washington park clubhouse was brought out on cross examination by Attorney William E. Mason.

"One night about three years ago Mr. Wickes, his third wife, Mrs. Edna Wickes, and I had dinner at the Washington Park club," related Mr. Newell. "Mr. Wickes took out a match safe, which he was about to return to the pocket, when Mrs. Wickes demanded to know who gave it to him. Mr. Wickes could not remember where he got it, and then there was some trouble."

Wickes Drives Carriage Home.

Later that same evening Mr. Newell said the coachman persisted in driving in the wrong direction, and Wickes at last mounted the box and drove to his residence.

It is expected testimony in the suit will be completed today, as the defendants have but three more witnesses to call. The arguments will be limited by the court, and it is believed the case will go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

CRIPPLES ORGANIZE A UNION.

Switchmen Who Have Lost Arms or Legs Believe They Receive Less than They Earn.

One thousand switchtenders employed in Chicago, a big per cent of whom are crippled and incapacitated for other work, completed the organization of a union at Koch's hall, 10 Clark street, last evening. The men are paid a maximum wage of $55 a month, and they declare that if they refused to remain at their posts the roads would be compelled to hire able bodied men to do the work at a much higher wage.

"We do not want the fact that most of us are cripples made a feature of our organization," said D. C. Wolverton, a switchtender, who organized his fellow workers. "We do not want sympathy. We believe that we earn considerably more than we are being paid and we wish to ask for our rights."

The new union has been granted a charter by the International Switchmen's union and by the American Federation of Labor. The officers have not yet framed their demands for increased wages and shorter hours.

W.C.T.U. WORLD CONGRESS

WOMEN OF ALL NATIONS AND COLOR GATHER IN BOSTON.

Feature of First Day's Session of Great Convention Is "Welcome" Banquet, at Which Toasts Are All in Water—Japanese, Finnish, and Greek Delegates to Deliver Addresses on Spread of Temperance in Their Lands.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17.—From Japan and Australia, and more than fifty other countries in both the eastern and western hemispheres, thousands of women interested in temperance reform have come to this city to participate in the triennial world's convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which opened here today.

In addition to the business sessions, many public meetings have been arranged at which prominent women temperance workers from this country and abroad will deliver addresses. One of the features of the convention was the "welcome" banquet held in Tremont temple this evening.

World President an Absentee.

In the absence of the president of the world's union, Lady Henry Somerset, the presiding officer at the business sessions, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the National W. C. T. U., and vice president at large of the world's body, spoke as follows at the banquet:

"We welcome you from forty-six states, from the District of Columbia, Alaska, Arizona, New Mexico, Hawaii, and the Philippines. Our greetings come from 300,000 women, whose hearts are bound to your hearts by this bit of sacred white ribbon. We welcome you to the native land of the founder of the world's W. C. T. U., Frances E. Willard. We welcome you to a land where total abstinence and prohibition sentiment is fast advancing; where nearly half of our country is under prohibition, through either local, county, state, or national legislation, and living in these prohibition districts are about 30,000,000 people.

"We welcome you to our land, which we hope and believe will some day completely outlaw the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor for beverage purposes. Your coming will hasten that day. The sun never sets on the World's W. C. T. U., and so we welcome you, sun crowned people."

Women of All Nations There.

Among the foreign delegates who will speak at the various sessions will be Miss Agnes E. Black, honorary secretary of the National British Women's Temperance association; Mrs. Haji Yajima, president of the Japanese W. C. T. U.; Lady Dorothy Howard of England, Mrs. Julie Kasowitz of Austria, Miss Annie Lile of London, Mrs. Alli Trygg Helenius of Finland. Miss Sevasti Callisperi of Greece, Miss Amy Swankie-Cameron of London, and the earl of Carlisle of England.

It was arranged that today should be observed as "Devotional day." The convention proper will open tomorrow morning, when the delegates will be welcomed by Gov. Guild and Mayor Fitzgerald.

CHICAGOANS WED FIFTY YEARS.

Parents of A. J. White Will Celebrate Marriage Anniversary at Home on Monday.

James Murray White and wife, 4463 Berkeley avenue, next Monday will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Mr. White, father of A. J. White of the board of trade, married Miss Sarah Higgins in Chicago a half century ago, the old Tremont hotel being the scene of their nuptials. Mr. White was born in Chicago on Dec. 8, 1826, and Mrs. White was born at Birkenhead, England, Aug. 3, 1837. Six children have been born, of whom three—Augustus J., Charles E., and Hartley, all Chicagoans—survive.

Constipation and Its Causes

A Well-Known Remedy

Constipation is one of man's worst enemies, and half of the bodily ills we suffer from are a result thereof. Nature meant that the bowels should be kept free. Of course, we ourselves are to a large extent responsible for our troubles by failure to observe Nature's laws. Our habits are irregular, we eat improper food with undue haste, and when we find our bowels irregular, have resort to powerful drugs and medicines, which are so drastic in their action that, although they may purge at first, they damage the tender lining of the stomach and bowels so as to leave a worse condition than before. And why take such injurious and expensive drugs when we can obtain from any druggist, much cheaper, a bottle of Nature's own remedy—the famous Mineral Laxative Water—HUNYADI JANOS—bottled at the springs in Hungary; in use nearly half a century. One dose, ½ a tumblerful, drunk on arising in the morning [slightly warmed for best results], will bring relief within an hour—gentle, natural and thorough—without any griping or purging or other bad effects. A whole bottle costs but a trifle. Keep one always on hand. At all Druggists.

LABOR LASH FOR PRISON OFFICIALS

Illinois Federation Delegates Resent Cohen's Praise of Wardens.

REPORT A 'WHITEWASH'?

Critics of President Threaten a Lively Rumpus at Streator Convention Today.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Streator, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—State prison officials, in particular Warden Murphy of Joliet penitentiary, are slated for severe arraignment today in the convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Delegates are in a ferment tonight over an alleged attempt to "whitewash" prison conditions by President Barney Cohen, and a committee was appointed to make an investigation in behalf of organized labor. The convention refused to accept President Cohen's report and ordered a rigorous inquiry into the facts.

This committee, of which John H. Walker of Danville is chairman, held a five hour session, and, it is said, received evidence regarding violations of the prison law, which may form the basis of a stinging rebuke for Cohen and the condemnation of the prison officials.

Cohen Denies "Whitewash" Plan.

President Cohen appeared before the committee and denied a plan to "whitewash" facts. He was supported by several friends, who asserted the present law is excellent and that its enforcement during the last year has been all that could have been desired. They said Cohen was justified in incorporating in his report the following "encomium" for the penitentiary heads:

"We wish to express our appreciation of the work accomplished by the wardens and superintendents of the various institutions. We believe the law should remain unchanged and our efforts be directed to its thorough enforcement and a better understanding of conditions. Let us do our part in helping and not hampering a good law when it is properly understood and enforced."

Fred Lee of the Chicago Boot and Shoe Workers' union, H. P. Dolan of the broommakers, and Delegate Walker are heading the opposition to Cohen's report. Lee said in the convention that he personally had investigated Joliet penitentiary and knew of many violations of the law. He said he wouldn't stand for a report commending Warden Murphy. Some of the other delegates censured President Cohen in their remarks for defending the prison officials.

Politics Keeps Delegates Busy.

Politics also is causing a ferment in the convention. It seems certain President Gompers' program for political action will be indorsed, although the Walker matter still looms up as a stumbling block. Mr. Walker, who is a candidate against Speaker Cannon for congress, will be honored by a resolution calling for his indorsement unanimously by the federation. It is said he will not permit his friends to ask anything unless he is certain the vote will be unanimous. How Walker's indorsement will coincide with Gompers' anti-socialistic ideas has not been made plain.

Street car delegates have introduced a resolution in favor of a law doing away with footboards on street cars and substituting center aisles therefor. They also want legislation to compel street railroad companies to keep the vestibules of cars at 60 degrees temperature, 10 degrees warmer than required within the cars by the Chicago ordinance.

Miss Mary McDowell of the Chicago Stockyards settlement, it was learned, will arrive today to urge before the labor delegates her plan for congressional inquiry into conditions of woman wage earners in the United States.

Fight for President's Office.

In the contest for President Cohen's office a spirited fight has developed between Edwin R. Wright and John J. Brittain, both of Chicago. Brittain is conducting an aggressive campaign among the delegates, and is said to be gaining followers. Wright claims enough votes to insure his election.

A rumor developed today to the effect that "Skinny" Madden will arrive tomorrow afternoon with a crowd of friends to swing the election. Later the story was denied, but in order to guard against the tactics which prevailed last year, Delegate Thomas F. Kennedy of the Chicago Musicians insisted upon having the final hour for receiving new credentials set for 12 o'clock tomorrow.

Sargent Indorses Cannon.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Frank P. Sargent, commissioner general of immigration, who has been identified with organized labor for many years, came out today in an authorized statement in support of Speaker Cannon's reelection.

"I do not say I indorse every act of 'Uncle Joe,' as we call him in his district," he said, "but I do say he has on more than one occasion proved himself the friend of organized labor.

"Men who belong to trades unions believe in a square deal. They want it themselves and are willing others should have it, but there are some blind partisans in labor organizations, as there are in political organizations, who look at questions at only one point of view. And it is this class of men who would, if they could, defeat 'Uncle Joe' simply because he does not subscribe to everything they happen to advocate at the time."

HEAD OF PIANO COMPANY IS SUED FOR A DIVORCE.

Charles Wagener Accused of Beating and Kicking—Man Threatens to Kill Wife, Both Lawyers, and Self.

Charles H. Wagener, president of the Melville Clark Piano company, 17 Van Buren street, is defendant to divorce proceedings brought yesterday by Mrs. Imogene Wagener. Scenes between the husband and wife at their home, 117 Waller avenue, Austin, and in London, England, are described in the bill. Many times since their marriage, in 1893, Mrs. Wagener avers, the defendant has struck, pinched, kicked, and otherwise abused her.

Charles C. King, 984 Washington boulevard, in an answer to a bill for divorce filed recently by Elizabeth King, denies that she is his wife. In her suit she set forth that on Feb. 15, 1902, they entered into an agreement to live as husband and wife. King denies this, and says the woman was employed for a time as his housekeeper.

Threats of a triple murder and suicide figure in a bill for divorce begun by Mrs. Catherine Riesen, 407 Belmont avenue, against Christian Riesen, 581 West Twelfth street. She says that Riesen recently was ordered to pay alimony of $15 in a suit for separate maintenance. Since then, she declares, he has said:

"I'll squander my money and have a good time until I have just enough left to buy a revolver, and then I'll kill you, your lawyer, my lawyer, and myself."

DIVORCED FROM CHICAGO MAN.

Mrs. Annie B. Walker Given Decree in Action Against Edwin C. Walker, Broker.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Annie B. Walker, daughter of Edward A. Bradley, the millionaire lumberman, was granted a divorce by Judge Tarrant today from Edwin Cushman Walker, a Chicago broker, son of an attorney of that city. They were married on Dec. 12, 1884. Mrs. Walker alleges her husband deserted her on March 1, 1905, and that he said he never wanted to see her face again and that she could go back to her family. The action was not contested by Mr. Walker.

Mr. Walker is head of the firm of Walker & Co., brokers at 215 Dearborn street. He lives at the Auditorium Annex.

"I knew a divorce was to be granted, but this is the first news I have received of the decree being entered," he said to a reporter last night. "I prefer not to discuss the matter in detail."

POLICE SHOOT DOWN UNIONIST.

Molder Killed by Milwaukee Merchants' Patrol While Trying to Get to Nonunionists.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—In a conflict between merchant police and union molders, who are on a strike, John Feeley, a unionist, was shot and killed tonight. Four of the police were conducting a gang of nonunionists to their homes when they were met by Feeley, who tried to get at the nonunion men. He was knocked down by Daniel Johnson. Feeley jumped to his feet and fired two shots at Johnson. He tried to shoot Adam Sassang, another of the merchants' police, but Sassang shot first, killing Feeley instantly. Sassang gave himself up, and is locked up at Bay View station.

SILVEIRA SIGHTED AT CARIB ISLAND.

Voyagers from South America Report Fleeing Cuban in Port of Curacoa.

WOMAN'S SUIT HITS DEAD

Claim for $33,315 Made on Estate of Rich Merchant Who Died Three Years Ago.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Oct. 17.

The steamship Carmelina, with Manuel Silveira, Cuban banker, whose recent disappearance from Havana was said to have brought about the failure of Ceballos & Co., and his wife and two children, steamed into Curacoa a week ago last Sunday, according to Capt. Bennett, and several of the passengers and crew of the steamship Zulia of the Red D line, which reached here today from Curacoa and Venezuelan ports.

Report Missing Cuban Fugitive in Curacoa Port.

H. B. Chase, a representative of a lumber company of this city, who returned on the Zulia from La Guayra, said the Carmelina left, ostensibly for Porto Cabello, on the forenoon of the following day, after taking on coal.

"I was curious enough to look up the Carmelina's passenger list," said Chase, "and I found the names of Silveira, his wife, and two other Silveiras, presumably children. I was told that they said they were going to New York, probably on the Zulia. I thought it strange that they should go to New York from Havana by way of Curacoa."

"Nobody paid much attention to the Carmelina, because none of us knew anything about Silveira or his connection with the failure of Ceballos & Co."

Substantially the same story was told by Capt. Bennett.

A suit similar in character to the many brought by women against the estate of Charles Broadway Rouse, the blind merchant, is pending in the Supreme court against the estate of Theodore Frelinghuysen Vail of Sullivan, Vail & Co., the woolen importing firm, who died on July 16, 1906. The plaintiff calls herself Margaret Means Carswell, and her attorneys are Howe & Hummel. She is suing for $33,315 on an alleged contract identical in many respects with the alleged contracts put forward in the suits against the Rouse estate.

Woman's Suit Reflects on Dead Merchant.

Congressman J. Van Vechten Olcott and James W. Rockwell are executors of Mr. Vail. They have put in an answer denying that their testator ever made such a contract as is alleged in Mrs. Carswell's complaint. Mrs. Carswell sets forth that in 1892 she was acquainted with Theodore F. Vail, and that as the result of certain relations between them he agreed to allow her $250 a month for the rest of her life. He also agreed, she swears, to provide for her by his will, and assured her that he had so provided for her.

Plaintiff goes on to assert that Mr. Vail failed to live up to the terms of his agreement, or to provide for her at his death, and that therefore his estate is indebted to her, or was two years ago, in the sum of $33,315, being eleven years at $3,000 a year. Theodore Frelinghuysen Vail was well known in the social and business world.

Among those who have complained that their automobiles have been held up in the custom house on their return from summer tours abroad is Frederick E. Stearns of Detroit. Stearns thinks if he had taken the advice he says was given his driver he might have had his car much sooner. He says the chauffeur was told:

Customs Officers Hold Auto Long; Graft Is Hinted

"It is pretty hard to get a car out of the stores promptly unless you grease the lines."

Stearns, his driver, T. R. Stackpole, and Stearns' auto arrived from France on Oct. 6. The car was taken to the automobile storehouse connected with the United States appraisers' stores. Day after day passed, but the appraisers didn't seem to get around to Stearn's machine, although another car that arrived on the same day was released on the following Tuesday, Stearns heard. About this time he resolved that he would not "grease the lines." Late in the afternoon Stearns' car was released, after twelve days' delay.

Stearns said tonight he had been informed of one case where the owner of an auto paid $160 and avoided delays.

Charles A. Weber, a diamond broker at Fifth avenue and Thirty-second street, has pawned his entire stock of diamonds and precious stones valued at $40,000, according to a petition in bankruptcy filed against him today by Philip Carpenter, attorney for three creditors. Theodore B. Starr, $1,484, balance due on diamond necklace delivered to Ann Weber on Sept. 11; Kleinschmidt, Howland & Co., $8,680, money lent on Oct. 5 and 12; and David C. Townsend & Co., $1,167, money loaned on Oct. 5. The creditors allege that while insolvent on Aug. 27, Weber pawned a diamond chain valued at $3,000 with Charles Long & Co., pawnbrokers, for $2,000, and in the last four months has pledged his entire stock with different pawnbrokers in this city, realizing only a small part of the value of the goods; that the money was not devoted to the payment of his debts, but was largely used in gambling and dissipation.

Pawns His Entire Stock to Gamble.

David Belasco, the playwright, is going to vote at this election for the first time in ten years. The fact that Mitchell L. Erlanger is one of the democratic candidates for the Supreme court bench has awakened Mr. Belasco to his responsibility as a citizen. He registered last Monday for the express purpose of voting against Mr. Erlanger.

Belasco to Vote Against Erlanger.

This statement was given out last night at Mr. Belasco's office:

"Mr. Belasco believes that it will be an injustice to the theatrical profession for the people of New York to elect Mitchell L. Erlanger to a place on the bench. Mr. Erlanger is the counsel for the theatrical trust, and as such is a trust lawyer, purely and simply. Mr. Belasco wants to see Mr. Erlanger defeated and will vote against him."

Supreme Court Justice O'Gorman signed today a decree granting to Dorothy Russell Einstein, Lillian Russell's daughter, a divorce from Abbott Louis Einstein, a young lawyer whom she married in a run-away match on Aug. 7, 1903. The decree is only interlocutory and will not be final for three months. Mrs. Einstein can resume her maiden name if she chooses when the final decree is made. No provision was made for alimony.

FARM VOTE CRUX OF N. Y. CAMPAIGN.

for Hearst not only among the poor but among the lower middle class, if you can call them such—clerks, persons on small salaries, fellows who look out on the world with but little chance of promotion, and who believe that the corporations have crushed out all individuality in American mercantile life.

"We figure on a vote in greater New York of not less than 350,000. We hope before the campaign is over that we can build that up to at least 375,000, which would leave about 250,000 for the opposition and give us a majority in the city of 125,000 to meet the normal republican majority up state. If we can do anything like that Hearst will be governor. If our majority in this city falls below 75,000 he will be beaten."

"In Brooklyn you have declared open war on McCarren. He runs the democratic machine there, just as Murphy does on this side of the river. Does not this quarrel mean that you will lose Brooklyn by a large majority, in which case your figures as to greater New York are all wrong?"

Belittles McCarren's Strength.

"We don't think so. We have been running this campaign on a political basis, as all campaigns must be run. McCarren has control of the machine in Brooklyn. That is quite true.

"But the people don't seem to understand that McCarren's control of the democratic machine in Kings county begins and ends at the primaries. That is to say, he dominates the organization absolutely, he is able to elect delegates and to run conventions because of his control of the party machinery, but his strength at the polls is little or nothing.

"We have intentionally antagonized McCarren. He is unpopular with the people. Even those men who help him control at the primaries vote against him at the polls.

"We have nominated congressional, legislative, and judicial tickets in Brooklyn. We polled about 85,000 votes in Kings county last year, more than 15,000 in excess of the McClellan vote there, and nearly 25,000 more than the republican poll. One reason of our strength in Brooklyn last year was that we opposed the McCarren machine, and the Woodruff machine as well.

"McCarren and Woodruff have openly fused on the judiciary ticket this year. We are openly opposed to both of them, and we figure out that this absolute independence of the corrupt organizations of both old parties will bring to us independent voters from republicans and democrats alike."

CUTS OFF CAMPAIGN GIFTS.

Civil Service Commission "Calls Down" President and Orders Iowa Republicans to Rescind Requests.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Besides calling down President Roosevelt for violating the law prohibiting any employé of the government from making political contributions, the civil service commission has directed the republican campaign committee of Iowa to withdraw a letter sent to government officials and clerks here asking for money.

The law authorizes prosecution for its violation, but the commission will not take such action against Mr. Roosevelt, the congressional republican committee, or the Iowa state committee.

The president testified to the commission that he did not contribute his dollar to Representative Sherman, chairman of the congressional committee, but sent it to some one else. The law prohibits contributions "direct or indirect," so that the president's excuse is of no avail.

BRYAN THINKS DEPEW DISGRACE

Nebraskan in Advocating Popular Election of Senators Pays Tribute to La Follette.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—William J. Bryan, in his speech at the gymnasium tonight, declared Filipinos were capable of self-government and spoke for the popular election of senators. He said Senator Depew was sent to Washington to represent the New York Central and was a disgrace to the senate. In the course of his speech Mr. Bryan made complimentary references to Senator La Follette. He said he should have had charge of the rate bill at Washington, as he knew more about railroads than all the other republican senators.

Charcoal Kills Bad Breath.

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can Be Instantly Stopped.

Sample Package Mailed Free.

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it at all. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning—that awful sour, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as every one knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods, or gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour brash and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things, too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines all the impurities there massed together and which cause the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber.

Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole boxful will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless.

Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal, and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful but simple things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. We want you to test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Then after you have tried the sample and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable, and "cleaner" inside.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 60 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

DEMOCRATS HEAR "CHEER UP" TALK.

Powers, Coughlin, and Brennan Promise a Real Landslide Election Day.

CONLON DOESN'T CARE.

Says He and John Ain't Candidates and Constits Are Indifferent.

The Hon. John Powers promised the democratic county committee and the democratic candidates yesterday that the Nineteenth ward would give a democratic plurality of 3,500. The Hon. John J. Coughlin announced that he would retire permanently to Cripple Creek if the First ward did not make the democratic plurality in the Nineteenth ward look like 30 cents.

The Hon. John J. Brennan, aided and abetted by the Hon. Michael Conlon, asserted and proclaimed that the democratic landslide in the Eighteenth ward would make the figures in the First and Nineteenth look like republican majorities by comparison.

The Hon. Walter Lantz, in charge of the new committee on the detection and prevention of fraud, announced that republican misdoings had been detected in the Seventeenth ward, and that a number of honorable republican politicians would be making a getaway for Canada in the next few days.

Democratic Spirits Raised.

These announcements contributed much to raise the spirits of the democratic candidates and committeemen meeting in the afternoon at headquarters. Registration figures had not been calculated to elevate the same, but as interpreted by the democratic statesmen, it became apparent that they represented democratic votes and that the republicans had fallen down absolutely. This interpretation revived the candidates.

A "cheer up" meeting of the committeemen and candidates had been called to hear reports from wards. John J. Bradley presided in the absence of County Chairman O'Connell, and without exception the ward leaders declared that criticism of their work in registration was unfounded.

While the roseate views of the figures were being presented Roger C. Sullivan undertook to inquire of Mr. Conlon why he and his colleague, Mr. Brennan, had not brought more democratic voters in the Eighteenth ward to see the necessity of saving their country by registering.

"What's the use?" replied Conlon. "John isn't a candidate, and I ain't a candidate."

"You fellows over there think an election of alderman is more important than an election of president of the United States," said Mr. Sullivan.

"It is," said Mr. Conlon. "That's no mistake. That's the way the ward feels. If the president of the United States came in the ward and one of our constits spoke to him the constit would get pinched. If one of our constits speaks to us he gets what he wants. If you want a big registration in the Eighteenth ward you'll have to wait till spring."

Mr. Conlon then allowed that he was tired of hearing the tommyrot from the other ward leaders and announced his intention of taking his departure, which he did.

Seek "Colonists" in Best Hotels.

To offset the republican activity with the registration books the democratic committee of which Mr. Lantz is chairman, sent a couple of copyists to the election board yesterday to get the names of voters registering from hotels in the First, Third, Sixth, and Seventh wards. The democrats are looking for colonization in the following hotels:

The Auditorium,	The Windermere,
The Annex,	The Chicago Beach,
The Del Prado,	The Lexington.
The Hyde Park hotel,

Notes of the Campaign.

The republican state committee and the executive committee will meet at the Grand Pacific hotel on Oct. 30, and after the meeting a luncheon will be given to the county chairmen and secretaries, the state candidates and congressional candidates.

Gov. Cummins of Iowa has been booked to speak at Galena next Monday and at Rock Island on Tuesday.

Thomas J. Jairak, 681 West Twentieth street, has filed a petition with the election commissioners contesting the nominating petition of William Laskowski, independent candidate in the Fifteenth senatorial district for the house of representatives. The nominating petition is said to be fraudulent.

Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch, a member of the state board of charities, has been scheduled by the independent Municipal court campaign committee to speak at the meeting to be held tomorrow night at Oakland Music hall, the committee announcing that he has declared his intention of supporting the ticket.

TOTAL ON VOTERS IS 348,112.

Official Revised Figures Show 140,241 New Registrations on Tuesday—Review Later.

The official revised figures of Tuesday's registration are 140,241. The revision on original registration usually strikes out about 2,000 names.

BUILDING LOAN BUSINESS BIG.

President of Illinois League Says Associations Are Satisfied with Laws as They Exist.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Chicago will be selected as the convention city for the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Building Association League of Illinois, to be held next July. It was decided tonight that Chicago should be recommended. President J. N. C. Shumway of Taylorville said:

"Building and loan associations in the state are satisfied with the laws as they stand today, and trust they may not be disturbed. We seek to protect legitimate building associations, and in no way desire to interfere with the banking business in this state or any other state."

Secretary Vasen of Quincy says the building association business in the state of Illinois was never better than now and that more business was written in the last year than in any preceding year.

Carnegie Hero Medal Now First Awarded

Although awards of money have been made from the Carnegie hero fund, there had been no distribution of medals until yesterday, when the commission announced the names of recipients. The medals are all made from the same design, which has been almost two years in making. There are three classes of the medals—gold, silver, and bronze—and all are made from the solid metal. Each medal is three inches in diameter and three-sixteenths of an inch in thickness. On one side is a likeness of Andrew Carnegie and the date of the organization of the fund. On the reverse side is the motto, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends," which was selected by Mr. Carnegie.

FAVOR RIGID SMOKE LAW.

ENGINEERS AT MEETING DECLARE ARCHITECTS TO BLAME.

Inspector Schubert Speaks at Session in the Monadnock Building—Opinion Is Expressed That Requirements Might Be Made Doubly Severe and Still Be Within Reasonable Bounds—Testing Plant Superintendent Makes an Address.

Chicago's smoke ordinance was variously characterized as "unfortunate," "extremely liberal," and "hard to enforce" last evening by speakers at the meeting of the Western Society of Engineers in the Monadnock building. The meeting was devoted to a discussion of methods of securing smokeless combustion.

"The position of the smoke inspector," said A. Bement, a member of the society, "is a difficult one. As a general rule he is an administrative official, appointed for the purpose of enforcing laws. It follows necessarily that often he is not an engineer, and conditions under which he must necessarily work prevent to a great extent his becoming technically proficient.

Real Offenders Are Immune.

"Unfortunately the most serious offenders against the smoke ordinance—the manufacturers, consulting engineers, and architects—are not affected by the law, and therefore can be reached only indirectly through the purchaser, who bears all the burden. It would be well if, for the guidance of well intending purchasers, the engineering experiment station of the University of Illinois would present information which might be accepted with confidence and used to advantage."

Needless to Violate Smoke Law.

"There is no need of any firm's paying smoke fines in Chicago," said O. U. Bean of New York. "Chicago might make her smoke ordinance more than doubly as exacting as it is without working a hardship on its manufactories and power plants. You would save hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to your merchants and improve the general health of your citizens."

Other speakers were Smoke Inspector Schubert, Frank Elliott of the Metropolitan Elevated railway, and Supt. Kreissinger of the United States geological survey's smoke testing plant at St. Louis.

"What we need," said Inspector Schubert, "is common sense in enforcement."

TOWN NOT FIRED BY BLACKS.

South Carolina Village Suffers from Fire Following Dynamiting of a Negro College.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 17.—The town of Seneca was vistel by fire at an early hour this morning and property worth about $75,000 was destroyed. The property was insured for $25,000. The Oconee inn and the Palmetto hotel, together with the stores of Hunter & Harper, and Luther, Moore & Stribling's pharmacy were burned. Both hotels were filled with guests, and there were several narrow escapes. Rumors were circulated that the fire was started by negroes in revenge for the destruction of a negro college by dynamite at that place on Saturday night last. Later investigation showed that there was little on which to base the rumors. The negroes helped subdue the flames.

GIVES AID TO BOY ON FARM

ARMOUR PROVIDES FREE AGRICULTURAL SCHOLARSHIPS.

Annual Donation of $5,000 Is Promised in Letter to John A. Spoor, President of Big Live Stock Show —Different Institutions Will Compete at Exhibition for Privilege of Awarding Them—Sons of Poor Parents to Be Packer's Beneficiaries.

James J. Hill's recent address at the banquet of the Chicago Commercial association impressing the necessity of "keeping the boy on the farm" has been responsible for an annual donation of $5,000 by J. Ogden Armour, through the international live stock exposition, for scholarships to be competed for by the state agricultural colleges at the live stock shows. The initial contest will be held this year at the big show which will be held the first week in December at the stock yards.

Outlines Purpose in Letter.

John A. Spoor, president of the show, received a letter from Mr. Armour yesterday in which he outlined the purposes of the gift.

"We all recognize and appreciate the work done by our agricultural colleges in advancing the cause of agricultural education in this country through the character and extent of their exhibits of live stock and field products at the international show," said the letter.

"With a view of stimulating their efforts to give an increased evidence to our farmers of the great value of their work, I hereby offer to you the sum of $5,000 to be distributed annually at the international exposition in twenty agricultural scholarships to be competed for by the state agricultural colleges at your exposition.

Poor Boys the Beneficiaries.

"It is my desire that the recipients of the scholarships should be limited to boys whose parents are unable to give them the advantage of an agricultural education."

The annual meeting of the directors of the show will be held today at the Saddle and Sirloin club, when the details governing Mr. Armour's gift will be arranged.

FIND MUCH 'BUNK' MIXED WITH GRAIN

Federal Inspection Suggested as a Cure by Interstate Commissioners.

ARMOUR FAILS TO SHOW.

Marshal Who Has Had Subpoena Several Days Reports Him Out of the City.

Agitation for federal inspection of grain at export points will likely be the result of the investigation being made by the interstate commerce commission. This suggestion as to the probable result was made yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Franklin Lane after the commission had adjourned, and he ventured the further assertion that there is no "bunk" in the way the grain business of the country now is handled.

The testimony of several witnesses was heard by the commission in the morning, but all effort to secure the presence of J. Ogden Armour, president of the Armour Elevator company, failed, and the United States marshal who had the subpoena for several days reported him out of the city. In the afternoon the commissioners who have been taking part in the hearings here held a private conference at the Palmer house, and subsequently announced that they would take up the grain situation in Kansas City on Monday, be in Omaha Wednesday and Thursday, and in Des Moines Friday.

Lane Reviews the Testimony.

In discussing the results of the hearings held thus far Commissioner Lane said:

"From the testimony it appears that the grain business or rather the handling of it is 'bunk' all the way through, and I wouldn't be surprised if, as a result of this investigation, there should be agitation for federal inspection at export points. The shippers of the west have complained about the manner in which their grain is doctored after it reaches the elevators.

"It has been shown pretty clearly that old grain is mixed with the new grain and the grades lowered. I am told that Liverpool buyers won't accept Newport News receipts. The Englishmen have been bunced so much they are wary. The grain is shipped to Chicago and is doctored at every transfer point."

"That is certainly something we will have to investigate," interrupted Commissioner E. E. Clark.

During the morning session W. H. Bartlett, member of the firm of Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington, testified that a recent rule of the Chicago board of trade fixing prices that may be bid on grain in the country is a restriction of trade, and that the combination rule for fixing prices is not a good business proposition for men dealing as he does.

Elevator Pool Abrogated.

The first witness was James Pettit, president of the Peavey-Grand company, who furnished a copy of the agreement between the public elevator men, but testified that this had been abrogated sixty days ago owing to the passage of the new rate law. This agreement compelled the parties to it to contribute a certain amount each month to a general fund which insured all a profit, and by means of it, it was alleged, the elevator men were able to bid higher for grain in the country.

William S. Warren, former president of the board of trade, declared freight discriminations have reduced the number of receivers and shippers of grain in Chicago 15 per cent in the last twenty years.

"Do you think public elevator men operate elevators which comply with the law?" inquired Commissioner Lane.

"No, I do not," responded the witness. "I think public elevator men in Chicago are evading the law and not faithful to their trust."

Daughters of Revolution Meet.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 17.—The tenth annual conference of the Illinois Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution opened in this city tonight with a reception given by Mrs. George A. Lawrence. The feature of the evening was the presentation of a miniature of Fort Massac to the vice president general, Mrs. M. T. Scott of Bloomington, through whose influence that historic fort is to be preserved by the state. Among the notables at the reception were Mrs. Don. McLean of New York, president general, and Mrs. B. A. Fessenden of Chicago, state regent.

By the Author of "The Garden of Allah"

THE CALL OF THE BLOOD

By ROBERT HICHENS

It is a wonderful story—a story thrilling with the exultant joy of physical life—a story which brands itself upon the mind with the touch of white-hot iron.

The scenes are laid in the most beautiful and romantic of the Mediterranean Islands—Sicily. Here the hero and heroine come from England to spend their honeymoon. In the man's veins runs a strain of Southern blood which is roused by the environment of his fathers' land and by the beauty of an alluring young Sicilian girl.

The story runs through a series of breathlessly intense and passionate climaxes. Every scene breathes the same wonderful mystic charm that made "The Garden of Allah" a marvel of romance.

MAGIC STOVE LININGS

Fit Even a Warped Stove Closely.

Three bricks are enough for the back and one end of any cooking stove, with some left over from trimmings, which can be saved for repairs.

The corrugated paper keeps the bricks in shape and also protects the surface, so that you can fire up at once slowly.

How can anybody fit a hard lining to a warped stove?

BEST FIRE CLAY MATERIALS.

Plastic as Putty, and They Keep Moist and Plastic Till Used.

Remarkable Improvement in Convenience and Durability.

BRICKS HARDEN IN THE FIRE.

Each brick has one surface of corrugated paper, the brick being molded into the corrugations. This paper surface is to be turned toward the fire, and the paper will not burn off until the brick is dried. The paper protects the surface so that the brick will not crack. When the paper has burned away the brick is left with vertical corrugations on its face. The corrugations must be vertical, or with lines running up and down, so that the fire may come up around the coal and the ashes drop down. You can use the bricks to patch up any furnace or heating stove, and they will make durable linings. They make a perfect fit and will stay put. No other linings can make as close a fit or last as long.

Whatever shape your stove may have, you can make a perfect fit and press the bricks close to the iron, so that the ashes cannot get behind the lining.

Don't continue to wait indefinitely for some one to botch your stove with brittle misfit linings and charge you four prices, but use the plastic linings and get a perfect fit quickly.

Mental and Physical Wreck for Weeks and Dead May Be Near—Woman Makes His Fortune.

Oregon, O., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Dr. Edward E. Beeman, whose face is known the world over by pictures advertising a chewing gum, is critically ill. He has been a mental and physical wreck for weeks. Beeman claims medicine here twenty years ago, using pepsin as a cureall. Miss Hortense Mrs. William Manning, a clerk in a store, suggested placing pepsin in gum. She tried it and made her wealthy.

ILLUSTRATIVE OLD GENTLEMEN.

While certain elderly gentlemen of athletic proclivities were disporting on the links of a New York golf club in competitive endeavor to reduce records, a Chicago doctor of theology was inveighing vigorously against the humorous Dr. Osler, whose merry jest at the expense of people of 60 bobs up occasionally to plague the supersensitive. The theologian pointed out that Moses did not begin to preach until he was 80 years of age, and from this undisputed assertion he drew the conclusion that there is no age limit until a man's vigor has gone.

If any argument were permissible it might be contended that much of the great work of Moses was performed while he was yet young—young not merely from the ancient but the present way of looking at years. But nobody now takes seriously the limitations prescribed by Dr. Osler except possibly a few overwrought gentlemen who are, unhappily, devoid of the saving grace of humor. To calm the feelings of these sensitive few we may speak not only of the preaching Moses but of the elderly golfers who went forth to battle last week amid "wintry blasts and flurries of snow."

It is recorded that of this goodly array of competitive ancients and honorables not one was under 55, while most of them had passed the Osler age of usefulness and several of them were over 80. A merry young fellow of 78 carried off one of the prizes, and a stripling of two and seventy figured proudly in the running. And in order to accomplish the task presented it was required of these husky athletes to cover ground to the extent of seven miles, a mere bit of attendant exercise which they considered hardly worth mentioning.

In all likelihood Moses thought nothing of walking seven miles a day, even after he began preaching, for he was a pedestrian of large experience and was in excellent training. But the conjunction of the patriarch and the contemporary golfers, for illustrative purposes, is felicitous chiefly as showing that in all ages of the world's history decrepitude, physical and mental, is usually not so much a matter of years as of temperament and mode of life. The octogenarian on the golf links and in the pulpit is constantly with us to remind us of the humor of Dr. Osler's quips and fancies.

SAVING LIFE AND LOSING IT.

The daily reports of accidental deaths show how new inventions sometimes increase the hazards of life when their undoubted purpose is to make life more secure. An elevated railroad means more rapid transit, but it also is attended with a minimum loss of life. Only workmen are permitted to cross the tracks, for which there is little temptation for the average citizen. But the accounts of the death of employés by falling from the elevated structure or from touching the third rail show the constant dangers under which those work who are trying all the time to make the road safer for the multitudes.

The electric light is an undoubted agency of helpfulness. It makes dark places safe for passersby. It discourages the robber and the thug. It is a great advance over the more feeble gas lamp. But when a live wire breaks and falls upon a lineman on a pole a horrible death results.

A skyscraping business block is counted an advance in building. It does utilize space better than a small store would do. It has its distinct commercial advantage. But it also has its benefits to its occupants in the shape of better light and air and improved facilities of every kind. Hardly one of these structures ever is erected without some sort of accident which makes the blood run cold. The falling of a man from the height of sixteen stories has an element of horror connected with it which it is impossible to escape. But the net gain to humanity from the completed building is large.

A submarine boat ought to prove a powerful agency in war time. It will operate like a big gun, its destructiveness being so great as to have the general effect of shortening a struggle otherwise attended with larger loss of life. When such a boat fails to come back to the surface after a plunge the loss of life attending such a misfortune seems without any compensation, because dead men tell no tales. The reasons for the failure of the mechanism never will be known from the lips of any of the crew. But the accident will lead to more careful study of the problems connected with submarine navigation. With some sort of success already gained it is clear that the use of the air and the use of the water as mediums of travel are bound to be studied by men of genius until the dirigible airship and the perfectly controlled submarine boat become useful aids to humanity.

The illustrations are taken from the newspapers of a day. They might be duplicated every twenty-four hours.—They indicate a pretty fixed law of life. The whole progress of the world has been along roads of sacrifice and bloodshed. Sometimes it has seemed that the sacrifice was useless. Sometimes the blood apparently has been shed in vain. But a closer study indicates that the losing of life has led to the saving of the lives of more. One man has been sacrificed in order that many might live in safety. Oftentimes there has been little glory in a death, and yet results of widest influence have followed in its train.

MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGES.

THE TRIBUNE recognizes no party obligations which require it to support all the candidates of the republican party for election as judges of the Municipal court. It considers it to be the duty of all citizens to scrutinize carefully the names of the candidates on all the tickets and to select therefrom the men they believe to be best qualified for the position.

There should be no partisanship in the administration of the business of the Municipal courts. All citizens, irrespective of party, are entitled to receive considerate and just treatment in those courts, and it should not matter whether a judge belongs to one party or another, provided he is an upright man and competent for the discharge of his duties.

It is quite unlikely that all the candidates on one ticket are better than all those on any other ticket. In point of fact, there are some candidates on the republican ticket who should not be elected, while there are some men on other tickets who ought to be elected.

Before the election THE TRIBUNE will have occasion to advise its readers, so far as it is able, of the candidates it believes best qualified for the positions they seek, and it will do so absolutely without reference to their party affiliations.

Meanwhile citizens themselves should ascertain through inquiry which of the candidates are most deserving of their suffrages and unhesitatingly give them to the men they believe are the best qualified, no matter what party they may belong to.

HIGH SCHOOL FRATERNITIES.

The campaign against high school fraternities is national in its extent. Springfield, Mass., and Sacramento, Cal., have barred the fraternities. The first case which has been carried up to the Supreme court of a state has just been decided in Washington. In that state a case appealed from the lower courts on behalf of a member of a secret society in the Seattle High school has been decided unanimously against the society.

The court makes it clear that the boys who have been forbidden to form secret societies have been deprived of no rights and that they still enjoy all the benefits of instruction. The argument that the school authorities had no control over the boys outside of school hours has been set aside as invalid in view of the fact, overwhelmingly established, "that such fraternities do have a marked influence on the school, tending to destroy good order, discipline, and scholarship." In the unanimous opinion of the Supreme court "the board is authorized, and it is its duty, to take such reasonable and appropriate action by the adoption of rules as will result in preventing these influences."

It should be evident by this time to parents who fail to see the harm in allowing their sons to join these secret societies that no reflection is cast upon the boys individually by forbidding such societies. It is not an aspersion upon any one school or any one group of boys. It is simply the recognition of the fact that the universal experience of instructors in all parts of the country and among boys of varying social status and local conditions is that the secret societies are harmful. It is likely that the opposition to the action of the school boards which have prohibited such organizations has been due largely to resentment felt at the idea that one's own boy cannot be trusted. This personal view is wrong. No one denies the integrity of any individual boy, but a collection of boys has characteristics different from those of its component parts. And the tendency is toward deterioration.

The matter was thrashed out thoroughly before the Supreme court of the state of Washington. Every argument which could be based upon rights of the individual or upon denial of the harmful influence of fraternities was presented. There was not one of the justices of the court who disagreed with the decision. Parents should give as much weight to the verdict of these unprejudiced men as to the pleadings of inexperienced and hotheaded boys. What is best for the schools is best for the scholars.

GREATER EFFICIENCY.

The state board of charities has published a scheme for a reorganization of the state charitable institutions. The prime aim is to be efficiency rather than economy. At the same time it is believed that increased efficiency means greater economy. To remove all insane, epileptic, and feeble minded inmates from county poorhouses and place them in state institutions will be really cheaper to the community, and also will insure for these unfortunates the best of care.

A division of the administrative work so that no one shall have more than he can attend to properly, but at the same time each one shall be held responsible for the performance of his duties, is a wise move. In some of the state institutions the superintendent has so many things to do which a cheaper man can do equally well that he has not the time to see that everything is running smoothly, and often is in ignorance of delinquencies which he should be in position to discover almost immediately.

The grouping together of the insane from all counties in the state will make possible a classification of their cases so that each patient whose cure is even remotely possible may receive the treatment best adapted to him. Consumptives and tuberculous patients are another class of inmates of county poorhouses who should not be allowed to remain where they are. They are more dangerous to the other unfortunates among whom they are placed than lunatics would be, and their cure is equally dependent upon a highly specialized treatment. The public is coming to a sense of the fact that tuberculosis is contagious, that it may be cured in its early stages, and that the welfare of all concerned demands the separation of the tuberculous from the sound. It seems as much a duty of the state to attend to this as to provide for the care of any of the classes which now are in charge of the state board of charities.

That nurses and attendants should be required to have adequate instruction in their duties is such a commonplace that it is a sad commentary upon earlier conditions that the state board should include it in a list of things desired. The complete divorce of the charitable institutions from politics and the elevation of their professional rank to European standards are not too much to demand.

THE STENSLAND REWARD.

The paying of the reward to Mr. James Keeley has settled the question of who found Stensland, if it were an open question. It is an official confirmation of the claims made on behalf of THE TRIBUNE.

Bankers are reluctant to part with money unless they think it is justly owing, and one thing they are exceedingly careful to avoid is the payment of money to the wrong person instead of the one justly entitled to it. Now that cautious, scrupulous bankers have awarded the $5,000 to Mr. Keeley, the question as to the real captor of Stensland is settled definitely and definitively and forever, so far as it can be done by the Chicago clearing house. There will be no appeal from its verdict. It will remain an undisputed part of the history of the case.

THE TRIBUNE of course did not wish to retain any part of the money promised by the clearing house for the discovery and return of Stensland. It felt that it already had received an adequate reward in the just appreciation of its readers. As for Mr. Keeley, he did not wish to take the reward because in unearthing and capturing Stensland he was acting in the line of professional duty.

The $5,000 of the clearing house has gone where it will do the most good—to the depositors of the wrecked bank. It will add a little to their dividends, and will be accepted by them as additional evidence of the sympathetic interest THE TRIBUNE takes in their misfortunes.

Eccentricities of Plutocracy.

"Now that we are all here together, gentlemen," said the multimillionaire, "I have an announcement to make. I will give to the institution you represent the sum of $500,000 on condition——"

A deep groan burst from the trustees. It would be almost impossible to raise such a sum.

"You probably misapprehend me, gentlemen. I was about to say that I will give you $500,000, not on condition that you raise a like amount elsewhere, but on condition that you adopt the simplified spelling in all the literature of your institution hereaf——"

A deeper groan interrupted him. This proposition was absolutely unthinkable.

The speaker of the evening had made an eloquent address, and at the close of his remarks he called for signers to the pledge of total abstinence.

The first to come forward was an extremely fat man.

"My friend," asked the orator, "how much do you weigh?"

"Three hundred and twenty-seven pounds," answered the fat man.

"A gain of 327 pounds for temperance!" shouted the orator. "Who will be the next?"

A half grown girl signed her name.

"How much do you weigh, my little friend?" he asked.

"Seventy-three pounds."

"Friends," exclaimed the orator, "we've got the 400, right at the start! The respectability of the movement is guaranteed! Now let us have the bone and sinew of the community!"

In answer to this fervent appeal nearly 3,000 pounds of ordinary humanity responded, and the meeting was a tremendous success.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LADY CURZON, and also the earl of Leven, the Anglo-American banking peer, who died the other day, each of them directed by the terms of their will that their superb collections of jewels and also other of their principal treasures should be constituted heirlooms, the possession thereof being vested in the Irish barony of Curzon and the Scotch earldom of Leven respectively. Their object was that these jewels, etc., should never be sold, but should always remain in the family. The fulfillment of their wishes in this respect will depend upon the good will of their descendants rather than upon any legal obligations, and it is well to draw attention to this circumstance, as there is no word in the English language that is more misused and misunderstood than that of "heirloom."

In this country, indeed, every woman who happens to lose her jewels, either through robbery or by carelessness, immediately describes them as "heirlooms." Now, the law in England, as well as in America, is distinctly against the constitution of heirlooms. It is adverse, even, to the institution of entails in the matter of real estate. Owing to this the testator is unable to bind his heirs from alienation of property beyond the life of the legatee and of the latter's heir. He can prevent the legatee from disposing of the property by giving him a mere life interest, but on the legatee's heir coming of age the two can come to an agreement to bar the entail, which changes the nature of the property to ordinary real estate, so that it can be sold. As a general rule, however, the heir, when he comes of age, is asked to agree to a resettlement of the estate, and that is how lands are kept for generations in the possession of one family. In one word, there could be no lasting entail without periodical resettlements. The same thing applies to jewels, art treasures, family portraits, libraries, family documents, and family tombs and monuments.

All sorts of efforts have been made by houses of the British aristocracy in times past to bind eternally, as one might say, the property in the possession of their heirs. One of the most notable instances of this kind was that of the founder of the family of Lord Rendlesham, the well known racing man and Jockey club steward. His ancestor was old Peter Thellusson, the Genevese banker, who figured for a time as Swiss envoy at the court of Louis XV. of France, and subsequently established himself in business in London as a banker. When he died he left an extraordinary will, directing that all his great property should be tied up and held at compound interest for the ultimate benefit of the oldest grandson of any of his three sons. The latter took the case into court, with the object of breaking their father's will, which virtually cut them off without a penny. Prolonged litigation ensued, lasting nearly fifty years, and it ultimately resulted in the enactment of a law towards the latter part of the reign of George III. prohibiting property from being tied up by will beyond the second generation.

Of course there are estates and great country houses in England which are, to all intents and purposes, entailed far beyond the ordinary legal period by special act of parliament, as, for instance, the palace of Blenheim, the ownership of which is vested in the descendants of the first duke of Marlborough, in recognition of his victory of Blenheim. It is held from the crown by one of those queer old tenures which exact that each year, on the anniversary of the battle of Blenheim, the duke of Marlborough should present to the sovereign or to his representative a miniature French flag. Strictly speaking, were this tribute to be omitted the duke of Marlborough would forfeit to the crown his palace and park of Blenheim.

In the same way the mansion and estate of Trafalgar, near Salisbury, is vested by parliament in the Earls Nelson in perpetuity. There are quite a number of castles and estates which are held in this fashion by what is known as "petit serjeanty" from the crown, and in their cases, of course, the virtual entail not only extends indefinitely but, moreover, cannot be broken except by act of parliament. The ordinary entail, both as regards real estate and heirlooms, as I have pointed out above, always can be broken by the life tenant and his heir coming to an agreement, which the courts invariably ratify in the event of opposition of more remote heirs. And in recent years we have witnessed quite a number of public sales of entailed family treasures coming under the head of heirlooms. Thus, in 1904, the collection of pictures of the Marquis Townshend produced $250,000; in 1900 Sir Robert Peel's superb paintings were sold, one of the finest Vandykes fetching $130,000, while in 1890 the heirlooms of the duke of Somerset fetched in the neighborhood of $200,000.

The Lady Pembroke whose death is reported from England was not the wife of the present earl but the widow of his elder brother and predecessor in the family honors, a sister-in-law, therefore, of Lady Herbert, who is now in New York staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson of that city. The thirteenth earl, her husband, enjoyed the distinction of being quite the tallest man in either of the two houses of parliament, standing no less than six foot six in his stockings. He is, however, principally remembered by his amusing book entitled "South Sea Bubbles," by "The Earl and the Doctor," the latter being George Henry Kingsley, brother of Charles and Henry Kingsley. It is a most entertaining description of a prolonged yachting cruise in the southern Pacific, and its humorous approval of the lax morals of the South Sea islanders led to its being severely boycotted by the public and circulating libraries.

The earl, instead of carrying out the threat contained in the book that he would return to Tahiti and marry one of the dusky beauties of whose charms he spoke in such glowing terms, surprised many people some time later by marrying Lady Gertrude Talbot, daughter of the late Lord Shrewsbury, a woman considerably older than himself, but who survived him until last week, making her home in Carlton House terrace. They had no children by their marriage, and on her husband's death the family honors and estates passed into the possession of his brother, the present and fourteenth Lord Pembroke, who was lord steward of the royal household throughout the last three unionist administrations.

I should mention, by the bye, that the late earl, among other adventures in the Pacific, was wrecked on a coral reef in an outlying part of the scattered Fiji archipelago and had to live among the wild natives for some time before reaching Levuka and relative civilization. The extraordinary stature of the earl was a source of never ceasing amazement to the Fijians, and led them to endow him with the name of "Ratu Niulangi," which may be translated as "The Sky Reaching Cocoanut Chief."

Like the present earl and the late Sir Michael Herbert, he was a son of that brilliant Lord Herbert of Lea, one of the well known statesmen of the Victorian era, whose statue in front of the war department is familiar to every American who has passed along Pall Mall, and who figures in Lord Beaconsfield's "Endymion" as Sidney Wilton. Lady Herbert of Lea still survives as one of the most prominent members of the Catholic aristocracy of Great Britain.

The ancestral home of the family is Wilton abbey, within sight of Salisbury cathedral. It was granted by King Henry VIII, at the time of the reformation to William Herbert, first earl of Pembroke. The mansion was built according to designs of Holbein, during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, on the site of the ancient abbey, and it was beneath its roof that Sir Philip Sidney wrote his "Arcadia," the scene of which is laid in the Wilton abbey gardens, which remain today much as they were in olden times. Charles I. was a frequent visitor there, and nearly every English monarch has been a guest beneath its roof since the death on the scaffold of that ill-fated sovereign.

Few families of the English aristocracy have so many foreign affiliations as the house of Herbert. The seventh earl of Pembroke married a Frenchwoman, sister of that Louise de Querouailles who was one of the favorites of Charles II., and by him the ancestress of the dukes of Richmond and Gordon. The grandmother of Lord Pembroke was the Russian Countess Woronzoff. The late Sir Michael Herbert married an American, and his sister, Lady Mary Herbert, married the German baron Von Hugel.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

Yvette Guilbert and Alfred Chevalier.

Two artists. Two great artists. Not great so far as the medium through which their art is revealed is concerned, but great in what is behind that medium and is disclosed through it. Such are Yvette Guilbert and Alfred Chevalier, who yesterday afternoon and evening were heard in Orchestra hall. Finer, truer art has not been offered in Chicago—or anywhere else in the world, so far as that is concerned. For that which each of these two gifted people places before their patrons is as faultless in its way as is the greatest that any singer, instrumentalist, orchestra, or actor achieves, no matter who or where the performer or body of performers may be. It is perfection of its kind, and it is the quality, not the size, of an artistic achievement that determines its value.

Both Mme. Guilbert and Mr. Chevalier are workers in miniature, but both are masters. Their respective fields of work seem at first glance diametrically opposite, but this difference exists more in externals than in the essence of the artistic offering itself. Mme. Guilbert devotes herself to the singing of songs of the Pompadour, the "crinoline," and the early English periods, and for these she attires herself in beautiful costumes of those times. She is to the eye a veritable delight—dainty as a bit of Dresden china, exquisite as a figure by Watteau.

Mr. Chevalier lends his art to the singing and reciting of songs and poems written largely in the idiom of the London cockney, or in the vernacular of the slums. He appears dressed in costumes ragged and soiled—those which suit the people he impersonates. He presents no figure of beauty or of grace. Realistic better describes the externals of his performance.

And yet diametrically opposed though the work of Mme. Guilbert and Mr. Chevalier may seem to be, the inner character of their art offerings is largely the same. Both the songs the gifted Frenchwoman sings and the songs and poems the Englishman gives are the expression of the folk of the countries and ages in which they originated. Both have the simplicity, the directness, the truth which are the basis of all folk lore, either sung or spoken, and which give that lore its enduring value. It matters not whether Mme. Guilbert be singing the beautiful "Bells of Nantes" or Mr. Chevalier be giving his pathetic "My Old Dutch," each is voicing the sentiments and feelings of the people. One people is French, the other British, but both are the same at bottom, for both have the sympathies and the emotions that are common to all humanity.

And as the offerings of these two talented artists are closely allied, so are their art methods. Neither of them possesses a singing voice that is in any way exceptional so far as volume or quality is concerned. In fact both have small voices, but so perfect is their control of them that more is accomplished with them than countless far more richly endowed vocalists can achieve with their larger, fuller organs. Mme. Guilbert's voice is remarkably clear, sweet, and light. And the absolute purity of intonation makes listening to her a constant joy. No matter how she may color the tone for the sake of dramatic expression, it remains ever true in pitch and there never is left the slightest doubt in the hearer's mind as to what tone she is singing or what is the contour of the musical phrase. She is a truly artistic vocalist as well as a marvelous interpreter. As for her interpretation it is impersonation in a certain degree in that gesture, facial expression, and movement are employed. And every gesture and movement is grace itself, and every change in facial expression is as eloquent as it is exact.

But the spirit that is behind all this gesturing, expression, and movement is what makes the woman an artist truly great. She sees the picture that the song contains, she possesses not only intelligence but imagination and fantasy in exceptional degree, and she has mastered so completely the technics of her art that every thought, every fancy which possesses her is made unmistakably and beautifully clear to the onlooker. It is not necessary to understand French in order to know what she is singing about. All that are required are eyes and a heart. Twelve numbers were given yesterday afternoon by this inimitable artist, and they were twelve short periods of complete enjoyment and delight. To particularize were unnecessary. Each was perfection in its way, and to contact them was to be refreshed, uplifted, and gladdened as one ever is by the coming into the presence of art that is simple and true.

Mr. Chevalier is not a whit less marvelous in his work than is Mme. Guilbert. Nine selections he contributed to the afternoon, and only the most unqualified praise and admiration can be accorded him for all he did. His London cockney is like life itself, and his Frenchman, his old soldier, his broken down actor, or his old workhouse man is not a bit less real and true. The heart reaching pathos that he can put into just a word or a single phrase proves him a master of all the art of the spoken voice, and his wonderful makeup, his accuracy in pose, and his eloquence in gesture show him an actor of the highest quality. He uses no scenery and no stage properties, and yet the whole picture is clear and distinct the moment he begins. He fires the imagination of the spectator, and then guides it unerringly and firmly whither he will. His is the art complete—small in its manifestations, but flawless in quality.

THE STENSLAND REWARD.

Gratitude to THE TRIBUNE for contributing, for the benefit of the depositors of the defunct Milwaukee Avenue State bank, the $5,000 reward for the capture of Paul O. Stensland was expressed by directors and depositors of the failed institution yesterday.

The gift was characterized as a "large hearted, public spirited act," of which every citizen of Chicago should feel proud.

The members of the depositors' committee called a special meeting and adopted resolutions commending the course taken.

The resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, It is published in the daily press of this date that Mr. James Keeley, to whom the $5,000 reward in connection with the Milwaukee Avenue State bank was awarded by the Chicago Clearing House association, has turned the amount over to Receiver John C. Fetzer for the benefit of the creditors; and

"Whereas, This act of generosity is greatly appreciated by the various creditors and depositors, now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the authorized committee representing the creditors and depositors of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank in meeting assembled, that we hereby tender our sincere thanks to Mr. Keeley for his kind and generous act, which cannot fail to meet with general public approbation."

The resolutions were signed by Ald. Albert W. Beilfuss, chairman of the committee; Owen T. Moses, secretary; E. Iverson, John M. Carroll, Otto Schultz, Ald. William E. Dever, and P. J. Kenny.

Attorney General Stead has notified the depositors' committee that he cannot comply with the demand made in resolutions adopted last Sunday that he either dismiss his receivership suit or arrange matters so that Receiver Fetzer may proceed with the distribution of a second dividend.

The suit probably will be heard this morning by Judge Windes.

Amazing Marine Procession.

The fleets of the world which roam the seven seas occasionally bunch up in some prominent port or passageway like the Suez canal and make an imposing showing. But in point of magnitude almost any of these marine processions fall short of that unending commercial parade which is forever steaming down the great lakes and through the canals. The immensity of this traffic is reflected in the official figures for April, 1906, for the "Soo" canal alone. During the thirty days of last month 1,079 vessels of 2,006,640 tons net register and carrying 2,513,267 tons of freight passed through this great highway. Nearly one-half of this traffic was iron ore, with coal to the extent of about 650,000 tons second in prominence and grain and flour next on the list.—Portland Oregonian.

"I have here," began the applicant, "a letter of recommendation from my minister."

"Sorry," interrupted the merchant, "but I'm afraid——"

"Pardon me," put in the applicant, hastily, "but the minister writes that I am so worldly he utterly disapproves——"

CHINA ASKED TO PAY AN INDEMNITY FOR BOYCOTT IN AMERICAN TRADE.

Secretary Root Informs the Government at Peking That the United States Will Not Tolerate Any Attempt to Harass or Handicap the Commerce of This Country.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Secretary Root has notified the Chinese government in unmistakable language that the United States will not tolerate any attempt to harass American traders or to handicap the development of American commerce. He accompanied this notification by a demand for an indemnity sufficient to cover all losses sustained by the boycott agitation of last year.

It is an important step the secretary has taken, and there is more behind it than appears on the surface. It means that China must accord to American trade that "equality of treatment" which was one of the cardinal principles of the policy enunciated by Secretary Hay which preserved the integrity of China. It is a warning, also, to all nations that this government in the execution of its commercial policy has not relegated the rich Celestial empire to the background. We will continue to fight for our share of its trade, and will not permit the door to be closed in our face by outrages at Peking, or by any foreign power.

The negotiations between Secretary Root and the Chinese government have been in progress for more than a year. Secretary Root protested through Minister Rockhill at Peking against the encouragement the officials were giving to the movement, which began in June of 1905, but for a time his act was ineffective, save in the way of producing denials that the Chinese authorities were behind the boycott, and edicts from the throne forbidding officials to take any part in the agitation.

War Scare Stops Boycott.

Secretary Root became so insistent, however, and prepared by the mobilization of warships and troops in Chinese waters and the Philippines to make good his words, that the government at Peking awoke to the need of action, and then the boycott ended.

As is generally known, the boycott was inspired for the purpose of securing better terms for China in the negotiations for a revision of the treaty of immigration between the two countries.

Looking over the reports of the American consular officers on the subject of the boycott, it was apparent to Secretary Root that the Chinese believed they had discovered an effective weapon which could be used against the United States and other foreign nations until their vast modern drilled army was a reality. The boycott was one of the manifestations against the foreigners which appeared in warlike form in the boxer revolt of 1900. In the judgment of Secretary Root, it was necessary to bring the Chinese to a realization of their offensive opposition to Americans and other western nationalities, and to compel them to cease for all time discrimination against American imports. Friendly representation alone would not be sufficient, and it was decided to submit a demand for the payment of all losses suffered by American manufacturers and shippers. At the same time, Secretary Root declined to consider a request of the Boston board of foreign missions not to demand indemnity for the murder of five American missionaries at Lienchow, China, but he directed Minister Rockhill to insist upon a money compensation.

China Evades the Issue.

The Chinese government declares the secretary's demands in both cases to be unjustified. It asserts it had no connection whatever with the boycott, which in itself causes the American case to fall; that official reports by representatives of the United States government show that American trade with China during the months of the boycott increased instead of diminished, and that no individual claims can be presented.

The state department finds the answer clever but not conclusive. It is true that in bulk the imports into all China from the United States during the fiscal year of 1905 were nearly two and two-thirds times larger than those of 1904. The exports from China to this country were slightly less. But the imports could have been greater. Consul General Lay, at Canton, officially reported that "the boycott took firm hold of this province, and nowhere has its effect been more pronounced than in and around Canton. The import tables in the customs returns do not indicate any serious decline of American products and therefore are misleading, for it must be understood that though shipments to Canton of American goods do not fall behind those of previous years, unusually large stocks, especially of kerosene oil, are on hand."

How Trade Fell Off.

Mr. Lay then particularizes: "The importation of flour into Hongkong for redistribution to Canton, Wuchow, and other west river ports shows a decrease of 200,000 barrels, valued approximately at $800,000 [illegible] gold.

"Cotton cloths show a total loss, by reason of the boycott, for south China alone of over $1,250,000 gold. In gray shirtings there was a shortage of nearly 50,000 pieces. Since July 1, 1905, the local Standard Oil company reports that its importations of oil were reduced over 50 per cent, or about 125,000 cases, for Canton alone. The total importation for all south China suffered a loss conservatively estimated at 500,000 cases, valued at $350,000 gold. This company is by far the most serious individual sufferer as a result of the boycott, the local organization's efforts being specially directed against that company.

"An interesting item among the exports to Hongkong is a native made cigaret, the manufacture of which received an impetus owing to the refusal of the boycotters to purchase American cigarets."

Heavy Bill Against China.

It is apparent that Secretary Root is ready to present a heavy itemized bill against China. Its payment is a matter of far less importance, however, than is the stamping out of the movement to arrest the development of American trade. China's commerce is growing annually by leaps and bounds and approximates more than $500,000,000 at the present time. This is just a little more than a dollar per capita. American commerce has a relation to population of $[illegible] to each person. With knowledge of foreign goods, the Chinese will purchase larger quantities and export more heavily in exchange.

The president and Secretary Root propose that our participation in Chinese trade at least shall keep pace with China's power to buy. Great Britain is the leading nation in the commerce, containing 40 per cent of the whole. The United States is second with [illegible] per cent, Japan third, Germany fourth, and France fifth. The United States suffers the disadvantage of having its goods shipped to a great extent in foreign bottoms, while its rivals have their own merchant ships plying in Chinese waters.

The negotiations Secretary Root is engaged in with China at this moment imply a deep interest in the territorial integrity of the kingdom, which is menaced by Japanese and Russian occupation of Manchuria. By the provisions of the treaty signed at Portsmouth last year the two powers were to evacuate this vast region within eighteen months, the evacuation to occur through withdrawal of troops from certain agreed upon sections. Neither government has observed fully its treaty pledge, and China is apprehensive that the rich province will not be restored to her next April, but will remain divided between Russia and Japan.

It is learned that the emperor of China has addressed protests to the two powers named at their failure to carry out their treaty stipulations. This protest has not yet been indorsed by the United States, but it is apparent there must be some clever diplomacy exercised within the next few months to bring about the complete return of Manchuria to its parent state.

If Russia and Japan agreed to keep Manchuria no power or combination of powers can compel them to retire. But, fortunately, Japan is pledged, as the ally of Great Britain, to observe the territorial integrity of China, and financial reasons, if nothing else, probably will force the observance of her solemn obligations.

Japan Brought to Time.

By direction of the president Secretary Root addressed a remonstrance to Japan some months ago for failing to open up Manchuria to other trade than her own, and it resulted finally in the admission of American and other foreign merchants. But it is evident that Japan intends to retain commercial control of Manchuria, even if she nominally surrenders military control. There is no doubt that as the result of the Russo-Japanese war Manchuria's value as an American market has diminished greatly, if not entirely disappeared.

The Chinese legation took occasion today to deny the reports of the development of anti-foreign feeling in the empire. Nevertheless naval officers just returned from the far east say the hatred of the west continues to grow, and that an outbreak will occur as soon as the Chinese army is trained to do effective service.

The outlook has one feature which is a matter of congratulation, and that is the Chinese entertain no more friendly feelings for Japan than they do for the United States, Great Britain, or any other power. Therefore, an alliance between the modern David and the awakening Goliath of the far east is highly improbable.

HUMOR FROM ITALY.

A FEMALE OTHELLO.

An elegantly dressed lady in a hurry made a sign to a cab. The driver came up, but when he heard the address drove off at a canter, leaving the lady stupefied with surprise. Asked by a fellow cabman why he had refused to take her he replied: "Why, she wanted to go to a house in my street, and if my wife had seen her she would have skinned me, she is that jealous!"—Il Mondo Umoristico.

SCORING HIM OFF.

Tailor—"I have come for what is owing me."

Client—"You have, perhaps, a pressing debt to pay?"

Tailor—"O, no, thank God!"

Client—"Then have the kindness to wait. I will pay you in a week."

Tailor—"But I insist on being paid!"

Client—"Perhaps you have made promises?"

Tailor—"Yes, just that."

Client—"Well, why do you not maintain them?"

Tailor—"Because I have no money."

Client—"Well, we are then in the same boat. Do as I do—do not pay."—Il Mondo Umoristico.

The Politician's Wife—"They tell me that you are no more a republican; what are you then?"

Politician—"I really cannot tell you until the new cabinet is formed."—Lo Scacciapensieri.

Signora—"My dear husband, why are you always reading the civil laws?"

Signor—"That is good! Why, I want to see whether men or women marry the most!"—Lo Scacciapensieri.

Roberto is what is called a naughty boy, and made things lively at school. Near the school a man called Danilli had a small greenhouse, and was much plagued by the boys breaking the glass. To get the better of them he offered a reward of 10 francs to the one who would tell him who the culprit was. The plan worked marvelously. A small boy presented himself, saying that he had seen Roberto do the deed, giving such circumstantial evidence that there could be no doubt, so that the youngster went off with the 10 franc reward in his pocket. Danilli then wrote to Roberto inviting him to pay 3 francs for the broken window or bear the consequences.

Roberto, who is an honest little soul, arrived to pay in person, but when Danilli set eyes upon him he exclaimed: "But I want Roberto, not you. You have had your money." "Yes," said the boy, "but I am Roberto!" "What! and you came to denounce yourself? What was your object?" "Why," replied astute Roberto, "I got the reward of 10 francs, I pay you 3 for the window, and gain 7."—Il Diavolo Rosa.

SLIGHT OF HAND.

The Magician—"As you see, ladies and gentlemen, the 2 franc piece has disappeared. Where is it? Where is it not? The problem is soon solved. We will examine the pockets of that good man. My dear sir, is it not there?"

Contadino—"No, sir, there is only one."

The Magician—"It is not possible! I tell you there must be two!"

Contadino—"Well, I'll explain. It is true you gave me 2 francs before the performance, but it was hot, and I spent one of them for a glass of wine and a cigar, so that's how only one remains."—Il Motto per Ridere.

NO CHURCH IN PHILIPPINES CAN RIVAL THE CATHOLIC.

Andrew S. Draper Declares It's Not Worth While for Other Denominations to Send Missionaries.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The Roman Catholic church should be given a free hand in the Philippines, and all other religious denominations should keep out, was the conclusion drawn by Andrew S. Draper in his address to the Lake Mohonk conference of Friends of the Indian and Other Dependent Peoples here today. Referring to the Catholic church, he said:

"Its mission work is so aggressive and so much better than any other that is there that it quickly receives the affection and engages the devotion of a people to whom its solemn ceremonies, its beliefs, and its administrative methods are especially adapted.

"Our Protestant denominations are assuming to contest the ground, but in comparison with the work of the Roman Catholic church their doings are not a delight to us. It seems to be the fact that the Protestant denominations have agreed upon some division of territory so as to avoid conflicts with one another so far as may be, but there is no possibility of avoiding rivalry with the church of Rome in any part of our insular territory. I cannot help wondering if it is worth while.

"I am in favor of Protestantism wherever it can be self-sustained, but I do not feel [illegible] express my misgivings about the wisdom of the policy which taxes weak churches in America to support weak churches in our island possessions, with no prospect of those churches becoming self-supporting, so long as one strong church is on the ground, [illegible] cupying it forcefully, and evidently is adapted to the situation."

Mr. Draper said the United States [illegible] not abandon the 10,000,000 Filipinos, [illegible] would it make the mistake of enfranchising them. It would not give them independence until they can be independent. When the time comes, if they want independence, the United States should give it to them.

Meantime the plain duty of the United States in the Philippines, he said, was to establish security for life and property, and then educate the Filipinos.

GO SIX ROUNDS WITHOUT HARM.

McGovern Breaks His Philadelphia Hoodoo and Stays the Limit.

YOUNG CORBETT HOG FAT

Bout Is Fast After First Three Minutes; One Knockdown, Terry Being Victim.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The worm turned at last for the McGovern party in tonight's bout before the National Athletic club. Terry, after two distinct failures against the once peerless "Young" Corbett, succeeded in staying the full limit against his hoodoo tonight, and, at the end of the sixth round, was just as good as his two-time conqueror.

The bout was a hummer after the first round. Both men took chances and let loose blows which clearly showed their determination to end matters as quickly as they could. More than once the big crowd was brought to its feet by the apparent approach of a finish for one or the other, but each time a grand rally and the failure to deliver a punch by the other opponent enabled the spectators to see every second of the eighteen minutes of milling.

After both had consumed the first three minutes in trying each other out there was no other tame function to the go. It was hammer and tongs in every round, and the punishment each took clearly showed their ability to last six rounds without going under, no matter how many punches were delivered.

Widely circulated stories regarding Corbett's splendid condition were given the lie as soon as the one time champion stepped in the ring. He was hog fat and his stomach looked to be the best kind of a target for an opponent to fire at. McGovern looked good, being brown and rugged, but he also was carrying excess weight.

The extra pounds, however, stood him in good stead, especially when Corbett resorted to rough tactics, for Terry was able to mix it with much more strength which gave him greater confidence as the bout progressed.

One Knockdown by Corbett.

Only one knockdown was registered during the six rounds, and that came in the second when Corbett flashed a right over to McGovern's jaw as Terry was endeavoring to get away from the punch. Terry went to the floor and a wild shout went up from the crowd, which had in mind the similar knockouts Corbett had scored on the former terror of the lightweight class.

Terry took the count of nine, although it was apparent he could have arisen at the count of five, then sailed into the ex-champion, regardless to consequences. The fighters met headon and a deep gash was cut over Corbett's right eye. He bled profusely from that time on, but the loss of blood did not seem to bother him in the least.

Terry showed considerable effects from the punch and it was a round before he worked himself out of it. The former "Terror" came strongly in the last three rounds and had Corbett on the defensive in most of the mixups.

Fight by Rounds.

FIRST ROUND—They sparred and Corbett jabbed a left to the face. This was followed by an exchange of lefts. Corbett hooked a left to the eye. McGovern put right and left to the wind in a clinch and hooked a left to the jaw. In the breakaway Corbett was warned for heeling. Corbett put right and left to the face.

SECOND ROUND—Corbett drove his right to the heart and then floored McGovern with a right swing on the jaw. McGovern took the count of nine and then butted Corbett over the eye and split it open. Corbett swung his left to the neck, and they clinched at the bell. It was Corbett's round.

THIRD ROUND—McGovern swung his left to the body and Corbett missed right and lefts for the head. They exchanged rights to the body, and Corbett hooked a left to the face. McGovern was staggered by a right swing on the jaw and at once clinched. They exchanged left swings to the neck and rights to the head. Corbett hooked a left to the head and another to the jaw. McGovern crossed his right to the chin and then swung it to the back of Corbett's head. Corbett split McGovern's eye with a terrific right swing and McGovern put a light right to the wind. Corbett hooked two lefts to the jaw and McGovern swung two lefts to the wind. Corbett hooked a hard left to the jaw and McGovern's seconds threw water on him. It was Corbett's round.

McGovern Comes to Bat.

Pugilistic Pointers.

Benny Yanger is putting in hard training licks for his fifteen round contest with Steve Kinney, which is scheduled to take place at Davenport on Oct. 23. Dr. Message is arranging to carry the local sports to the scene of the battle on a special train.

Russell Hart, brother and manager of Marvin Hart, yesterday wired Marvin would not fight Mike Schreck at Kalamazoo unless the club offered a guaranteed purse. Marvin was willing to fight Mike at Terre Haute on the percentage plan, and it was thought he would jump at the chance to get at Mike in the Michigan town.

Carl Anderson, the champion of northern Indiana, and "Kid" Farmer were matched last night to fight ten rounds at Hammond on Nov. 5. The boys signed to weigh 148 pounds at the ringside, and have posted $100 each for weight and appearance, the forfeits to go as a side bet. Farmer also has a match on tap for the latter part of November with Rube Ferns.

W. J. TRAVIS WINS FROM BYERS.

National Golf Champion Is Beaten 7 Up and 5 to Play by the Garden City Player.

Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 17.—Walter J. Travis of the Garden City Golf club gave Eben M. Byers of Pittsburg, the present national title holder, one of the severest defeats that the latter has sustained in several years in a thirty-six hole contest at the Myopia Hunt club today. Travis led from the start, and at the end of the first round was 5 up. Byers steadied in the afternoon play, but could not overcome the long lead of his opponent, and Travis ended the contest on the thirteenth green 7 up and 5 to play. The match ended a three days' invitation tournament.

Plan for Indiana's Entertainment.

Chicago alumni of Indiana university are making plans for the reception of the team and rooters from that college next week, when the team plays the maroons on Marshall field. A meeting of alumni was held yesterday in the Auditorium hotel. A special train is expected to bring at least 1,000 rooters from Lafayette, accompanied by a band.

PLAYERS LEAVING THE CITY.

Evers and White Go East—Chance and Hofman Join a Fishing Party.

Champion baseball players continued their hegira from the scene of their triumphs yesterday, and in another week practically all the members of both Chicago teams will have departed for their winter quarters. "Doc" White and Johnny Evers were among yesterday's notable departures. The Sox twirler left for Washington, where he will spend the off season pulling teeth with curved forceps in his dentist shop. John of Troy had to tear himself away in the afternoon in order to reach the Laundry city in time for the banquet which is to be given him tonight by leading fans of Troy.

Manager Chance and Artie Hofman joined a fishing party which left for Townsend, Wis., early in the morning. With them went Jack McCarthy and "Chick" Fraser. They were in charge of Beecher Starbird, a thirty-third degree fan, and expect to be gone the rest of the week, after which the manager will start for California.

Of the White Stockings, Manager Jones, Isbell, Dougherty, Davis, Patterson, Smith, McFarland, Walsh, Towne, and "Hub" Hart already had gone to their home towns, leaving only the barnstorming section of the world's champions to represent the team on the diamond during the rest of the week.

Harry Steinfeldt, Pfiester, and Overall went to Cincinnati. Steinfeldt has been threatened with a fever since last Saturday and went direct to his wife's home in Kentucky to recuperate. Pfiester lives in redland, but Overall will return here to make the trip to the coast with Manager Chance.

The White Sox brigade is scheduled to play in Morris, Ill., today, in Kenosha, Wis., tomorrow, and to return here for Saturday and Sunday games with the Logan Squares and Gunthers. Enough of the Nationals are expected to stay in town to make up a team to meet the Gunthers on Saturday and the Logan Squares on Sunday. Both league teams are expected to disband for the winter after those matches.

Pitcher Dineen of the Boston Americans and his bride reached Chicago yesterday and were the guests of Catcher Pat Moran at dinner last night. Moran and Dineen were teammates on the Boston Nationals a few seasons ago.

AMATEURS TO HONOR "PROS."

Big Baseball Celebrations Planned at Tattersall's Tomorrow and Saturday Nights.

The two local baseball organizations are booming their celebrations of Chicago's victories in the two major leagues, which are to occur tomorrow and Saturday nights.

That of the Amateur Baseball Managers' association takes place tomorrow night at Tattersall's, and it is announced Capt. and Mrs. Anson will lead the grand march. Mrs. Anson, it is said, will wear the Cubs' colors. George M. Cohan has promised to furnish two professional cake walkers to feature the occasion.

The Intercity Baseball association will give its blowout Saturday night at the Coliseum, following a big downtown parade which will form at Jackson boulevard and La Salle street and march to the hall. Several hundred are expected to be in line. President McGurn says he yesterday secured the promise of Mayor Dunne to be present. "Nothing is too good for those fellows who have brought such glory to our city," said the mayor.

NAMES PUT ON THE BLACKLIST.

Several Players, Including Sebring, Are Bulletined by the National Commission.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17.—The national baseball commission decided today that in the future the names of players who have violated their contracts with major league clubs shall not be included in the reservation lists submitted to the commission and ordered that the names of the following players be stricken from the reservation list of National league clubs by the secretary of the commission:

From Brooklyn—Broderick, Owens, Reisling, and Weigand. From Chicago—Sebring. From Philadelphia—Ward.

Hereafter the above names will not be allowed on any reservation list until application has been made by the players for reinstatement and the same is granted by the national commission.

Outfielder Jude Weds.

Abington, Pa., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—A romance that had its inception at Carlisle Indian school culminated here this evening at the home of Assemblyman Charles A. Ambler, when Frank Jude and Miss Daisy Dyke, full blooded Indians, were married. Jude, the bridegroom, is the star right fielder of the Cincinnati baseball team.

YALE TEAM TAKES GOLF HONORS

Elis Defeat Princeton, 8½ to 4½, in the Intercollegiate Championship at Garden City.

Garden City, L. I., Oct. 17.—Yale and Princeton fought it out again for this year's team championship honors of the Intercollegiate Golf association on the Garden City club's links today, and Yale won. The total point scores were: Yale, 8½; Princeton, 4½. These figures were made up of one point for each winning match, six men being on each team, and one-half of a point for each hole up the winner had on his opponent.

The final contest was at thirty-six holes. In the morning round two of the matches were all square at the home hole, but Yale had a slight advantage, as two of her men, Abbot and Partridge, were 5 up and 2 up, respectively, while West and Cockran of Princeton were 2 up and 3 up on the opposing players.

Although the conditions were better during the afternoon none of the players was able to turn in a card of any merit. The score:

Yale—	Points.	Princeton.	Points.
W. E. Clow Jr.	0	W. T. West	2
R. Abbot	2½	H. G. Gee	0
D. Partridge	2	R. Peters Jr.	0
E. Knowles	0	D. H. Barrows	2½
W. Howland	2½	J. J. Van Dyke	0
G. V. Rotan	1½	H. W. Cockran	0
Total	8½	Total	4½

The match:
West beat Clow, 2 up; Abbot beat Gee, 3 up; Partridge beat Peters, 2 up; Barrows beat Knowles, 3 up; Howland beat Van Dyke, 3 up; and Rotan beat Cockran, 1 up.

BALLANTYNE AND DIXON PLAY.

Will Meet in Finals of Newspaper Tournament Today — Miss Painter the Victor.

Matches played yesterday in the semi-final round of the newspaper golf championship left T. A. Ballantyne and J. A. Dixon to battle today for the Chatfield-Taylor cup. Ballantyne, the former Evanston academy player, defeated Sisson Thompson, the Onwentsia veteran, 4 up and 3 to play, the youngster making a 93. Dixon won from H. W. Briceland 2 up, 1 to play. The contest for the bag of clubs donated by Sisson Thompson for the best choice score for any two rounds made during the tournament will close today.

Telephone reports received on Monday from the Calumet Country club gave Miss Brandon as winner of the Hary cup, whereas it was Miss Caroline Painter who was the victor by 6 up and 4 to play.

President Mrs. A. T. H. Brower and Secretary Mrs. W. T. Beatty of the Women's Western Golf association arrived home yesterday from the national championship at Brae Burn and expressed themselves well pleased with the reception accorded them in the east. All of the western players were handicappd by the hilliness of the Brae Burn course. While in the east the officials of the W. G. A. did a good deal of missionary work and are hopeful of bringing the 1907 championship to Chicago.

BEAT MAROONS BY FORWARD PASS.

CREDIT IS DUE TO PAGE.

Stagg Worries Over the Scarcity of Substitutes for the Purdue Game.

Some of the possibilities and probabilities of the new game of football were shown at Marshall field yesterday, much to the humiliation of the maroons. The freshmen, opposing the heavier and shiftier varsity men, chalked up a touchdown on a long forward pass, and by a series of clever maneuvers held the regulars to two counts.

It was the first time this season the forward pass had resulted in a touchdown at the Midway, and the varsity men were forced to admit the weaker team always will have a chance in the new order of things this year. The touchdown was scored by a clever pass by Page, freshman quarter, to Young, freshman end, the latter getting away with the oval for a clear field.

Templeton Is Trapped.

Templeton, who was succeeding Eckersall in the back field, allowed himself to be trapped. Instead of playing a waiting game, as Stagg had warned him, he overanxiously ran in toward the scrimmage to intercept the ball in midair on the forward pass. "Temp" missed connections and the "freshie" scooted down the field.

Credit for the play was given to Page by Stagg. His work in passing the ball he regarded as the most successful part of the play, as in the case of all plays of this kind. Accurate passes are difficult in scrimmages, he held, and the pass is the important thing. Eckersall's ability on such a play, accordingly, is expected to make the maroons a hard team to beat.

Many of the first choices for positions gave way to the lesser light candidates, which in a measure accounts for the abbreviated score of the varsity. Stagg declared he was after subs for the Purdue game, and several of the regulars were given a layoff.

Scarcity of "Subs."

"All the candidates for subs are about on the same par," said Stagg. "They all have an equal chance, for they are starting now at the zero mark. There may be some good material in among those who are working for a secondary position, but I have yet to see some of it. We certainly are hard pushed for substitutes this year."

Mefford, Brown, Schott, Parkinson, Templeton, Jones, and Harris include nearly the complete list of men Stagg has to use as subs for his backs and linemen. This outlay is discouraging on account of inexperience, weight, speed, and, perhaps, in certain instances, football nerve.

Little work was done on the defense, and it now seems as if Stagg will rely on the experience of his veterans to stop the probable onslaughts of the Purdue eleven. A secondary line of defense is being used on account of the forward pass possibilities. It is likely no changes will be made in the defensive positions of the maroons before the opening game.

More time was spent on the offense, however, than usual. After the scrimmage Stagg sent the freshmen to the gym and held a drill in the dark for the varsity. The old time war-whoop was used in order to get the men to start off together. Stagg seemed well pleased with the offensive work.

Eckersall specialized again in drop kicking and showed himself in true form. He shoved the ball over the bar from all sorts of angles and distances with amazing accuracy. He has adopted his square toed shoes again and is ready for the opening fray. Punting also formed a part of his special pastime.

Walker Has a "Con."

There is a bit of uneasiness in the maroon camp over the doubt concerning Walker's playing. The right half of last season still is afflicted with a "con," and he has not restored himself to eligibility to satisfy the faculty. He may take the examination tomorrow, and if he plays may work in at end, where he has played most of the time recently.

The first day's sale of seats indicates one of the largest crowds at an opening game in recent years. Manager Chitwood has made arrangements to accommodate 8,000 persons. Probably no more than 5,000 will be present.

RENEW TALK AGAINST CHICAGO.

Illinois Students Still Claim "Undue Influence" Persuaded Athlete Watson to Leave Urbana.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Charges that Carl Watson, the crack broad jumper and basketball player, was "stolen" by Chicago after attending the University of Illinois a month are renewed by the Daily Illini today in a lengthy statement. It is not charged that Watson received any compensation to induce him to desert the local institution, but "undue influence" is freely charged against the maroons. In the face of the sweeping denial by Coach Stagg the local story caused a sensation.

It is charged that besides the Schommer and Watson cases Page, a former Lewis institute athlete, went east and entered Cornell only to desert and enter Chicago. Assistant Coach Speik of Chicago is declared to have made several efforts last summer to induce Watson to come to Chicago. Another feature of the statement is to the effect that Schommer, after leaving Illinois last fall, declared he got his board free at the Midway institution.

Leading statements in the Illini are:

"To Summerfield, a bosom friend and a star player with him on the Lewis institute basketball team, Watson confided he had received a letter in which Stagg promised to take care of him. Summerfield is still at the university, and he made the statement this week in the presence of four witnesses. Watson's brother says Speik, assistant coach at Chicago, also coach of the freshman team of which Watson is so soon a member, went to Watson's house in Chicago, and at three different times admonished him to forsake his avowed intention of attending Illinois and to cast his lot with Chicago. The boy's father flatly gave Speik to understand Watson was to attend Illinois, after which the athletic lad heard no more of Speik until a letter reached him bearing that gentleman's signature, and stating he (Speik) was going away on a vacation, but hoped that in the meantime Watson would change his mind and enter Chicago. It is fair to Mr. Stagg to say he was not at Chicago when this affair took place.

"Watson had his heart set on engineering. No school without those facilities should, because it could use his athletic ability as an advertising asset, try to get him to change his intention of attending a school where he could probably best prepare himself.

"It looks suspicious that Watson should come to Illinois with a brother, with whom he was on the best of terms, matriculate, attend school a month, become pledged to a Greek letter fraternity, go to a school where his father desired him to go, and in spite of all this leave his brother here and enter the University of Chicago."

QUAKERS ROLL UP BIG SCORE.

Pennsylvania Eleven Atones for Recent Defeat by Plowing Up Medico Chi Team, 31 to 0.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania's football team, recently beaten by Swarthmore, faced the Big Medico Chi eleven at Franklin field this afternoon and won easily by the one sided score of 31 to 0.

The Medico Chi team this year has not proven strong, having lost to Lafayette by a big score and to Haverford by a goal from the field. Much depended, however, on Pennsylvania's showing, for the reason that supporters of the Quakers expected them to roll up a large total in revenge for the defeat by Swarthmore last Saturday, to prove they had taken the proper brace to make this a successful season.

When the teams lined up for the kickoff Lee was at quarter back in place of Sheble, De Bow and Gallagher replaced Stein and Gribbel at the left and right guard positions, and Lavey was at center for Hollenbach, in the Pennsylvania makeup. Hollenbach sat on the bench nursing an infected leg.

HOPPE HOLDS HIS TITLE.

DEFEATS SCHAEFER IN THE 18.1 BALK LINE BILLIARD MATCH.

Contest Is Remarkably Close, Wizard Leading in the Early Stages, Boy Then Forging to the Front, with the Veteran Closing Fast at the Finish—Chicago Man Is Unable to Nurse with His Usual Skill—Lad Makes Best Runs.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—William Hoppe defeated Jacob Schaefer tonight in Madison Square garden concert hall by a score of 500 to 472 in the contest for the world's championship at 18.1 balkline billiards.

Hoppe was called on to play a trying uphill game in order to retain his title, but he came to the front with the needed skill and nerve and wore the veteran Schaefer down. Nevertheless, Schaefer in turn played a strong uphill game, and the contest developed into such a close tussle in the final stages that the chances of the rivals were practically even.

The hall was filled with spectators, who, if they did see low averages, saw a match that was exceedingly interesting on account of its closeness. Schaefer looked a winner for the first two century relays; then Hoppe took the reins and seemed to have it easy; then Schaefer spurted, and it was nip and tuck to the final count.

In the matter of runs Hoppe was the veteran's superior, any of his best three clusters excelling the highest runs made by Schaefer. The latter suffered through not being able to keep the balls together, and he had them in position for nursing but seldom, while Hoppe, caring less for close play, manipulated the balls at wide spans.

The second half of the game brought steadier and better playing by both men, but the erratic play in the early stages prolonged the battle. Score:

Hoppe—6, 1, 5, 9, 0, 2, 0, 0, 2, 2, 8, 3, 24, 6, 25, 1, 9, 58, 0, 1, 0, 4, 3, 0, 6, 8, 2, 35, 3, 65, 16, 18, 1, 0, 96, 5, 11, 0, 12, 2, 1, 6, 12, 21, 20, 1, 3. Total, 500. Average, 10 30-47.

Schaefer—0, 11, 30, 0, 22, 9, 0, 12, 1, 0, 42, 3, 0, 4, 0, 0, 12, 3, 1, 16, 10, 18, 4, 0, 6, 6, 32, 39, 1, 2, 0, 3, 10, 0, 5, 19, 10, 2, 33, 13, 33, 0, 0, 13, 28, 12, 10. Total, 472. Average, 10 2-47.

Tomorrow George Slosson of this city and George Sutton of Chicago will meet at the same place for the world's championship at the 18.2 balk line game, 500 points up.

AUTO ECONOMY TEST ON TODAY.

Thirty-four Machines Are Expected to Make the Trip to Cedar Lake, Ind.

Notwithstanding the prediction of the weather man that it will be cloudy today, the motorists who intend taking part in the economy test of the Chicago Automobile Trade association and the Chicago Motor club to Cedar Lake, Ind., this afternoon were going ahead with their preparations last night. They could stand a little rain early this morning to lay the dust, which is expected to be the only disagreeable thing in connection with the contest.

It seems probable every one of the thirty-four entrants will line up in Michigan avenue, near Thirteenth street, by noon today, each prepared to demonstrate that his car is most economical in fuel consumption, according to its weight. That good records will be made is expected, for the preliminary tryouts have proved the going down Indiana way is good for such a contest.

The cars will begin to assemble at 11 o'clock, each contestant reporting to John W. Hayden, who will see that the tank of the car is filled with gasoline, the quantity noted, and the tank then sealed, not to be reopened until the journey is completed. This sealing is to prevent any suspicion of the gasoline supply being tampered with. Observers will also report at 11 o'clock, checking in with Dan Canary, clerk of the course, who will be stationed in the rooms of the Chicago Motor club in the New Southern. He will assign each observer to a car and the first duty of the observer will be to watch the filling and sealing of the tank.

At 1 o'clock Starter Charles P. Root will give the word to Brick P. Kuhn in a six horse power Jewell runabout, and the test will be under way. At two minute intervals the others will follow. Last to leave will be Starter Root himself, who will be a contestant in a Dorris. A five hour time limit has been placed on the test and every one is expected to be at Cedar Lake in time for the banquet, which begins at 6 o'clock. This will be followed by a dance.

The confetti car will be started out at 10 o'clock. It will be a Pierce Great Arrow, driven by Joseph V. Lawrence and in charge of David Beecroft of the technical committee of the Chicago Motor club. With him will be Harold Wheeler, city clerk of Crown Point, who will point out the exact route. At the puzzling turns signs with arrows painted on them will be posted, while a broad trail of confetti will be strewn at every turn.

Already more than a dozen riders have declared themselves fit and ready to try out their abilities in the hill climb contest, to be held at Algonquin Oct. 20. All entries must be received by the chairman of the committee, Dr. S. W. Fahrney, 716, 92 State street, by 12 o'clock Friday.

Holcomb in the City.

Bert Holcomb, accompanied by Lawrence Duffie, who is preparing for an attack upon the Chicago-New York automobile record, reached the city last night after a trip overland, yesterday's trip being from South Bend. Holcomb has made a leisurely trip for the purpose of studying the course, which he hopes to make inside of fifty hours, reducing the present record of fifty-six hours and fifty-eight minutes. Holcomb reports the roads in the east in bad condition, and will delay his departure until the highways are in better shape.

HIGH SCHOOL GRIDIRON GOSSIP.

Wendell Phillips and North Division to Play Saturday—North Siders Are Crippled.

One of the important high school games of the year is to be played on Saturday between Wendell Phillips and North Division. The two teams met on Oct. 6, but the contest resulted in a tie. North Division is at present in bad shape. There are several players on the hospital list. Allner, full back, injured his elbow in the Hyde Park game. Schillo is troubled with an old charley horse. Greiner, the plucky quarter back, is suffering from a wrenched arm, but will be able to play part of the game. Wallace, the left end, is working at this position and will replace Greiner if the latter goes to the side lines.

Evanston is bewailing the loss of Iredale, its star quarter, who has been compelled to withdraw from the game on account of parental objection. Larson, a new man, is being broken in at the position and will guide the eleven against Harvey on Saturday. Purcell, the captain, is out in togs for the first time this year. He contracted poison in the early part of the season. It is not improbable Evanston will enter the Cook County league to take the place of R. T. Crane or McKinley. The matter is to be taken up today by the boys with their principal.

Oak Park is slated to go to West Aurora on Saturday. The Aurora team put Englewood away by scoring six points to its blank. Oak Park claims it is stronger than the south side eleven. It is prohibited from meeting any of the city teams, and in beating West Aurora they can establish an estimate of its strength compared with the city teams.

Wrestler McLeod Arrives.

Dan McLeod, who is to meet Fred Beell in a catch as catch can wrestling match at Brook's Casino tomorrow night, arrived in town from Kellogg, Ia., last night, feeling, he said, as fine as silk and in condition to give Beell the mat battle of his life. Dan says he cannot understand how Fred got to be a world beater, as he beat him three years ago in straight falls. He also threw Gotch in two straight falls about two years ago and defeated some of the best men in the country, so has no fear of the result in the tomorrow night's affair. Beell is expected in town today.

Soccer Football Gossip.

The Hyde Park Blues meet the Coal City team at Coal City on Sunday in what is expected to prove the deciding contest in the Spalding cup contest. The other contest between the Pullman and Wanderers teams has been postponed.

The Chicago club team will be strengthened by the reappearance of Bob Archibald at right full back. The big man caught cold when playing against the English team, but is now back in form and with Arthur Dixon as his partner the rear line will be as strong as the city can produce. Linley of the Wanderers' team will be in goal. Williamson, Govier, and James will comprise the half back line. The Canadians will arrive Saturday morning.

Officials of the Chicago league of association football and the association football league of Chicago met last night at McKenzie's Wayside inn and arranged to play a match on Nov. 18 to decide the local league championship. If possible the game will be played at the south side ball park. Teams will be selected later by the officials of each league. It is expected the match will prove one of the best of the local season.

ROSEBEN TO TRY FOR MILE RECORD

Big Sprinter Will Try to Beat Salvator's "Straightaway" Mark.

AT BELMONT SATURDAY.

Voorhees Clips the World's Figures for Six and One-Half Furlongs.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—It was definitely arranged here today by the Westchester Racing association that Roseben, which hung up a new world's record of 1:22 for seven furlongs on Tuesday, will make an attempt on Saturday at Belmont park to beat the world's record for one mile, 1:35½, established by the great Salvator, with 110 pounds, over the Monmouth park straightaway course, on Aug. 28, 1890. If Roseben smashes Salvator's record, Dave Johnson, his owner, will receive a $5,000 prize and gold cup. If Dick Welles' world's record of 1:37 2-5 on a circular track is lowered Johnson will get a silver trophy only. Roseben will have the benefit of a flying start, and as many pacemakers as Trainer Frank D. Weir may select. The time trial will be clocked by W. H. Barreto, official timekeeper for the jockey club; John W. Rogers, trainer of H. P. Whitney's horses, who held the watch when Salvator made his incomparable mark, and another timekeeper to be selected tomorrow.

Lowers Another Record.

Newton Bennington's Voorhees lowered the world record for six and a half furlongs to 1:17¾ in the opening event at Belmont park today.

The event was a high weight handicap for all ages and Voorhees, not having shown speed in his previous race, opened at 50 to 1. He was backed down to 20 to 1 and got up in the last jump to beat the 2 year old Frank Lord a couple of inches. Kiamesha, the favorite, finished third.

Long shots practically swept the card. Form reversals and racing luck were responsible for the upsets, which were the most surprising in many years. The most shocking blow came in the Champagne stakes at seven furlongs, when Woodford Clay's Kentucky Beau, at 12 to 1, suddenly came to life and beat W. H. Daniel, the favorite, by a length and a half in the fast time of 1:23⅘. In his previous race Kentucky Beau was beaten twelve lengths by Daniel. On that occasion the former colt had little or no speed after being interfered with at the start. But he was a wild horse today with Miller up and was played at the last moment by wise insiders.

Wes Defeats Grapple.

Another pitfall was provided in the New Rochelle stakes, at a mile, when Frank Brown's Wes, 30 to 1, ran the distance in 1:37 3-5, and beat Frank J. Farrell's Grapple, backed from even money down to 15 to 20. The winner came within a fifth of a second of equaling the world's record on a circular track.

C. T. Henshall's Ginette, a 1 to 6 favorite in the second event, also at a mile, was beaten by Jack Joyner's Cressina, 30 to 1, which turned the distance in 1:38, and finished two lengths in front of the French mare. Two and a half lengths back, J. E. Madden's Lady Tarantella, 40 to 1, took third money from Optician, the second choice.

The last straw was the runaway victory by Woodsman, 15 to 1, in the handicap at a mile and a half, the Sir Dixon gelding hanging up a new record for the track, 2:33 3-5.

Six favorites lost. Miller handled two winners, a second, and a third.

NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The old hoodoo is playing havoc with Notre Dame again. Binz, a candidate for quarter back, injured his foot in a scrimmage today and will be out of the game for some time. O'Flynn's injury has proven to be a fractured shoulder bone, and he will not be seen again this season on the gridiron. Dwan also has withdrawn, acting on advice from his home. Coach Barry is on the sick list and directed the practice today in an overcoat. Bracken was the star in today's practice, making the varsity's lone touchdown by an end run from the second team's forty yard line. Night practice will be started in the gym. tomorrow. The first and second teams will play a regular game on Saturday unless some other team is scheduled.

ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

FRED CLARKE OF TROPIC TEAM AVERAGES 223 2-3.

Big Average Does Not Prevent His Side from Dropping Two Games to the Brunswicks—Atlas Rollers Perform Consistently and Twice Defeat the Illinois Five — Leonards Whitewash the Schindlers in the Western Tournament.

Fred Clarke of the Tropics in the Chicago league furnished the bowling feature last night with a contribution of 223⅔ on the Tropics, his club losing two games, however, to the Brunswicks. Clarke sent his team to a big count of 2,987 in the closing set-to, piling up 265 for himself. In the other series Ben Steil's Atlas club rolled three consistent games against the Illinois five, landing the odd, the Sheridan leaguers beating them in the last game by 16 pins. Western tournament results saw the Schindlers whitewash the Leonards at the latter's own alleys, while Eddie Wass' collection of braves secured the odd from State Champion Foley's Union leaguers, the first game going to the loopers by one pin. BRIDAL CHAMBER SACKED BY CHARIVARIERS; ARRESTS NEXT Couple's Marriage Finery Carried Off and Groom Hugged and Kissed by Women Till He Pays Them to Quit.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—For sacking the bridal chamber of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Beilier, who were married yesterday morning, and in general raiding the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Proulx, in the town of Tildening, the leaders of a charivari party, consisting of eighty men and twenty women, will be arrested, according to Mrs. Proulx, who this afternoon consulted attorneys.

The charivari party first broke down the door to the dining room, where the wedding party was feasting, but was repulsed by the guests throwing hot water. Finally the charivariers effected an entrance through the windows and tore down the curtains and damaged the furniture.

The wellhouse next was broken into in search of liquor. When this could not be found the charivariers poured the milk into the well.

Then the bridegroom made his appearance. The crowd shouted that it would quit for $10. Beilier tried to compromise for $4, but without success. Thereupon the women seized him in their arms and hugged and kissed him until he promised to give them $2 and the men $4. Then th echarivariers departed. They used the $6 to pay for a dance this evening. The bride and groom were invited but did not accept.

Youths' Clothes.

Special attention is called to our handsome lines of youths' suits made by the celebrated Atterbury System and displayed in the boys' department on the second floor. These lines represent the extreme care that is devoted to the making of youths' clothes which have individual style instead of following the adult models as heretofore.

The plaids and checks are especially desirable and the youths themselves, by their express wishes, seem to have established these styles. The cut of the suits has the air of the campus. Coats have long roll lapel, a slight flare to the skirt, and are made with or without vents. Trousers are cut extra large peg top style.

Materials are tweeds, cheviots, unfinished worsteds, plain black or blue serges and cheviots. All these suits necessarily fit to perfection. Prices are $19.50 to $30.00.

STOP BUILDING AT STEEL PLANT

Bartzen and Assistants Visit Mills, Recommending Changes and City Police Protection.

Building Commissioner Bartzen yesterday visited the Illinois Steel company plant with Deputy Hughes and two inspectors. The first thing he did was to stop work on four buildings which were being erected. The reason was no permits had been obtained for them.

"When the permits are properly procured," said he, "the work can go on, but the Illinois Steel company must comply with the law as well as anyone else."

He examined the blast furnace where three men recently were killed by an explosion of molten metal, and recommended that the platforms on which the men who work around these furnaces be widened so they may have some chance of escape in case of similar accidents. They are only four feet wide now and unprotected by railings.

The commissioner declared also that he would ask Chief Collins to detail policemen for work inside the plant to see to it that the building ordinances are not violated.

CITY AUTO'S TIRE PUNCTURED.

Mayor, Commissioner O'Connell, and Other Officials Compelled to Use Ordinary Street Cars.

With Mayor Dunne, Commissioner of Public Works O'Connell, Superintendent of Streets Doherty, and other city officials as spectators, the new type of garbage wagons to be used by the city was tested at the Hamler boiler works, Thirty-ninth and Halster streets, yesterday afternoon. The demonstration was successful, but the municipal automobile in which the city officials had arrived suffered a tire puncture and the mayor and other officials had to return to their homes in ordinary street cars.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Supplies of money were not plentiful in the market, but there was a good demand. Discounts were firm.

Prices on the stock exchange were steady without increased activity anywhere.

Americans started irregularly but quiet. Support in the forenoon hardened prices to over parity. Canadian Pacific was again a feature. Later New York advances caused further hardening and the market closed steady at a fraction below the best quotations of the day.

The activity in copper caused a further rise in copper stocks.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Prices on the bourse today were more irregular. Russian imperial 4s closed at 72.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 485.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—On the boerse today the general tendency of prices was firm.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The cattle market was erratic yesterday. There was a tendency to shove prices to the lowest notch. Uneven trade resulted, although a steady demand existed for top offerings. The market was weak in hogs, the buying taking on an indifferent character on account of the liberal supply. Prices fell from 5c to 10c lower than on the previous day. The trade in muttons was intermittent in strength, with noticeable reductions in prices. The sheep market was fairly steady.

The receipts were: Cattle, 25,000; hogs, 26,000; sheep, 35,000.

For arrears of dividends on preferred stock, 5% per cent, leaving 8 per cent still unpaid on June 30, $1,097,408; for depreciation value of properties and investments sold, $278,713; for balance of bond discount and expense, $810,303; a total of $2,186,424 was charged off, leaving a net surplus of $3,133,284 to be carried to the balance sheet.

The report of President John A. Topping to the stockholders states that an item of $810,303 for discount on the sale of the $10,000,000 bond issue, heretofore carried as an asset, the intention being to sink the charge by an annual provision over a period of years, the executive committee has thought best to write off.

The net working assets, after discharging all obligations excepting the bonded debt, total $7,974,044. Inventories stand on the books at cost prices for raw materials, and at less than cost prices for finished materials, which in all cases are below the present market.

IN THE REAL ESTATE WORLD.

The purchase by the Vulcan Iron works of property at the northeast corner of Fulton street and Irving avenue, filed for record yesterday, is the first move on the part of the big concerns affected by the plans of the Northwestern road to seek new locations.

The present plant of the iron company is in the triangular district bounded by Clinton and Fulton streets and Milwaukee avenue, and is in a line with the proposed new right of way of the road which taps the Wisconsin division of the road, near Elston avenue. The belief has been that the plant of the company, which is of an extensive character, would probably be acquired by condemnation proceedings, but it is understood the property has been bought.

The property just purchased by the iron company comprises 78 by 124½ feet, west front, and was secured from William J. Titley. The company now has an old plant adjoining this, which has not been used for some years.

ALD. CULLERTON IS WITNESS AGAINST PRIEST'S ACCUSER.

Charge of Giving "Hush Money" Emphatically Denied in Court—He Asks Chance to Testify.

Ald. "Ed." Cullerton testified yesterday during the hearing of charges against Daniel Damski and S. J. Roskosz, charged with attempting to extort money from Father F. F. Lange, pastor of St. Josaphat's Catholic church, in Justice Wolff's court.

"My name has been dragged in this case and I believe that I should be given an opportunity to testify," the alderman declared. Attorneys for the defense and prosecution agreed to this, and he was sworn and took the stand.

"Did you ever at any time pay to Mr. Roskosz $2,000 as hush money?" he was asked.

"No, sir; not 2 cents; nor to no other human being on earth; never had occasion to," was the answer.

The hearing then was continued until Oct. 23.

Ald. Cullerton's name was brought into the case by Attorney P. J. O'Keeffe when he testified that Roskosz had told him that he (Roskosz) had received $2,000 "hush money" from the alderman.

Damski sued Father Lange some time ago, alleging that the priest was the father of his wife's child. Damski and Roskosz are alleged to have gone to the priest and offered to settle.

BIG EXPORTS AID WHEAT.

HEAVY SALES IN NORTHWEST GIVE COURAGE TO BULLS.

Higher Cables from Liverpool and Strength in This Country Factors in Market—Traders Fear Argentine Crop Damage—Spring Cereal Arrivals Increasing—Corn and Oats Advance on Light Offerings—Longs Take Profits—Provisions Easier.

Increased sales for export, a higher range of prices from Liverpool, and lighter offerings in the pit were factors in causing a moderate upturn in wheat yesterday. At the close there was more confidence displayed by the bullishly inclined as a result of the day's news, and the session wound up with net gains of ⅛@¼c to ⅛c.

Corn was dull but strong on better cables, smaller receipts, showery conditions in the belt, and the strength in wheat, and closed at nearly the best prices of the day—⅛-¼c to ⅜c higher. Oats closed with net gains of ⅛c, the advance being caused principally by the scarcity of offerings and heavy buying by local operators. Provisions were lower in sympathy with the decline in hog prices.

Liverpool sent a higher range of prices, notwithstanding the decline here on Tuesday, and short sellers made haste to cover their contracts at the start. Pit offerings were scarce, and opening quotations showed fractional gains over the preceding close, prices being marked up sharply in the early trade on the strength of Liverpool advices that all was not well with the Argentine crop, in spite of cables received here to the contrary. New crop Argentine offerings were held at higher prices in the English market, and this fact added to the uneasiness of the bears.

Big Sales for Export.

Reports of heavy sales for export sent by Duluth and the seaboard gave added confidence to the longs, who added to their lines on all recessions. The strength of the cash markets in the northwest, which were relatively strong, gave corroboration to the export claims. At the close export sales in all positions were placed at 640,000 bu, including 96,000 bu No. 1 hard and 80,000 bu Manitoba wheat worked at Duluth for direct export. Duluth also reported sales of 300,000 bu spring wheat to eastern exporters.

Export houses claimed to be busy in all of the spring wheat markets, Winnipeg, Duluth, and Minneapolis all claiming an active inquiry. New York wired that exporters were heavy buyers of December wheat in that market. There were also indications of a better export inquiry for flour, a leading Kansas City mill reporting the sale of 30,000 brls for export, and a Minneapolis mill claiming fair sales had been made abroad.

Spring Wheat Movement Gains.

The increased movement of wheat in the northwest was noted with satisfaction by those who have been claiming that the grain would be brought to the primary markets in due time. Arrivals at Minneapolis and Duluth were 725 cars, against 749 cars a week ago and only 570 cars last year. Total primary receipts were 49,000 bu under those of the corresponding day last year.

Foreign markets were not unanimous in sentiment. Budapest came ⅝c lower, a decline of 2¼c in two days. Paris was ¼c higher to ⅛c lower, and Antwerp was unchanged. Liverpool closed ⅛@¾d higher.

Estimated cars for tomorrow are 71. Western receipts for the day were 1,018,000 bu, compared to 1,067,000 bu last year. Winnipeg received 257 cars, against 410 cars last year. Shipments from western points were 813,559 bu, against 314,988 bu last year. Offerings of cash wheat in the sample crowd were taken by millers and elevator people at ⅛c advance. Clearances were 169,000 bu. Shipments of flour were 8,360 brls.

Corn Offerings Are Light.

Offerings of corn were light, and this with the higher cables and predictions of wet weather throughout the corn belt and the strength in wheat gave the market a firm tone. Receipts were smaller, and reports of car shortage throughout the west indicated that for the near future, at least, heavy arrivals of this cereal could not be expected. There was a fair demand from commission houses, but there was no large individual trade. On the advance most of the early buyers took profits, and prices eased off from the high point, closing at moderate net gains.

Receipts were 247 cars, against 126 last year, with 211 cars estimated for today. Liverpool quoted spot ¼d higher and futures ¼@⅜d up. Primary receipts were 708 bu, compared to 441,000 bu last year. Shipments were 450,000 bu, against 475,600 bu a year ago. Clearances were 255,000 bu. Export sales were 68,000 bu. In the cash market prices were steady to ¼c higher, with a poor inquiry, the car situation east being a serious detriment to the trade. Local sales were 90,000 bu.

Local Operators Buy Oats.

Oats turned strong on the light offerings and the advance in wheat. Local operators were heavy buyers early, but unloaded on the bulge, causing a reaction at the close. Cash houses particularly were good sellers on the advance against purchases in the sample market. A fair cash demand existed and sales of 215,000 bu were reported, with 50,000 bu at the seaboard. Northwestern receipts were disappointing, Minneapolis having only 46 cars. Local arrivals were 268 cars, with 270 cars expected today. Receipts at western points were 926,752 bu, and shipments were 534,284 bu. Car lots in store or to go to store were ¼@½c higher.

Pressure on Hog Products.

Hog products were active at the expense of values. Hogs at the yards were in good supply and lower, this causing an easier tone to the provision market. Realizing sales by longs helped the decline, while the bulls were inclined to back away from the market, for the time being at least. Short covering near the close rallied prices slightly. Receipts of hogs at the leading western points were 68,700, against 72,800 last year. Foreign markets were quiet and easy. Shipments of meats and lard were about 136 cars. The cash demand was fairly good, with offerings small.

Rye Dull and Firm.

Rye was dull and firm. Nearly all of the receipts graded No. 2. No. 2 free on board sold at 64@65½c; no grade, 51c. October was 61c bid, and December, 62½c bid. Receipts were 11 cars.

Barley was firm for all grades of malting. Feed was quoted, 39½@40c; malting, 40@55c; screenings, 30@43c. Receipts were 52 cars.

Flaxseed was dull and unchanged. No. 1 northwestern was quoted, $1.10½; No. 2, $1.04½; October, $1.05. One car was received here; 43 at Minneapolis, and 224 at Duluth.

Timothy seed was firm. New seed was quoted, $3.00@3.85; October, $4.07½ bid; December, $4.12½ bid; March, $4.32½ asked.

Clover was comparatively active and steady at $13.00 for spot seed, and $8.00@12.85.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

The railroad situation at Buffalo at present is the worst in the history of the grain trade. All lines leading from Buffalo to New York are refusing to contract grain at current tariff to be forwarded to the seaboard. This, if insisted upon, is little short of a catastrophe to exporters who have grain bought to come forward from Chicago, Duluth, and Fort William.

The hardship is twofold. In the first place it interrupts negotiations with Europe for new business and it invites heavy losses to exporters, who, having bought the grain to come from lake ports to suit certain ocean steamers, find themselves confronted with a loss of demurrage to the ocean steamers and penalty to their European buyer for not filling the contract.

A storm of protest is arising at New York, Winnipeg, Duluth, and Chicago, and there is little doubt that the matter will be referred to the interstate commerce commission at Washington as deserving immediate attention and relief. People well informed in the matter do not hesitate to state that the annual blockade of grain in Buffalo prevalent the last year or two is intentional on the part of the railroad companies, which prefer utilizing their equipment for freight of higher class and greater revenue.

The growth of traffic in merchandise has been magical the last five years. The roads are smothered with business, and, it would seem, are picking and choosing such freight as suits them best at this season of the year. There is no consideration of the enormous loss to the grain trade in general which this mode of procedure involves.

The movement of wheat to market also is impeded by the car shortage both in the southwest and in the spring wheat country. A Kansas City message to Logan-Bryan said: "The manager of the Farmers' Elevator company, which has more than 50 stations in Kansas and Nebraska, says he has instructed his agents at every elevator which they control to buy no more wheat. He said their elevators were all full and that cars cannot be obtained to move the grain, so that they are practically blocked."

A northwestern grain authority said there was a large amount of wheat already gathered and waiting for transportation, but that the railroads are making no great efforts to move it except where a complete blockade is threatened.

Export business was more active yesterday than for some time. Eighty loads, or 640,000 bu, were reported sold for export in all positions. This included 360,000 bu sold at out ports and 96,000 bu No. 1 northern at Duluth and 80,000 bu Manitoba wheat from the same place. Duluth also reported sales of 300,000 bu spring wheat, c. i. f., Buffalo. Cash men at Duluth reported a big call for high quality wheat to eastern millers and for durum wheat for export. At Winnipeg it was claimed that exporters and shippers had cleaned up this market of everything available at early prices.

New York buyers were taking Winnipeg wheat, but shipping houses in the Canadian market claimed their Liverpool bids were still out of line. The Winnipeg situation is a good deal mixed. For days at a time New York bids will be out of line, and then they will suddenly come in and buy large quantities.

Local exporters said they could see no improvement in the outlook, and did not report any business. A large exporter here in commenting on the decrease in clearings said in his opinion the heaviest movement of the season for export wheat was over and that clearances would continue to show up light. With the exception of durum wheat he said wheat was in exceedingly poor demand from abroad, and that foreigners were absolutely indifferent.

Antwerp, which quoted an advance on Kansas hard wheat on Tuesday, lost the advance yesterday, coming 1¼c lower for that grade.

Offerings of cash wheat were smaller than on the previous day and were cleaned up sooner, local millers taking a number of cars at a shade stronger prices. Spring wheat was firm. Outside of the local demand, however, the situation was exceedingly dull. At Kansas City and St. Louis the cash markets were up fractionally in sympathy with futures. Receipts southwest were fairly heavy.

Northwestern cash markets were all relatively strong, No. 1 northern at Minneapolis being 2½@3c over December, and Duluth was bidding 1⅜c over their December for No. 1 northern to arrive. One of the small Minneapolis millers claimed to have made a good flour sale. A Kansas City mill reported the sale of 30,000 brls for export. New York wired that exporters were buying December wheat.

Corn in the local sample market was steady to ⅛c higher. Cash houses characterized the situation as being exceedingly dull. The car situation, both east and west, is growing more serious every day, and is not only keeping the receipts down but is hindering sales to the east, as delivery at seaboard points is uncertain. Plenty of vessel room was offered, but cargoes were scarce. Oats were ⅛@¼c higher.

Cash sales here were 24,000 bu wheat, 90,000 bu corn, and 215,000 bu oats. Export sales in all positions were 640,000 bu reported, 68,000 bu corn, and 50,000 bu oats.

Champlin, Northern rain, and Kidston led the buying of May wheat. The northwest was a buyer also. Wrenn sold December early, but later was a buyer. Comstock, Lake, Sickel Roberts, Snydacker, Armour, and A. S. White sold.

Trade in corn was light. Elmore and Wagner were moderate buyers. Gifford, Lamson, Logan-Bryan, Sickel-Roberts, Wright, and Cutten were the leading oat buyers. Rosenbaum Bros., Comstock, and Roloson sold. The Cudahys were sellers of November, December, and January lard. Commission houses bought.

Northwestern wheat receipts were 725 cars, compared to 749 cars a week ago, and 570 cars last year.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Many lines of staple cottons have been withdrawn from sale pending a more settled condition in the dry goods market. Large sales of printed goods are being made. Discounts have already been shortened on leading staple prints. The demand for underwear and hosiery for fall and spring is beyond the capacity of houses to supply. The offerings of cheap lines of silk goods are being limited by the high price of the raw material.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Easier money condititons and buying orders for Amalgamated from New York were responsible for early activity and strength in the stock market today. Old Dominion, Tecumseh, and Isle Royale were favorites and advanced sharply. Calumet and Arizona went to 140, a gain of a point.

The market continued strong and broad up to the last hour, when there were recessions in sympathy with a setback in the New York market. The local opinion is that Amalgamated will be put on an 8 per cent dividend basis tomorrow. Home industrials all were firm.

DIVIDEND ON ICE COMMON

KNICKERBOCKER COMPANY RESUMES PAYING ON THE SHARES.

Declares 2 Per Cent for Half Year and an Extra of Same Amount—Corn Products Making Large Profits, but Competition Is Growing—Rhodesia Gold Output for September a Little Below That of August—Financial Notes.

Directors of the Knickerbocker Ice company yesterday resumed dividends on common stock by the declaration of a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent out of net earnings of the company for the first half of the season's business for 1906, and an extra dividend of 2 per cent.

The company began the payment of dividends on the common stock in April, 1899. Three quarterly disbursements of 1½ per cent each were paid in that year. On Jan. 1, 1900, a dividend of 1 per cent was declared, and since that date no dividends have been paid. The preferred stock, however, has paid 3 per cent semi-annually since 1899.

Earnings in 1906 have show considerable improvement, due to three causes—increased profits from building materials, an advance in the price of ice to 40 cents a 100 pounds, compared with 25 cents the previous year, and an increase of 25 per cent in the selling price of certain hydrox products.

Corn Products Competition.

The Corn Products company now is turning out an estimated grind of 105,000 bushels daily. Prices are good and the company is making large profits, but it is also expending large sums on plants. Independent competition is beginning to grow. As yet it is not formidable, but it certainly looks as if even the present management of the Corn Products company eventually must have to reckon with the independent manufacturer whose capitalization is such that he can make profits when the larger concern cannot.

It is conceded that the management of the Corn Products company is now of the superior sort. Still it is not yet perfected. There is a kind of eastern and western situation in the business which remain to be harmonized. By this it is not meant that there is any friction in management, but merely that those now in control of the company are familiar with eastern trade but not yet with the western trade. It will be but a question of time, however, when the business will be fully unified.

Meantime, it is proposed by the large company to build plants when necessary of the most modern construction and endeavor to keep its property in the best possible condition to meet competition, although it necessarily is hampered in a free fight by the fixed charges which must be taken care of before anything can go to shareholders. Until the present management demonstrates how fully it may be able by improved plants to hold in check competitors, the shares of the Corn Products company must be regarded as largely speculative issues.

Gold Imports $44,606,000.

On the gold import movement, which has now apparently come to an end, there was engaged by the New York banks between Sept. 10 and Oct. 11, $44,606,000. This has gone into the cash reserves of the New York banks. They are now, according to last week's statement, in as good a position as last year to meet further requirements upon them. The worst drain, however, if precedents count, is yet to come.

Growth of Electric Manufacturing.

As affording indication of the growth of the business of manufacturing electrical machinery, it is announced that the floor space of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company is to be increased by 1,000,000 square feet. This, including construction under way, will give the Westinghouse company a total of more than 4,000,000 square feet. A short time ago the floor space was given at 2,000,000 square feet.

The General Electric company, which in its last report had floor space amounting to 4,350,000 square feet, has extensions under way which will increase the total to 5,500,000 square feet. The company plans extensions next year which will require an outlay of $6,000,000.

A year or two ago the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company was doing a gross business of less than $25,000,000 a year. In the statement of the company, issued last March, the gross business for the current year was estimated at $34,000,000. The estimate has since been raised to $40,000,000, while the General Electric is expected to do a gross business of over $55,000,000.

Rhodesian Gold Output.

The output of gold in Rhodesia for the month of September was 1,117 ounces below that of August, 1906. But the latter was the record in the mining history of Rhodesia. Following are monthly returns covering a period of four years:

September Exports.

Exports of domestic products for September show a smaller volume of business than the corresponding month last year. The decrease was largely due to a falling off in exports of cotton, which falling off has been continuous in the last three years. Following is the record:

BAD OUTLOOK IN IRON TRADE.

In Spite of Increased Production Supply Is Not Equal to Demand—Coke High and Scarce.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 17.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say: The danger of excessive prices, which the history of the trade shows are always followed by periods of depression, and sometimes by paralysis of business, is greater than it was a week ago. On some grades of iron quotations have been advanced as much as $1.50 per ton within a few days. In spite of the increased production the supply is not adequate, and there is a scarcity of all grades in all parts of the country, at least for delivery up to April of next year. Added to the troubles of the furnace men, are the increased prices for coke and probable higher quotations on ore. A year ago large contracts for furnace coke were being made at $2.50. Today the price is from 50c to 75c higher. It is difficult to see much prospect of relief. The demand for pig iron in England and Germany is so strong that exports will not be made from those countries except at high prices.

Wife of Student of Simian Language Indicates That Girl Will Not Occupy Cage in Wilds.

Bristol, Tenn., Oct. 17.—Mrs. R. L. Garner, wife of the noted student of the monkey language, makes the following statement:

"As several newspapers have informed the public that one Miss Quimorton of New York was about to join Prof. Garner in the jungles of Africa, for the purpose of studying the monkey language, and would occupy an iron cage among the wild beasts, it is but justice to say that Prof. Garner will not occupy his cage as it was lost two years ago by the capsizing of a boat.

"It is also but justice to state that Prof. Garner is in ignorance of Miss Quimorton's proposed trip to Africa."

Open Gas Jet Costs Woman's Life.

Mrs. Eliza Whitmore, 54 years old, 900 Washington boulevard, died yesterday from the effects of partial asphyxiation by gas. A week ago she accidentally left the gas jet in her room open.

MYSTERIOUS ATTEMPT TO ASPHYXIATE A HOUSEHOLD.

Escaping Fumes Awaken Cousin of Curtis Robinson, 2644 Michigan Avenue—Main Is Found Opened in Basement at Meter and Doors and Windows Are Stuffed Tight—Suitor of a Servant Arrested Near Residence He Previously Had Visited.

To provide an opportunity to rob the house of Curtis Robinson, 2644 Michigan avenue, or for some other unknown reason, an attempt to asphyxiate the whole household was made Sunday morning. A gas pipe was cut at the the meter in the basement, and doors and windows by which the fumes might have escaped from this part of the building were stuffed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and the former's cousin, Miss Estella Bright, were affected by the gas, and Stephania Arezi, 24 years old, and Melvinia Schmidt, 36 years old, were overcome before the severed pipe was discovered.

As soon as the opened pipe was discovered attention was directed to the fact that Miss Arezi had been receiving the attention of Gabriel Hurani, who came to Chicago from Hungary six months ago. It is said he became infatuated with the woman and left his wife and family in Hungary to follow her to America.

The police learned also that Hurani had been at the Robinson house Saturday night to see Miss Arezi. While he was talking with her Mr. Robinson gave his wife $200, asking her to keep it until he returned from an errand. A search for the Hungarian was begun at once, and was rewarded yesterday afternoon. He was arrested after he had been seen loitering around the Robinson residence. He denied any knowledge of the pipe cutting.

THIEF TAKES GIRL'S PET PONY WHILE SHE IS ENJOYING A RIDE.

Tessie Heintz, Mourning Loss, Wants to Start Search for Horse on Streets at Night.

The perpetration of a novelty in highway robberies in Chicago has brought woe to Tessie Heintz, 11 years old, 4716 Prairie avenue. The child spent all day yesterday in walking the streets in search of "Teddie," a bay pony, which was wrested from her by a big negro at the Midway and Cottage Grove avenue at 6 o'clock Tuesday night.

She had been riding and was returning home. As she jogged along on "Teddie's" back a negro sprang from the sidewalk and pushed her from the saddle. Then he seized the bridle of the pony, mounted, and rode away. The girl was too frightened and hurt to make an outcry. She was scratched and bruised considerably by the fall from the pony.

Paul Heintz, her father, who has a furniture store at Forty-fourth and Halsted streets, told the police yesterday that it was necessary to lock the doors last night to keep the girl from going on a hunt for her pony.

"I want Teddie," she sobbed when the police interviewed her.

DEMAND THAT RUSSIA EXPLAIN.

Friends of Miss Margaret Winhafer Ask State Department to Take Up Alleged Outrage.

Chicago friends of Miss Margaret Winhafer of Creston, Ia., who was dragged from a train in Russia recently because of a defect in her passport, have decided to ask the state department at Washington to investigate the case and secure the punishment of the soldiers declared to have treated her cruelly.

Charles W. Lasher, 2423 Orrington avenue, Evanston, whose children studied music under Miss Winhafer when the latter was residing in Chicago two years ago, yesterday wrote a letter to Washington asking that an explanation be demanded. He also wrote to the American ambassador in Berlin, to ascertain the official status of the case.

"If the Russian officials were at fault in dragging Miss Winhafer from the train by her hair, I want the American government to demand justice for the affair," said he. "Of course, if Miss Winhafer was in error, then I will be glad to drop the matter. I at least ask that it be investigated."

THREE RUN RACE FOR DIAMOND.

Restaurant Proprietor and Police Overhaul Man Said to Have Sold a "Phony" Stone.

There was an exciting footrace along Canal street and across the Adams street bridge yesterday afternoon as a result of the resentment which "Big Ben" Bealak, a Russian, proprietor of a little restaurant and buffet at 128 Canal street, has cherished in his breast for many days.

Three weeks ago Albert Kiser appeared at the Russian's place with a tale of misfortune and a diamond to sell. "Big Ben" kept the "rock" a little while to learn its value. When the visitor returned he was offered $9, but during the conversation he shifted stones, it is said, and sold Ben a "phony" sparkler and departed.

The Russian saw his deceiver pass his shop yesterday, and started after him. Patrolman Gibbons joined in the race, running an excellent third. The fugitive was overhauled as he was about to board a Harrison street car, and was taken to the Desplaines street police station.

CURRENCY REFOR NOT THIS SESSI

Congress Will Have No T to Take Up Money Legis lation at Short End of Term.

NO POPULAR DEMA

Bankers' Convention Schem Recognized as Revival of t Dawes Plan Advocated Several Years Ago.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—(Spec There will be no currency legislation c importance at the short session of co this winter. If the executive council Bankers' association formulates a reas plan it will be discussed in committe there is no possible chance of any d action.

The committee on banking and cur of the house is almost hopelessly split this subject. The chairman has a cur plan of his own and two or three of the have been riding hobbies and are to submit new "banking systems" a slightest notice.

The time is much too short at this s for congress to undertake any revision currency system, because this involv repeal or modification of the whole na bank act, which is one of the most co pieces of legislation now on the s books. Furthermore, there is a f among the members of the house th yet there is no demand for currency r originating with the people themselves far, every time the subject has been p to the front it has come from the ha the bankers, who are personally and cially interested in securing a larger e ad the circulating medium.

People Not Asking for It.

Most of the leaders of the house do n believe there is anything like a general de Until there is they will go exceedingly in the direction of currency reform there is a well defined rumor afloat effect that the banking and currency co tee of the house was intentionally mad theorists and doctrinaires, so as to p an agreement on any particular plan particular time.

In spite of the fact that so many m believe that almost the sole dema increased currency legislation comes Wall street interests, those who have s the situation, including some of the men in congress, have been partic pated by the recommendations of the currency commission appointed by th York chamber of commerce. Hither propositions made by the various repre sives of the bankers, year after year, in the almost unlimited issue of notes ba the general assets of the bank, with a tax or commission which was to be d to the sole purpose of redeeming the n failed banks. Now the committee app by the New York chamber of commer received two or three different schem of which in particular commends it financial men here and in New Yo cause it seems that at last the banker to be willing to accept a really elast ency, instead of insisting upon dow isolation with no provision whatsoev an automatic reduction of the currency it is not needed.

Dawes Plan Is Revived.

In their report to the New York ch of commerce, which has since been s ted to the bankers' convention at St. and which will be made the basis of a sion at the currency conference in Ch in November, the commissioners sug form of asset currency with graduated taxation. This scheme was first give by Charles G. Dawes when he was con of the currency. Mr. Gage, who wa secretary of the treasury, recommen flat asset banking system, which was ing more nor less than permission to na banks to issue notes to a certain a based only on their general credit, t final government giving its moral s to the notes without the slightest either to the government or to the p the entire profit of the transaction, if should be any, going to the banks selves.

This asset banking system, so-calle officially known as the "Baltimore having been formulated by the banker mention there. It was favorably cons during the Cleveland administration b roller of the Currency Eckels and c Secretary Gage, with his training as a er, naturally followed along the sam and indorsed the asset banking schem never could secure the active supp President McKinley, however, and the of representatives refused to touch th at all.

It remained for Controller Dawes, official report, to take issue with the sary of the treasury, his superior office to point out the defects in the asset ba plan as well as to suggest a remedy. was many years ago. Frank A. Van then an assistant secretary of the tr under Mr. Gage, and now vice presid the National City bank of New York one of the members of the chamber of merce committee which recently has ad a modified plan for a really elastic currency.

How Dawes Solved Problem.

According to the argument present Controller Dawes, which attracted gr attention at the time, the one thing nec in our financial system is to have elastic currency which would prove suf to meet of great demand for mone panic would not be too abundant whe period had ceased entirely or had b materially less.

The controller of the currency went that if the banks were given the some uncovered currency notes a general assets two things would would be a distinction between the which were unsecured and the r final bank notes which were secu ment bonds.

The important, according to the arg by Mr. Dawes, was the fact th asset banking did not provi elastic currency at all, but simply right inflation with no provision for a reduction in the amou notes when the financial emer passed. The controller therefor need if there were to be any asset ba issue at all they should be issued i bond and a tax provided sufficiently heavy as graduated as to force the ba
